Let's talk it over . . . . .

THE Chi Phi Fraternity now has a Zeta Delta Chapter. It was installed on Feb. 25, 1956, at the University of Connecticut. Elsewhere in this edition you will find a story about the installation, the Chapter, and the University. I hope everyone will read it. The ritualistic work at the installation was done by the Mu Chapter, and the Council wishes to thank them. We also wish to thank the Phi, Beta, and Mu Chapters for helping to initiate our new Brothers. It was my privilege to attend this installation along with other members of the Council and we are of the unanimous opinion that Zeta Delta is a fine link in our chain.

Our Congress this year is to be held at the Chamberlin Hotel at Old Point Comfort, Va. The dates are Sept. 5, 6, and 7. As many Chi Phis as possible should attend this Congress. It is being put on by the Council and our Alpha and Epsilon Chapters will act as hosts. We need the help and coöperation of every Chi Phi in that vicinity to help make this Congress a success. A story about the Congress also appears elsewhere in this issue.

Let me report to you on Alumni Dues. The first notice went out in January. The second notice will go out the first part of April. It gives me great pleasure to report that the response to the appeal for Alumni Dues has exceeded last year's results. It costs money to install a Chapter and the Fraternity needs all the help it can get from its Alumni to help defray the installation costs of our new Zeta Delta Chapter. We hope you will respond to the second notice generously.

Your National Director, accompanied by Mrs. Rosser, had the pleasure of visiting Chapters in North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey, New York, and the New England states. We found the Chapters, everywhere we went, most gracious and kind to us. It was particularly gratifying to the National Director to find the Chapters all in such fine condition. I can truthfully and honestly say that the Chapters are more fraternity-minded at this time than I have ever found them. I wish to thank every Chapter that we visited for the kindness and courtesies extended to Mrs. Rosser and me.

The Chi Phi Fraternity has been an alumni-run fraternity since its inception, and since that is true, I particularly wish to ask the Alumni to help the Council by taking an interest in their Chapters, whether it be your own Chapter or some Chapter near your place of residence. You can be a tremendous help to that Chapter. We have never had a Chapter, in the history of the Fraternity, that got into any type of difficulty when it had the coöperation of older Brothers. A Chapter is always a good Chapter when it has the Alumni back of it. You Alumni have been helping in many places, but it would certainly be fine if you would take a little bit more interest. That interest could spell out great dividends for every Chapter in our Fraternity. You Alumni have been most generous in your contributions of dollars. You have taken the expense of THE CHAKETT off of the undergraduates. You have made it possible for us to expand. The Council has in mind some further expansion. We have been invited by the President of Indiana University to establish a Chapter there. Your Grand Alpha and your National Director have been to Bloomington, Ind., and conferred with the officials. We unhesitatingly recommend to the Fraternity at large that we move forward so far as Indiana University is concerned. This can be done with the help of the Alumni. It has to be active support and financial support. As stated above, installing a Chapter costs money, and going into Indiana will cost money. The Council doesn't have the money, and the undergraduates have all they can do to finance their own Chapters. This money will have to come from the Alumni. We are not going to make any particular drive for funds with which to establish a Chapter at Indiana University, but we do call upon all Chi Phis to be generous with your Alumni Dues. Last year we collected over $16,000.00. If we could increase that to $20,000.00 this year, and it looks as if we might, that would certainly be a start toward going into Indiana University. The Chi Phi Brothers in the state of Indiana are few, but the majority of them are enthusiastic about a Chapter at their University. The Commission on Expansion has unhesitatingly recommended Indiana University and, above all, Chi Phi has had a direct invitation from the President of the University to establish a Chapter there.

You will note from this issue of THE CHAKETT that the Grand Alpha has reorganized the Commission on Expansion and enlarged it. I think that is a great step forward. However, this Commission will be very greatly handicapped without the funds with which to expand. These funds must come from you loyal Brothers all over the United States.

It gives me great pleasure to report to you that the two fires suffered by the Fraternity recently—one at the Eta Delta Chapter at Southern California, and one at the Pi Chapter at Northwestern University—were not too serious and the Brothers are all back in their houses, living normal lives.

Let's go back to the one event of the year when undergraduates and Alumni get together to make plans for the future of our Fraternity. That is our annual Congress. The tentative plans for the Congress set the opening for Wednesday morning, Sept. 5, at the Chamberlin Hotel at Old Point Comfort, Va. The first thing on the agenda is a meeting of the Council. That afternoon the members of Council will hold individual conferences with the delegates from the Chapters. On Wednesday night

When a new Chapter of Chi Phi is installed, it is always a happy occasion. When Grand Alpha Carl J. Gladfelter presented the charter to John Taylor, Alpha of Zeta Delta, it was particularly significant because the installation meant the establishment of a Chi Phi link in the University where Brother Gladfelter teaches—the University of Connecticut

Zeta Delta Chapter

THE newly installed Zeta Delta Chapter of Chi Phi has had an almost meteoric rise to fame and power on the University of Connecticut campus. Starting in 1950 under the name of Beta Epsilon Rho the fraternity has, in five short years, risen to the top of the ladder at Uconn.

With Brothers in key positions in the Student Senate, Daily Campus, radio station, Mock Legislature, and Young Republicans, the Chapter stands unchallenged in the field of extra curricular activities. Zeta Delta has three men listed in Who's Who in American Colleges this year. Active also in intramural sports Zeta Delta sends no less than four basketball teams out onto the court to represent the Chapter. Scholastically the Chi Phis at Uconn have always ranked in the top quarter of the 23 fraternities on campus.

Strong on the outside and strong on the inside Zeta Delta has united to win last year's Greek Sing and the  $\Delta\Sigma P$  [honorary debating society] trophy three years in a row, thus retiring it.

However, it was in its affiliation with Chi Phi that BEP has had its finest hour. Charter members are:

John A. Taylor, John J. Koons, Louis P. Gallerani, Robert C. Baisden, Carl P. Banach, Bruce R. Richardson, Richard J. Darling, Richard W. Kallio, Robert S. Gilbert, Anthony J. Dalessio, Otto S. Haugland, Richard J. Barry, Donald C. Anderson, Joseph P. Fontana, William M. Morlock, Paul S. Brenia, William C. Moore, Donald E. Scott, Robert C. Kalm, Robert M. Sessa, David C. Ives, Robert J. Withington, Paul J.

Brothers gathered from Beta, Delta, Theta, Mu, Omicron, Phi, Chi, and Alpha Delta for Zeta Delta's installation. 1. Here are a few of them before the installation started. 2. National Officers gathered at the chapter house following a Council meeting. 3. Visitors got acquainted with Zeta Delta members and looked over their scrapbook. 4. Alumni, officers, and undergraduates talked about Connecticut and Chi Phi before the installation. 5. It was an impressive crowd upon which class pictures looked down

Inauguration Banquet

THE inauguration banquet was held Saturday night, Feb. 25, at the University's main dining hall. The occasion was well attended by members of neighboring Chapters, Beta Epsilon Rho Alumni, and school dignitaries as well as several Chi Phi National Officers. Those Chapters represented were Beta, Delta, Theta, Mu, Omicron, Phi, Chi, and Alpha Delta.

The banquet got under way as Toastmaster William Ratchford '56 introduced William P. Snavely, Associate Professor of Economics, who gave the invocation. After a palatable roast beef dinner, Alpha Jack Tailor read congratulatory messages from several Chi Phi Chapters, the Alumni Club of New York, many campus fraternities, and University officials.

Grand Alpha Carl J. Gladfelter then gave a short history of Beta Epsilon Rho becoming a Chapter of Chi Phi and finished his talk by congratulating Chi Phi on getting such a fine group as BEP. Mr. Gladfelter then presented the charter to Jack Tailor. In accepting the charter with "humility and thanks,"

The installation banquet was given in the University's main dining room. 1. The attentive listener at the left of Grand Alpha Gladfelter is John Tailor, Alpha of Zeta Delta. To the right of the National Director, L. Z. Rosser, are William Ratchford, toastmaster, Zeta Delta, and Arwood S. Northby, director, Division of Student Personnel. 2. John and Mr. Northby are more visible in this picture taken when Grand Alpha Gladfelter delivered his greetings. 3. Provost A. E. Waugh of the University of Connecticut amused guests during his address. Below: Pictures taken at the tables indicate the number of Chi Phis who took part in the installation. At the bottom right, you see John Tailor reading one of the many congratulatory telegrams received

One of the features of the installation formal dance was the pinning of Mom, Zeta Delta's housemother, more formally known as Mrs. Estelle Robbins. John Taylor, Zeta Delta's Alpha, pinned on the Sweetheart badge while the Brothers of Zeta Delta, led by Don Scott, sing chairman, sang to her.

Taylor added, "We of the Zeta Delta Chapter will not be Chi Phis for four years, but forever."

In introducing Judge Luther Z. Rosser as the next speaker, Toastmaster Ratchford described the Judge as the pride of Chi Phi and living proof that the country's oldest national fraternity will never die.

Judge Rosser first commended the entire brotherhood of Zeta Delta for having done a great job in preparation for receiving its national charter. He was especially pleased with the Brothers' response to everything suggested and then some. Judge Rosser emphasized in his talk, "Your first obligation is to the University of Connecticut since you two have formed a partnership and to be a good partner is not only expected of you, but demanded. Zeta Delta is now as much a part of this school as the basketball team, the football team, or any other organization." In closing, he stated that the Chapter's next obligation is to Chi Phi and all efforts should be made to keep this relationship mutually beneficial.

Beta Epsilon Rho Alumni President Harry Pergoda was then introduced by Brother Ratchford as the legend of BEP who will long be remembered as the fraternity's first president. Mr. Pergoda cited the present brotherhood as being united, dignified, strong, and a credit not only to the University but to all Brothers and to the state as well. In closing, he remarked, "This is only the beginning, not the end and may it grow, blossom, and yield fruit one hundred fold."

A member of Zeta Delta's major rival on campus and president of the Interfraternity Council, Phil Olear of Theta Xi, followed as the next speaker. In answer to that often asked question of what is a fraternity, Olear replied, "A fraternity is a voluntary organization with intent of carrying on democratic policy of self-government."

One of the men mainly responsible for the University of Connecticut being the fastest-growing college in the country, Provost A. E. Waugh opened his talk on a humorous note with "what my speech may lack in quality will be made up for in volume." With a clear booming voice, Provost Waugh expressed the importance of fraternities and in support of fraternity discrimination, he remarked, "There has never been a self-made man since everyone is influenced by some outside association. It is better for that association to be a united association like a fraternity than any other that I can think of at the present time." In conclusion, he extended a welcome to Chi Phi to Connecticut from all those connected with the University.

Prior to the address, Dr. Arwood S. Northby, director of Student Personnel; Dr. O. B. Williams, Grand Epsilon; John E. Oliver, Grand Delta; and Hugh M. Dorsey, Jr., Grand Eta, were recognized by Toastmaster Ratchford. Rev. James W. Moyer, Grand Beta, was present for the formal, but was unable to attend the banquet due to obligations at home.

Dr. Willard J. Thorp, Phi '20, who is director of Merrill Institute of Economics at Amherst College, concluded the festivities for the evening by giving the address. Dr. Thorp pointed out the dire fraternity situation at Amherst after World War II. At that time, attempts were made to keep fraternities closed since such a temporary move was made during the war. Charges were made that fraternities were non-distinctive, anti-democratic and anti-intellectual. This serious threat to abolish fraternities on the Amherst campus was fortunately overcome and to Dr. Thorp's way of thinking, "Fraternities won an important battle at that time and are here to stay, not only at Amherst but at other colleges throughout the country."

Installation Formal

THE first official social function of the newly installed Zeta Delta Chapter at the University of Connecticut was a formal dance held at the Avon Country Club, Friday, Feb. 24.

The wind howled and the snow piled high around the rustic country club creating a typical New England backdrop for this outstanding social occasion. Inside the club tables were arranged around the perimeter of the main floor and up in the cozy balcony overhanging the dance floor.

Richard Linson led his 9-piece dance band through its swinging Glenn Millerish arrangements much to the delight of the 150 Chi Phi couples and their guests.

During intermission Zeta Delta's Alpha, Jack Taylor, participated in the Chapter's first official pinning as he put the Sweetheart pin on our Residence Counselor, Estelle Robbins. The Brothers then sang "Chi Phi Girl."

Following the pinning Brothers and guests rocked the stately old rafters of the club with such old favorites as "Never Sleep Under the Bar," "Salvation Army," and "Here's To You," and chorus upon chorus of "Hard Trials."

Patrons and patronesses were Grand Alpha Carl Gladfelter, and Mrs. Gladfelter, National Director Luther Rosser and Mrs. Rosser, and Mrs. Robbins.

Richard Linson's band played Glenn Miller arrangements for the installation formal

Congress to Meet in Virginia

THE Chi Phi Congress will be held at the Chamberlin Hotel, Old Point Comfort, Va., Fort Monroe, in the fall. This beautiful location, close to Williamsburg, Yorktown, Newport News, and Virginia Beach, offers the best resort facilities in this part of the country.

Congress will open on Wednesday morning, Sept. 5, with registration and a Council meeting. There will be individual conferences with delegates that afternoon. The stag smoker will give delegates an opportunity to get acquainted.

On Thursday business meetings will fill the day. Relaxation at a dinner dance in the hotel will fill the evening.

Ritualistic work will conclude another day of business meetings on Friday. Congress will adjourn on Friday, Sept. 7, and there will be no sessions on Saturday. It is imperative to have delegates from every undergraduate Chapter and there should be as many representatives from Alumni Associations and Clubs as possible.

Combine Congress and your vacation plans. Send your reservations to Mr. John T. Brindley, Manager, Hotel Chamberlin, Fort Monroe, Va.

UConn

by STEVE JONES

'58

THE University of Connecticut got its start in 1881 when 12 students entered the first class that September. Plans called for a 2-year course in agriculture with three 12-week terms making a year. In 1893, following pressure by the State Grange, the Legislature transferred the Federal Land Grant funds from Yale to Storrs. At that time the name of the school was in a state of flux, as various factions within the state attempted to define just what this school out on the hills of Mansfield was supposed to be.

In 1896 the school became officially coeducational. The following period saw a steady increase in the physical plant as Charles Beach assumed the presidency of the then Connecticut Agriculture College. In 1922 the Student Senate was organized and student government thus got its first official sanction at the school. In 1933 the efforts of President Beach saw the school at Storrs gaining more recognition as evidenced by its new name "Connecticut State College."

The high point in the history of the University came after Albert N. Jorgenson took over in 1935. Four years after his arrival, the school was accepted as an University and, within two years after this, became a million-dollar-a-year institution. Ever since that time the University has grown phenomenally until it is now the largest state university in New England. Of these six universities the University of Connecticut now stands unchallenged in its size and facilities.

UConn graduates around 1,500 students from its 13 schools. By 1966 Provost Albert E. Waugh predicts the University will have exactly doubled. In order to meet this constantly rising number of applicants, the University is stepping up

President A. N. Jorgenson.

At the top of the airplane view of Swan Lake and Church Row is the fraternity quadrangle its already prodigious building program. At the present time Connecticut is the fastest growing University percentagewise in the country. UConn has the land to expand—1,700 acres of it. In men like President Jorgenson and Provost Waugh it has the drive and perception to utilize these great potentialities which will make UConn one of the great Universities in an era of great universities.

Probably UConn's main claim to fame is its powerful basketball team which recently won the Yankee Conference title for the seventh time in eight years. Although not having one of its better years, the Huskies were one of the top scoring teams in the country this season and rank along with Holy Cross and Dartmouth as the powers of New England. For the third consecutive year, UConn participated in post season tournament play when the Huskies played Manhattan in the first round of the NCAA tourney. The likelihood for continual basketball success is very bright since this year's freshmen squad rated as the best yearling quintet in New England. Only a loss to Roslyn Air Base marred an otherwise perfect record. Varsity Coach Greer's lifetime record at Connecticut is 187-54 and prospects are for improvement if such is possible.

In West Africa

NELS I. JOHNSON, Beta Delta '51, sent in his Alumni Dues and wrote that he has completed four years in Africa. He spent two of them with the USAF and two with Texaco, for whom he is still employed as a representative. His address is c/o Texaco, B.P.474, Abidjan, Ivory Coast, French West Africa. He would like to hear from any of the Brothers, especially Beta Deltans.

Delta Delta Wins Blood Bank Trophy

by TED BOROCK, Delta Delta Chairman of Blood Bank Drive

THE men of Delta Delta have finally retired the UCLA Fraternity Blood Donors' Trophy. A trophy is offered to the fraternity whose members give the most blood during this contest. It has been my duty as Delta Delta Blood Drive chairman to see to it that the men of the Chapter go and give blood. 1953 was the first time that we won the trophy. We took the trophy again in 1954. As to be expected of men of Delta Delta, we retired the trophy in 1955.

Winning this trophy might not seem to be a great feat to anyone, but I shall show how winning this trophy has helped the men of this Chapter. First of all I believe that we are the first to have a blood bank on this campus. At least there is a record of this blood bank with the national Red Cross. Our blood bank has helped two of our Alumni, Brothers Joe E. Blake and Jim Humphreys. The men know and realize maintaining a blood bank will help Brothers in time of sickness.

At the present time I am planning this year's campaign to win the trophy again. The part I play in winning the trophy is a very tiny one. The success of winning the trophy depends upon every member of the group. All I do is make the appointments for the men and then make sure that they keep them. It might also be of interest to the rest of the Fraternity to know that, in 1953, 92% of our members gave blood. In 1954, 96% gave blood. Our best year so far was 1955 when 98% of the men gave blood. My goal is to see the men give 100% and I hope to see this happen this year.

The thing that would please and gratify all Chi Phis in the United States would be to have a National Chi Phi Blood Bank. I challenge all the Chapters of our Fraternity to a Blood Drive Contest. If we unite, we will be the first national fraternity to have a Blood Bank. If there are any questions on procedure, please contact me, Ted Borock, at the Delta Delta Chapter. Please remember this is a voluntary thing. No man was asked to give blood against his will. I hope to hear from all Chapters concerning starting a Chi Phi National Blood Bank. Not only do we help ourselves, but we help our fellow man and also our great country.

law matters for the Exploration and Production Departments. In 1948 he became a director of Humble Pipe Line Co. and head of the section of the Law Department handling the law problems of the Crude Oil Traffic Departments, Humble Pipe Line Co., and also conservation and legislation.

Brother Pressler was appointed Associate General Counsel in 1952. As such, he supervised matters handled by the Law Department for the Exploration, Production, and Crude Oil Departments; the Traffic Bureau; and Humble Pipe Line Co. As a director of Humble Oil & Refining Co., he supervises the Advertising and Public Relations, Crude Oil, Traffic and Marine Departments.

Brother Pressler has served as president and director of the Houston Bar Assn. and twice as chairman of the Mineral Section of the State Bar of Texas. He is also a member of the Mineral Section of the American Bar Assn. and chairman of the subcommittee on conservation. He is a member of the Texas and Mississippi State Bars.

For a number of years he taught evening classes at the South Texas College of Law in Houston, and is still a special lecturer there on oil and gas law.

In 1951 Brother Pressler attended the Advanced Management Program at Harvard and was elected president of the class of 150 businessmen enrolled.

He and his wife, the former Elsie Townes, live at 2133 Pine Valley Drive, Houston. They have two sons: H. P., III, and Townes Garrett.

Brother Pressler was elected chairman of the Harris County Chapter of the American Red Cross in 1952, having previously served as vice chairman of the chapter. He has been a director of the Community Chest and chairman of its Budget Committee. He is a trustee of the Texas Children's Hospital and is currently secretary of the board of trustees. He is also on the board of the Houston Horse Show Association.

He is a member of River Oaks Baptist Church, River Oaks Country Club, and the Austin Club. His hobbies are tennis, horseback riding, and fishing.

33 Delegates Attend Northeastern Zone Meeting

by FRANK ROBINSON, Zeta Delta

THE Northeastern Zone Meeting held Saturday, Feb. 25, in the United Nations room of the Student Union at the University of Connecticut was opened at 9 a.m. by Alpha John Tailor of Zeta Delta.

Thirty-three delegates representing Mu, Beta, Alpha Delta, Omicron, Zeta Delta, Theta, and Chi were present at the time of opening while the six Grand Officers arrived later at 9:30 a.m.

Grand Alpha Carl J. Gladfelter took over and proclaimed that the "Purpose in holding a zone meeting is to have an exchange of ideas for the mutual benefit of the whole Chi Phi Fraternity." The topics to be discussed openly and informally were: Scholarship, Chapter Finances, Ritual, Hazing, "Hell Week," and Alumni Relations.

Many of the Chapters explained what they did in reference to scholarship improvement. Some of the ideas which arose were:

1. Have a strict study hour program for pledges with enforced fines. For example, in one Chapter pledges must be in their rooms studying from 7-11 p.m. and all Brothers and pledges must strictly observe the quiet hours.

2. Thoroughly investigate rushees during rushing to find out their marks.

Help them; give them advice.

3. For those Chapters where rushees are unable to eat or live in the house, a quiet room in the house might be provided where they may study at any time.

4. To improve scholarship, get rushees' marks, talk to them to find out their academic problems, then assign them to capable Brothers for help.

5. In the Mu Chapter there are no strict rules, just a mutual understanding which works out very well. Due to this mutual understanding, quiet hours from 7-12 are obediently observed.

6. Plan social calendars carefully, watching exam schedules and set up an arbitrary rule to have closed weekends for periods close to exams.

7. Divide freshmen into groups of four and place each group under the charge of a qualified upperclassman.

The topic which was next brought up was that of Chapter Finances. Following is a detailed list of the numerous points and suggestions which were brought out on this subject.

Accounts Receivable

1. Post unpaid bills with names after period of time.

2. Refuse to carry bills over summer.

3. Pro-rate system whereby list of bills is passed out and pressure is applied by the rest of the Chapter on individuals owing unpaid bills.

4. Post bills prior to weekend; persons with unpaid bills are not allowed to attend the weekend party.

5. After period of time, attach fine and send bill home.

6. Post bills; if person still owes after certain date, he must eat out of house.

7. Have the president and the treasurer send out a tentative budget for the year in advance, during the summer, to give approximate idea of how much should be set aside for bills.

8. At beginning of semester, to get working capital, allow discounts on pre-paid bills.

9. To insure against the rest of the Chapter having to shoulder a person's debts, a good business procedure would be to figure out a maximum credit figure.

10. Have the Delta read out unpaid bills at each chapter meeting. This works well.

11. Consider the needy boys for paying jobs in house. Choose Delta and Epsilon for their abilities.

12. In many cases a needy person might get a loan above and beyond his tuition.

13. To get accounts receivable from men who have gone in service, write to their commanding officers who will gladly deduct the amount from the person's paycheck.

14. In the case of seniors having accounts payable, have the college hold back their diplomas until their bills are paid.

15. A method of obtaining a reliable Delta other than by vote might be to have three accounting majors, two of them understudies, take care of the books.

16. Have the Delta go a full term and also have a social treasurer. After a trial period, the one who has done the best job is elected.

17. Salaries are given in some Chapters in the form of free board, a fixed sum per month, etc. It works out better when salaries are not paid directly in cash but in board, free food, etc.

18. Coöperative buying systems for fraternities reduce cost of groceries, etc., tremendously. Stewards might get together through IFC and publish bulletin as to where good buys may be found. Sometimes goods may be bought at wholesale prices.

Ritual

Concerning the topic of Ritual Judge Rosser stated, "Chapters which are above the All-men's Average and adhere to the Three-Star Ritual never find themselves in trouble." He strongly recommended that the Chapters have one chapter meeting a week. Also a delegate from Mu pointed out that it is not the name Chi Phi, but the Ritual which binds Chapters together.

The Grand Council is opposed to the hazing situation. If hazing is done, it should be done within the chapter house. Grand Alpha Gladfelter said that Council recommendations would be submitted to the next Congress. He expressed hope that all delegates going to the next one, would be adequately informed about the hazing problem; also that the chapters would study the problems produced by hazing.

Chapter Insurance

After the discussion on hazing terminated, Brother Gladfelter introduced a guest speaker, Professor D. Ivry, an assistant professor of Insurance at the University of Connecticut, who spoke at length on "Insurance Problems Which Face a Fraternity." He covered essential facts which fraternities should know about insurance liabilities and coverage. Concerning the fire hazards facing a fraternity, Professor Ivry said the Chapter should have adequate coverage in relation to current real estate values and it should consider "Extended Coverage Endorsements" for wind, storm, hail, and explosion. A "Use and Occupancy" or "Business Interruption" extension should also be considered to insure against profit losses due to possible shutdown after a fire.

"A liability responsibility for damages occurring on jobs is placed on the fraternity when it acts as an employer of kitchen, dishwashing, cleaning help, etc." Insurance may be bought today which will cover the problems of workman's compensation and employe liabilities."

A third peril which exists is that of public liability. "In contrasting the fire peril to the public liability peril, the former becomes insignificant since there is no limit as to the potential amount of personal liabilities which an injured person might produce. If injury occurs on the part of a member of the general public in the fraternity house and if it is proven that the fraternity did not exercise proper care as to the protection of others' bodies, it is liable." Public liability even holds in a University-owned house if the Chapter owns its furniture for the person might trip over a rug and fall and break a leg.

"It is best to play safe and carry additional liability policies. Do not minimize insurance coverage for the financial situation of a house may be ruined permanently overnight. Adequate insurance coverage may be obtained in decent limits. Usually the larger the coverage, the cheaper the cost, since premiums don't increase proportionately."

Another peril is theft. "The Chapter can add extended endorsement on policy to cover theft of fraternity property and for a slight assessment of the individuals living in the house individual rooms may be covered."

The question was raised, "Is a member of the fraternity working in the living unit an employe?" The answer was, "Invariably when this problem occurs, many insurance companies will cover the student who acts as a residential employe; however, this is difficult due to the indefinite wages and medical payments, which may be added to a policy. The trend in this part of the country is to cover the student under a liability policy.

"Insurance coverage rates, etc., vary from state to state, region to region. Sometimes if an insurance policy is bought for a longer period of time it costs less. When policies are bought, the Chapter should thoroughly investigate the company and it should especially find out what their past rate of claim payments has been," he concluded.

Another topic raised was that of "Hell Week." Delegates from Beta expressed feeling that due to the unfortunate happening which recently occurred at MIT, a definite stand in the immediate future must be taken concerning "Hell Week."

The consensus of opinion of the Beta Chapter is that "Hell Week" hasn't proved much other than to possibly help unify the pledge class in some way. Grand Epsilon Williams felt that "H. W." should be limited by time. Stevens finds it better to have "Hell Week" during the interim vacations. This way scholarship isn't hurt. At R.P.I. all of the fraternities hold "Hell Week" at the same time. The University doesn't give exams during this week. Dr. Williams added that there are physical hazards involved such as loss of sleep, etc.

The last topic discussed was that of Alumni Relations. The point was brought up that Alumni recommendations should always be considered and acknowledgements should be made by the Chapters.

The meeting ended at 12:05 p.m.

Delegates attending the meeting included: Grand Officers: Alpha, Carl J. Gladfelter, A-T '33; Eta, Hugh M. Dorsey, Jr., F '33; Delta, John E. Oliver, H '17; Epsilon, Dr. O. B. Williams, N '21; Beta, Rev. James W. Moyer, Z '32; National Director, L. Z. Rosser, O '08, H '08, F '09, OΔ '37, A-M '39, Z '54; Council Representative-at-Large, Walter L. Sorg, O '47. Chapter Delegates: Zeta Delta: John Tailor, John Koons, Robert Gogins, James Lyons, Frank Robinson, Louis Gallerani, and Richard Kallio; Chi: Richard van Ripper, Stephen Newnham, Peter Sinclair; Beta: McIver Edwards, Edward Purcell, Richard Nyder, Richard Shopf, John Hartigan; Omicron: Michael Carey, Charles Shedd, Robert Ryan, Jr., and John Chambers; Mu: Gene Gorzelink, David Wentink, William Burkhardt, R. Carsten Sibbern, Kenneth Poppele, and Richard Macintosh; Theta: Frank Thoburn, Philip Rockmaker, Kenneth Klindtworth; Alpha Delta: Thomas Webb, John Bevan, Robert Yeatman, Ronald Bloomfield, Lloyd J. Knill.

National Director Inspects 9 Chapters

LEAVING Atlanta on Feb. 14, your National Director flew to Chapel Hill to visit Alpha-Alpha Chapter. Leaving the Raleigh-Durham airport, he continued to Richmond where he rented a car to drive to Charlottesville to inspect Alpha and then to Farmville to see the members of Epsilon. At Ft. Monroe he made arrangements for Congress to be held at the Chamberlin Hotel, Sept. 5-7. After turning in the car at Richmond, he flew to New York, taking a train to New Haven for inspection of Omicron. Thence to Boston and over to Storrs for the installation of Zeta Delta Chapter. He drove to Amherst after the installation to visit Phi and back to Boston to talk matters over with Beta. Back to New York on the train, he visited Mu at Stevens, and then went to Albany by train to see the men at Theta in Troy. Returning to New York, he inspected Delta at New Brunswick before returning to Atlanta on March 7.

"What happened to our Chapter at Univ. of Nebraska?"—JOHN C. MACY, AOX '23.

STEVENS INDICATOR

Walter V. Knopp, Mu '44, is Mu's Council Representative

ON Wednesday morning, Feb. 1, 1950, two men and a girl walked into an empty 2-story building in Paterson, N. J., thus creating a novel new business, S-K-C Research Associates. Devoted to research, development, and consulting work, this enterprise offers a uniquely complete engineering service in the expanding industrial process of powder metallurgy.

Taking the alphabetized firm name in order, these three founders were John D. Shaw, a graduate of Columbia and former assistant director of the Industrial Lab at Stevens; Walter V. Knopp, Mu '44, and Catherine Clark, one of the few women to obtain a Master's degree from the Stevens Graduate School. Miss Clark is now Mrs. Stephen Danatos '40 and, since she and the one-time Stevens faculty member have three children, is "retired" from the firm. All were experienced metallurgists but new to the vicissitudes of business and the first few weeks were hectic, with considerations of machinery, furniture, control equipment, and some very necessary interior decorating (a new coat of paint for the office space) taking up most of the waking hours and some that are usually allotted to sleeping.

S-K-C Research Associates is now well established and doing valuable engineering work for some of the major firms whose names are associated with powder metallurgy in industry today. Vice President Knopp, though up to his ears in work, thoroughly enjoys the fast pace of the enterprise and the industry it serves, which takes him back and forth across the country and, through correspondence, around the world.

In Walt Knopp's case, it was love at first sight with powder metallurgy. Finishing the Stevens curriculum in 1944, he spent a year with "Speed" Wegel explaining the intricacies of descriptive geometry to aghast sophomores. This subtle method of torture was but a temporary means to a graduate school course in powder metallurgy. In Walt's own words, he saw that "this was for me" and he slanted his work towards a career in this phase of industrial production. An International Nickel Co. fellowship a year later in the Stevens Industrial Laboratory which was carrying on a great deal of similar research projects spelled an end to Knopp's brief career as an educator and a start to his work in metallurgy. Continued study at Stevens led to a Master's degree and the fellowship provided subject matter for the necessary thesis. This paper was later published to the trade press and was the first of a long series that were to appear under the joint authorship of Walt Knopp and his associates, all devoted to advances in, and new applications of, powder metallurgy. Typical titles of these contributions have been "Chromium Nickel Alloy Steel Sinterings: An Investigation of Physical Properties" and "Powder Metallurgy at the Cross Roads—Present and Future Possibilities."

While at Stevens, Walt made good use of his 6' 5" on the basketball team, where he played center. His many activities earned him the coveted Gear and Triangle and a tap for Khoda in his senior year. A member of Chi Phi Fraternity, he held numerous offices during his undergraduate days and is still actively interested in fraternity affairs, serving as Council Representative. In this position, he is also a member of the Alumni Interfraternity Council through whose good offices and undergraduate cooperation, many of the houses coordinated their Alumni Open-House days with the Stevens Alumni Day on May 21 this year. Walt and his wife, the former Betty Smith, still enjoy some strong friendships formed at Stevens and frequently get together with other Stevens Alumni couples, at their new home in Wyckoff, N. J.

Walt waxes lyrical about powder metallurgy in general and S-K-C's future, in particular. The firm has earned an enviable reputation for being able to straighten out kinky production problems encountered with the process. In fact, S-K-C is still retained by one large company for the sole purpose of avoiding the kind of trouble from which Knopp and his associates originally rescued it.

Powder metallurgy has been much in the industrial limelight in recent years but is, as Knopp points out, one of the oldest industrial processes known. It was used by the ancient Egyptians in 3000 B.C. to form their crude weapons and implements. Since they could not develop enough heat to really melt iron, they hammered the spongy, impure iron they could produce into finished form, thus bonding the interior surfaces—a primary principal of powder metallurgy. The Incas too, used alloying principles now associated with powder metal processing to form their native ornaments and jewelry. In 1829, Wollaston in England applied powder metallurgy techniques to form the first ductile platinum—but from that time until 30 years ago, the process was virtually forgotten due to unsatisfactory sources of metal powders and the popularity of machining, forging and casting methods.

Its present popularity is due to the economy it brings to the production of many complicated parts used in mechanisms as divers as toy trains and artillery pieces. Some of these savings have amounted to $25,000 yearly per part for firms employing powder metal processing in the place of complicated machinings or stampings that have to be assembled. Many common household items like in-the-knob locks, wall switches, appliances, plumbing fixtures, etc. contain parts compacted of iron or alloy metal powders. Even the tungsten filaments of lamps are made in this manner, tungsten being one of the most refractory metals and therefore very difficult to melt and work. Tungsten powders are compacted and the resulting billets are resistance-heated and drawn to necessary gauge for filament use.

S-K-C now employs three persons other than the principals and has steadily expanded its facilities for metallurgical research by the addition of new furnaces, metalligraphic equipment, and powder processing and compacting equipment. Not limited to powder metallurgy, the firm has done metallurgical research and "detective work" for many firms. One such case involved the failure of 12-inch diameter tie rods on a large hydraulic press for plastic molding. Investigation showed that the fault lay in the original condition of the steel supplied for the rods.

In the compacting of metal powders, S-K-C's interest and service to its clients covers the whole gamut, from correct powder formulation and composition through part design, recommendations for the proper presses and sintering ovens, to the best plant layout for optimum efficiency. While enthusiastic prophets of powder metallurgy, Walt Knopp stresses that S-K-C knows the limitations of the process and is not one of those who can justly be accused of over-selling it as the panacea to production expense. This failing of some firms connected with powdered metals has led to disappointment on the part of gullible customers and has done no credit to the cause as a whole.

One of the interesting projects currently underway at S-K-C and about which Walt can talk freely is that of roll-bonding powdered metals. By this process, metal strip can be produced from metal powders in every practical thickness. A new type of metal powder, which is obtained by processing scrap metals, is used in roll-bonding. This powder, on being put through a rolling mill, forms a strip that has amazing ductility even before sintering, when most powder metal parts are extremely fragile. The strip can be formed continuously, depending only on a constant powder supply. After sintering and rerolling, the material can be used in the same way as virgin metal strip. As in making metal powder parts, the composition of the strip can be varied at will, even to forming combinations of metals that are very difficult to alloy by any other means. Knopp and his associates have already formed nickel, monel, copper bronze, and brass strip by roll-bonding and have performed some sleight-of-hand with a leaded bronze that has amazed even basic metal companies which have had trouble producing this particular combination. Of course, the process isn't quite as simple as it sounds, but basically, Walt feels that it offers an important new source for strip copper and other materials that are frequently in short supply and expensive as well.

Since this is typical of the advanced work S-K-C is doing in this ever-growing field, it's little wonder that Walt Knopp does some castle-building himself as he reads fairy tales to his three young daughters at bed-time.—G. BRUCE RICHARDSON '49 in The Stevens Indicator.

Washington Chi Phis Hear Congressman

THE Chi Phi Club of Washington, D. C., had a very interesting February luncheon meeting. We were fortunate enough to have Congressman William E. Minshall, Alpha '36, who gave the Club a very interesting talk on "The Freshman Congressman's view from Capitol Hill."

Our luncheons and evening meetings have been most interesting, because of our four members of Congress here and other notables. We cordially invite visiting Chi Phis to our meetings every second Thursday of the month. When you are in town, please call our President "Red" Sylvester, at EMerson 2-1973.—LEE S. HULETT, Secretary-Treasurer.

CAMPUS LEADERS

Zeta Delta Presents Campus Leaders

RARELY does a college fraternity have the distinction of claiming within its ranks two Brothers holding the top student leader positions on campus. The newly installed Zeta Delta Chapter claims this distinction.

Merritt O'Brien, president of the Student Senate, and William R. Ratchford, editor-in-chief of the Connecticut Daily Campus, both seniors at the University of Connecticut, have maintained throughout their college careers a spirit embodying diligence, idealism, and morality. It may truthfully be said that these Chi Phi Brothers have been a constant source of inspiration to their fraternity Brothers and fellow students.

Brother O'Brien was born in Minneapolis, Minn., on Oct. 12, 1932. He graduated from George Washington High School in Alexandria, Va., where he served on the Student Council, was vice president of the Sophomore Class and played three years of varsity football and one year of varsity baseball. Upon entering UConn as an industry major, Merritt soon became involved in campus politics. For one year he held the office of treasurer in the Mock Legislature. Then, being elected president of the Sophomore Class only proved to his classmates that he was the man best suited for such a position, for the next year they rewarded his efforts by electing him to the presidency of the Junior Class. Along with the positions of class president went an automatic seat in the Student Senate, the highest unit in the structure of student government at this University. Near the end of his second term as Senator he became a candidate for president of the Senate and was elected to that post which he has held this year as a result of the voting involving the entire student body.

Other activities he has supported include the Goodwill Committee, Alumni Committee, and the Blue and White Committee. In 1953 Merritt was the chairman of the Activities Fair in which the many organizations on campus display their various programs.

On March 9 Merritt was married to Frances Voynick, a graduate of the University of Connecticut. Upon graduation he will attend Law School.

Brother Ratchford was born on May 24, 1934, in Danbury, Conn. While a student at Danbury High School, Bill was a member of the National Honor Society, treasurer of the Student Council and managing editor of the school newspaper, The Nutmegger. In his

The Role of American Private Aid in Asia

by BERT B. MEEK, JR., Lambda '43

Executive Secretary of the Fund for Asia, Inc.

AN appropriate statement concerning the topic of "The Rôle of American Private Aid in Asia" has been stated by Dwight D. Eisenhower, the President of the United States, as follows: "Our (United States) government is working in a spirit of coöperation and partnership with the free peoples of Asia and is assisting them in many ways to fulfill their national aspirations. But the (United States) government cannot begin to accomplish all that needs to be done. Fortunately, there are also many private organizations carrying out the invaluable work of promoting understanding and goodwill between the peoples of free Asia and the United States through activities in the educational, social, civic and other fields . . . to intensify (the) coöperation with the free nations of . . . Asia in their efforts to achieve economic development and a rising standard of living."

Many thoughtful Americans believe that the United States has been too slow to recognize the importance of Asia where half the world's people live. In pursuit of the policy stated by President Eisenhower, a group of leading Americans interested in Asian affairs has established a new organization, the Fund For Asia:

"To aid voluntarily the cause of freedom by promoting understanding and good will between the peoples of Asia and the United States. . . .

"To encourage closer ties and joint activities between educational, cultural, civic and other non-profit groups in Asia and the United States;

"To encourage visits and exchanges among students, scholars and other leaders in Asia and the United States . . . and

"To encourage the free exchange of ideas between Asia and the United States. . . ."

Fund For Asia is not the usual type of fund-raising organization. It does not plan to solicit money from the general public to support its own activities, as such. Instead, it will function as a spur, a centralizing organization, and a helper for other private organizations already carrying out programs of technical aid, welfare, education, and cultural interchange in Asia.

To effectuate the foregoing purposes, the Fund For Asia has decided initially to make available financial support for selected projects of American philanthropic and educational organizations which, unlike the Fund itself, already have operating facilities and personnel in Asia. The financial support of the Fund For Asia comes from contributions made by the officers and members of its board and their businesses, and from other firms and individuals with whom they have personal contact.

It is the belief of the Fund that the nations of Asia, as was evident in the declarations made at the Bandung Conference in April, 1955, aspire to build a society of free peoples independent of foreign control, domination and/or colonialism, with stable governments and prosperous economies. The people of the United States of America had similar aspirations when they arrived at nationhood 180 years ago. They met their problems in large part by their own courage and determination aided by assistance from friendly states. Thus the people of the United States view with the greatest sympathy the struggle of the Asian peoples for freedom and economic security. They see in this struggle a reflection of their own early difficulties so long past, and are determined to do everything in their power to facilitate the accomplishment of these great objectives by their Asian friends.

Americans never have been satisfied to rely wholly on government in matters of this kind. In Asia, particularly, private organizations have seen the need and moved ahead faster than government.

The Fund For Asia was founded in late 1954 on the initiative of James A. Michener, American novelist, journalist, and writer on Asia. Besides Mr. Michener, the president, the board of directors includes as its vice president Dr. Henry F. Grady, former United States Ambassador to India, Iran and Greece; Murray D. Lincoln, president of Nationwide Insurance Co., and president of CARE; Manly Fleischmann, attorney with the firm of Fleischmann, Stokes and Hitchcock; Barry Bingham, president of The (Louisville) Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times; John Farrar, chairman of the board of directors of Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, Inc.; Paul C. Smith, president of Crowell-Collier Publishing Co.; and James D. Zellerbach, president of the Crown-Zellerbach Corp.

A conference on the rôle of American private aid in Asia was held in New York in October under the auspices of the Fund. More than 150 business organizations with interests in Asia joined in sponsoring the conference, which was attended by the largest group of American experts on Asia ever gathered under private auspices.

The conference took up such matters as agriculture and rural life, health and nutrition, literacy, medical education and higher education and cultural interchange, as these subjects may be of interest to or affect the ways of living of the peoples of Asia, and in turn what is being done by American private organizations to assist in an understanding of these problems. The Fund and the conference were tangible demonstrations of the willingness of the American people to take an active part in the advancement of Asia in freedom.

At the present time the Fund has under study the programs of American organizations with situs in India, Burma, Thailand, Indonesia, Pakistan, Philippines, and Japan. They have made a small grant to a community development program in the State of Madras.

*Bert B. Meek, Jr., A '43, was born and educated primarily in the State of California, with a period of four years service during the recent war. He later became an attorney at law admitted to practice in the State of California and before the United States Supreme Court. Most of his life has been devoted to civic affairs, both in the State mentioned above as well as programs in the U.S., with a primary interest in Asia. He has actively been engaged in foundation and tax work and has been with the Fund since its inception. In addition to his interests in law and problems affecting the peoples of his country and Asia, he is also interested in worldwide agricultural developments and programs of United Nations organizations such as FAO, UNESCO, UNICEF, and WHO.

Past Snark

OUR good Hoo-Hoo brother and beloved past Snark, George W. Dulany, Jr., Omicron '98, 9967, Rameses 38, again is in the headlines. In July, he made his second TV appearance on the "This is your Life" program. This was a repeat performance on the life of that worthy Dr. Lawrence Jones, Head of the Piney Woods School, in Mississippi. Brother George was introduced and appeared primarily as one of the sponsors of this institution. The first showing of the program, directed by Ralph Edwards, resulted in over $700,000 being received through contributions of $1.00 from the general public. It is hoped that the repeat performance will produce additional funds, probably a grand total of $1,000,000. It may be used as an endowment and guarantees the further continuation of the Piney Woods School.

On July 11, George Dulany, celebrated his 78th birthday. On hand to greet him were Seer of the House of Ancients, C. D. LeMaster, 29727, Rameses 29, and that prominent Los Angeles Hoo-Hoo leader, past Supreme Nine member, Dee Essley, 31675. (As a matter of fact it was a triple celebration, as the birthday of all three fell on the same day.) There were toasts to the birthday celebrants, to Hoo-Hoo and the Great Black Cat. Speaking of his TV appearance, George Dulany said, "I received over several hundred letters from old friends, I have not seen or heard from in many years, and commented on my walking into their homes unannounced through TV"—The Hoo-Hoo Bulletin.

Toronto Architect

F. H. MCGRAW & COMPANY, engineers and constructors, has two new vice presidents—Charles DuBose, Ω '29, and Paul F. Pape. Mr. Pape, an engineer, has served with McGraw since 1946 and Charles DuBose, an architect, comes to the company from Frank Grad & Sons, a Newark architectural firm.

Brother DuBose has been in architectural practice in the New York area since 1933. He designed the Monmouth Park race track in New Jersey and many other outstanding public, commercial, and industrial buildings in this area. Following an international competition he was awarded a commission to design a new capitol building for the Republic of Ecuador and later was given a commission to design a new airlines terminal and airport for the Republic of Panama. Neither project was brought to fruition.

Brother DuBose is a graduate architect from Georgia Tech and the University of Pennsylvania. Following graduation from Pennsylvania he taught architecture and design there. He spent two summers studying at Fontainebleau School of Fine Arts in Paris and is now a trustee of the Fontainebleau schools. He joined McGraw on March 1 and will supervise operations of the company's Canadian subsidiary in Toronto, where he will live. He is a member of APX and ΣΔΧ.

BLACKSTONE STUDIOS

Charles DuBose, Omega '29

Board President

WILLIAM A. SCHNADER, Zeta '08, one of Franklin and Marshall's most distinguished and loyal sons, was elected president of the board of trustees at the June meeting.

Receiving the degree of Bachelor of Laws cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania School of Law in 1912, Dr. Schnader gained early attention by framing the Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation law and a bill reorganizing the state government. From 1913 until 1922 he taught law at the University of Pennsylvania Law School. Governor Pinchot in 1930 named him attorney general, one of the youngest men ever to hold this office.

Dr. Schnader was elected to the board of trustees in 1926 and received a doctor of laws degree from Franklin and Marshall in 1931. An active alumnus, he has been president of the Philadelphia Alumni Club for many years, has been chairman of the Alumni Fund, and as vice president of the board has watched carefully over the financial status of the College.

He is a native son of Lancaster County, a member of the ΦBK and XΦ Fraternities, and president of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. The College is most fortunate to have such a man in its highest office.—The Franklin and Marshall Alumnus.

Steel Man

WILLIAM J. WARDLAW, Omega '27, and Ralph Williams, both of Atlanta, were elected to the Board of Directors of Atlantic Steel Co., it was announced by company president, R. S. Lynch, following the annual meeting of stockholders here. The session was held at the Trust Company of Georgia.

President of Wardlaw and Hunter, Inc., investment counsellors, Mr. Wardlaw is a native of Augusta and graduate of Georgia Tech. After having been with a Baltimore investment firm for three years, Mr. Wardlaw returned to Atlanta in 1932 and from then until 1940 was with Courts & Co.

In the latter year he established the firm of Fleet and Wardlaw, Inc. Later he became executive manager of the U. S. Victory Fund Committee with the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, and in 1943 went on active duty with the Naval Reserve. His present firm was formed in 1946. Mr. Wardlaw is an active leader in a number of local civic and fraternal enterprises.

Mr. Williams is a partner in the law firm of Jones, Williams, Dorsey and Kane here. A native of Griffin, he is a graduate of Emory College and Emory Law School, and he is a leader in a number of activities in musical circles here.—Atlanta Journal.

In Korea

SECOND LT. CHARLES STUMPF, JR., Kappa '53, is a member of the I Corps in Korea. An intensive post-truce training program is supervised by I Corps for the UN units under its control. Lieutenant Stumpf, son of Charles Stumpf, 817 Miami Pass, Madison, Wis., is an ammunition train commander in Service Battery of the corps' 96th Field Artillery Battalion. The lieutenant entered the Army in February, 1955, and was stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., before arriving in the Far East in August.

At Fort Lee

SECOND LT. BENJAMIN M. PULLING, Xi '55, 23, whose wife, Suzanne, lives at 27 Rockledge Dr., Stamford, Conn., has graduated from the officer basic course at the Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va.

Private Edward L. Rentz, A-X '54, finished the graves registration course at the Quartermaster School at Fort Lee.

St. John's Rector

THE REV. DR. C. LESLIE GLENN*, Mu '21, of St. John's Episcopal Church, Lafayette Sq., N.W., evokes Christian sentiment from his congregation like a Kreisler—with warmth and delicacy.

The light timbre of his voice, which is moderately musical, gives a suggestion of the infinite compassion which Jesus showed. The sound remains when the sermon is over.

Not only the contingent of admirals, bankers, and statesmen, but ordinary mortals and visitors renew, each Sunday at St. John's, their faith in the reality of what one congregation member has called "the trinity of the Holy Spirit"—understanding, acceptance, friendship.

Dr. Glenn, a tall, pink-cheeked man of 55, has been at "the Church of the Presidents" across from the White House since 1940, with four years out for war service.

A brief biography would go like this:

Born in Harlem, N. Y., the son of an Irish building contractor. Attended public schools in New York and Jersey City, entered Stevens Institute of Technology, served in World War I as Navy fireman, graduated from Stevens with mechanical engineering degree, employed in building business one year, taught mathematics at Lawrenceville School two years, graduated from Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, 1926, curate at All Saints' Church, Worcester, Mass., one year, secretary for College Work of the National Council of the Episcopal Church, New York, three years (founded the Church Society for College Work); rector of Christ Church, Cambridge, Mass., and chaplain to Episcopal students at Harvard University, 1930-1940.

In 1940 Dr. Glenn was called to St. John's Church. In 1942 he reentered the Navy as a chaplain.

The rector's namesake, his son, Charles Leslie Glenn, Jr., was awarded one of the coveted Freshman Honor Scholarships at Harvard College. The rector's older daughter, Georgiana, is married and has a daughter. His daughter, Margaret, is a secretary in the American consulate at Beirut.

Dr. Glenn's ambition has been to make St. John's "a parish church—not a preaching center but a friendly warm church where all will find a welcome."

With the help of his parishioners, Dr. Glenn has gone a long way toward making St. John's the "friendly" Church of the Presidents.

He is proud of Lawrence Choate, and Lawrence Houghteling and other members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew for doing "a lot of visiting in hospitals."

He is proud of his people for giving more to missions than any other church in the Diocese; of the church's healing services, counseling work; his radio program, "From Pulpit to Microphone," by which he ministers over WGMS to non-parishioners; of the church's coffee hour.

The last rates a special note. The idea was started by Dr. Glenn at Christ Church; he instituted it at St. John's; it caught on and now the after-service coffee social hour has become an American custom that seems due to stay.

The rector is proud of Mrs. Carrie Meeks, his housekeeper at the Rectory, who has often cooked for as many as 100 people.

But most of all, right now, he is happy about the church's new parish house, at 1525 H St., N.W. All sorts of activities are carried on in this building where "the spirit of fellowship" begins, from Alcoholics Anonymous meetings to a bookstore.

The congregation is spending $250,000 on remodeling it. Of Dr. Glenn's recollections of Presidents, the first to come to his mind is one in which Franklin D. Roosevelt characteristically combined tact with audacity.

They were on a warship together, at a Sunday service. The minister was embarrassed because he couldn't think of anything to say. Sensing this, the President broke the ice when he pointed at his dog, laughed and said, "Fala always scratches himself when he's embarrassed."

Another recollection—not of Presidents—also goes back to a warship. As chaplain, the minister helped with the wounded. In two or three sentences he gives a sharp picture of the wild injustice of the universe:

"A chaplain's battle station is the sick bay. You encourage them and take messages—a lot didn't know they were dying. Such young lads. That's what hurts you. Kids . . . 18, 19."—KENNETH DOLE in The Washington Post via Stevens Indicator.

In Germany

ARMY 2d Lt. MARVIN S. ROSETTE, EA '54, son of Mrs. J. A. Ostrom, 4135 N. E. Multnomah St., Portland, Ore., has been assigned to the 37th Engineer Group in Germany. ## C of C President

WILLIAM TRAVIS AIKEN, Gamma '53, within a brief period in the business world of his home town of Lyons, Ga., has played a prominent rôle in the material, civic, and religious progress so abundantly evident to anyone who visits this wide-awake Southeast Georgia city, county seat of Toombs County.

Bill Aiken, highly respected and admired in fraternity circles, is president of the Lyons-Toombs County Chamber of Commerce, an organization with more than 100 business and professional leaders united in a common project designed to build a greater and more progressive community. He operates the Yorke Motel, one of the most modern in Georgia; graduated from the Lyons High School in 1949; attended Emory Junior College 1949-1951; majored in history at Emory University, following which he returned to Lyons. Bill is a grandson of the late Dr. William Darracott Travis, Gamma '90. General Robert Jesse Travis, Gamma '97, is his uncle.

senior year he was the recipient of the Nutmegger Scholarship.

Upon entering the University of Connecticut his interests in school activities increased. He served as a representative to the Interfraternity Council and also spent three successful years with the Mock Legislature, an organization in which he held two offices, junior chairman and state parliamentarian.

As a Brother in the local fraternity Beta Epsilon Rho, Bill played a prominent rôle in the brotherhood. He held the positions of recording secretary, rush chairman, vice president and took an active part in intramural sports.

The Connecticut Daily Campus has had two successful semesters under the leadership of Editor Ratchford. Starting his journalistic career as a reporter, he rose to news editor before being elected to the top editorship.

Brother Ratchford is also a member of ΓΧΕ, an honorary society based on scholarship, leadership and participation in and advancement of activities, as well as ΦΚΦ.

Bill is pinned to Barbara Carpenter, ΚΚΤ, president of the Women's Student Government Council.

Future plans for this senior who has achieved first or second honors in scholastics for four years despite his busy schedule of extracurricular activities is to attend Law School.

In addition to their records of achievement Merritt and Bill are Archons, the senior men's leadership society. The purpose of the Archons is to act as mediator in the relations of the students and the University Administration and to aid in the solution of any problems which might arise in this relationship.

Along with seniors from six hundred colleges and universities both were also selected to represent the University of Connecticut as members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Zeta Delta is proud to present these two outstanding Brothers to the brethren of Chi Phi throughout the nation. They are indeed a credit to our school, fraternity, and country.—SKIP DAYTON '59.

LETTERS

2157 Temple Court
St. Paul 4, Minn.

DEAR BROTHER GLADFELTER:

Just a short note along with my first Dues payment to the Fraternity as an Alumnus.

Currently I am employed by Lampland Lumber Co., in St. Paul, after having completed a course in Lumber Merchandising in the School of Forestry. My sights are aimed toward an eventual merchandising career in the lumber merchandising field. At present I am preparing for some sales experience at Lampland's.

Of course, I haven't had my tour completed with Uncle Sam and am awaiting my call to active duty with the Air Force having received my commission some months ago.

I still enjoy visiting the house frequently and socializing with the Brothers as the occasion presents itself. I do hope to be present when Judge Rosser visits Gamma Delta this spring as I understand he expects to. (Since he was unavoidably detained from visiting our Chapter last year).

Congratulations are in order for our new Chapter, Zeta Delta. It is good to see a new addition to the National and I hope as more qualified chapters are brought up, they too may participate as a fine addition to this oldest of national fraternities.

Fraternally,

EUGENE R. STROMMEN
Gamma Delta '55

DEAR JUDGE:

I want you to know I very much appreciate your thoughtfulness in sending me the clipping from the April issue of THE CHAKETT.

I was personally pleased with the honor of having my Inaugural Address of 20 years ago published in the CHAKETT.

As I reread my words it made me realize it not only takes One Hundred Years for an Oak tree and for Chi Phi, but also for a man to become a man.

Our slogan of not four but forty years in Chi Phi is certainly true, for the Fraternity lives with all of the Alumni here in Miami and I know it has lived with you because to most of us Chi Phi and Judge Rosser are synonymous.

Fraternally yours,

EDWARD L. DUBOIS, JR.
225 Milledge Circle
Athens, Ga.

GENTLEMEN:

I want to thank you for your bulletin containing the Memorial Services held at the Chi Phi Congress in 1955. I will keep this with Jack's papers.

Jack's Fraternity meant a great deal to him, and I think his love of his Fraternity has been passed on to both boys. The Eta Chapter here at the University of Georgia started out with 54 active this year and as you may already know, they pledged 30 boys this past Rush Week. I am very happy over their progress. It should be a cause for great rejoicing on the part of the Alumni, and the actives as well as the mothers. I hope that you will pay the boys a visit as soon as possible to see how attractive the house is and observe the wonderful progress that is being made.

Yours very sincerely,
(MRS.) MARJORIE W. WILKINS

Let's talk

we will have a stag smoker. Congress will be in session all day Thursday, and that night there will be a dinner dance. It is not much fun to have a dance without a lot of young ladies and, since the Council is putting on this Congress, we are having to call on our Brothers in Virginia to furnish dates for the delegates. I particularly want to thank Brother William P. Edmondson, who has agreed to act as our social chairman and be responsible for seeing that the delegates have dates for the dance. It will also add to the success of the Congress if the Alumni in the surrounding territory will turn out in large numbers. I am calling on them to cooperate by attending all Congress sessions and social functions.

Whatever your problem may be, from the standpoint of undergraduates or Alumni, please feel free to call them to our attention here in Atlanta at 308 Mark Building. The function of the Council is to be of service to every Chi Phi.

Respectfully submitted,

National Director

Alpha Pledges Six In Mid-Winter

BOHUN B. KINLOCH, Alpha
University of Virginia

ALPHA CHAPTER is glad to announce that, during second semester rushing, we pledged six first-year men: Walter Dixon, John Taylor, and Kenneth Monroe, Staunton; Thomas Martin, Norfolk; Walter Carroll, Fort Bragg, N. C.; and Chuck Manning, Harrisonburg. George Murray, Canton, Ill., was initiated on Feb. 16.

Since our last letter, we have acquired a rug for the West Room. The basement has been worked on and many small decorating details have been attended to in that section of the house.

On Feb. 15 Alpha Chapter had the pleasure of a visit from Judge Rosser which was greatly enjoyed. This visit gave the new Brothers an opportunity to meet our National Director and also gave the older Brothers a chance to renew acquaintances with the Judge.

The election of new officers was held late in January: Bohun B. Kinloch, Alpha; J. Calvin Holcombe, Beta; James Zanelli, Gamma; Robert Bitting, Delta; Thomas Johnson, Epsilon; and Dabney Overton, Zeta.—DABNEY OVERTON.

Robert G. Ernest was Alpha's Sparks Medal winner for the year 1954-55

MIT

INITIATION of six new Brothers marked the beginning of a new term at Beta: George Durham Kraft, Charles William Emerson, Myron Robert Sawyer, William Novis Smith, Bruce Robert Hayworth, and Glen David Jorgensen. The weekend before our own initiation we were privileged to be able to initiate 15 new Brothers from Zeta Delta Chapter, and on the weekend of Feb. 25-27 several of the Brothers from Beta attended Zeta Delta's formal installation. Due to date conflicts our initiation banquet was not held until March 2, instead of the week after initiation as in previous years.

Jim Chorak is again social chairman this term, and his tentative schedule includes a "Suppressed Desires" party and a spring formal along with several other smaller parties. We also plan to be hosts for the IFC open house again this term.

In the near future we hope to mail the 1956 Alumni News Letter, which, along with the semi-annual Tablet, serves to keep the Alumni informed of the doings and whereabouts of their fraternity Brothers. June week this year will see 12 Betas graduated from MIT: James Robert Freeman, Jr., Richard Jere Shopf, Edward Stuart Purcell, Jr., Lloyd DeWitt Brace, Jr., John Enloe Broyles, George Richard Woods, Stephen Leonard Johnson, Øystein Linge, Fred Thellman, Jr., Richard Irving Johnson, John William Hartigan, and McIver Williamson Edwards, Jr. I would like to extend thanks on behalf of the Chapter to these men for the contributions they have made to the Fraternity during their stay here.—T. S. HOVR.

Gamma Members Stand at 75

MARVIN Y. WHITING, Alpha
Emory University

THE winter formal held at East Lake Country Club was an immense success. Sue Jones, an Atlanta girl, was presented as Sponsor and shared in the leadout with the new officers: Marvin Whiting, Alpha; Paul Westbrook, Beta; Bill Morgan, Gamma; Bud Witham, Delta; John Strother, Epsilon; and Al Braselton, Zeta. After the dance a breakfast was held at Joe Cotton's Steak Ranch with music provided by Piano Red and his Band. Mother Preston was presented with a gift in honor of her 11 years as housemother. On Feb. 14, Chi Phi entertained the Robert Shaw Chorale after their concert in the Glenn Memorial Auditorium. Many distinguished Gamma Alumni and faculty members were in attendance along with the presidents of various campus organizations and other guests.

Under the leadership of Bob Reed and Marvin Whiting, Chi Phi placed third in the annual Interfraternity Skits-O-Frenia. Brothers Pearson and Braselton along with Mary Emma Welch, president of the Chi Club, starred in a satire on the eternal triangle created by the battle between Emory and Tech men for the affections of Agnes Scott women. The basketball team consisting of Jim Woodard, Conway Woo, Phil Swingle, Jim Knight, Billy Oliver, Robert Shear, and Glen Bailey, placed fourth in the championship flight. John King and Tony Heidt coached the team.

Gamma, consistent with the "heads-up" policy of rushing, plans a spring rush party for prospective freshmen on April 21. A stag smoker will be held from 4 to 6 at Brother Bill Morgan's home and a dance that night at the house. Rush information for next year is being accumulated and all recommendations from Alumni and other Chapters are welcome. With the addition of pledge Gene Rackley of Atlanta, Gamma now has a total membership of 75.—AL BRASELTON.

Union; Pete Fowler, Woodbury; Art D'Alessandro, Maplewood. During Greek Week, these nine did a great deal of work on the house. Among their many work projects was the painting of almost the entire first floor. We have two new pledges: Craig Brown, who returned after working for a year, and Nick DiGiovanni. Through the efforts of Jerry Van Winter and Jake Orbock, co-chairmen of the rushing committee, we are expecting at least six to eight more pledges this semester.

The social program for the second semester is being handled by Bill Keeney. Among the events planned are the Junior Prom Weekend in March, the Annual Apache Party in April, and Military Ball Weekend in May.

Because of a generous Alumni donation, we were able to purchase three new rugs for the living room, music room, and foyer. We also purchased a new set of floor and table lamps as well as new end tables for the living room.

Other Notes: The Deltan intramural teams did a fine job last semester in football and cross-country and are still showing their athletic superiority this semester in basketball, wrestling, and swimming . . . The same is true of varsity sports . . . Deane Oliver has been rated one of top 10 wrestlers in the country in the 130-pound class . . . Other non-athletic activities also show fine Chi Phi representation . . . Four pledges from Beta Epsilon Rho at the University of Connecticut stopped by for a weekend recently . . . Zeta Delta of Chi Phi will be a big asset to the Fraternity . . . Delta as a whole had a rather good scholastic first semester.—GEORGE LUKAC.

Epsilon Stresses Study Results

JAMES E. KULP
Alpha
Hampden-Sydney College

EPSILON started this semester by placing four members on the first Dean's List and eight on the second Dean's List. Last year we were third on the campus scholastically and above the All-Men's average by a good margin. Scholarship has been emphasized heavily this year and we hope to have the top average when June ends this year's session at Hampden-Sydney.

On Feb. 16, we were very happy and honored when our National Director, Judge L. Z. Rosser, paid us his annual visit. Judge Rosser spent most of the evening discussing the possibility of having this year's Congress in Virginia which would do much to further the interest of Chi Phi in this area. All the members of Epsilon were very much in favor of this plan and promised to assume any responsibility necessary in order to promote such an undertaking. The importance of rushing was also stressed, and we were cautioned not to rest on our laurels. Accompanying Judge Rosser were Brothers Royster Lyle, Beau Hughes, and Leigh Taylor, all of Danville; and Brothers R. K. Brock and R. T. Hubbard of Hampden-Sydney. These men are all graduates of Epsilon and are the ones most responsible for the well-being of the Chapter at the present.

Pledge Day was Feb. 1 and we have 10 fine pledges: Skippy Warren, Bethesda, Md.; Norton Howe, Jr., Richmond; Hubert Stallard, Lynchburg; Seth Hodges, Norfolk; Theodorus Niemeyer, Holland; Wally Giglio, Torrington, Conn.; Bobby Saylor, Fork Union; Phil Hoge, Mount Holly; Robert Cooksey, Leesburg; Hunter Marrow, Union Level. A party for them and their dates was held last weekend to finish up this year's rush season.

The intramural race is still going strong with us in second place now due to the fine efforts of our basketball team. Several sports have yet to be played so there is a strong chance we might retain the trophy which we won last year.

With Midwinters coming the social committees are putting their heads together. A combo party has already been announced and further plans will be revealed in the future.—SANDY SANDERS.

Zeta Pledges Record Class

THOMPSON

Alpha

Franklin & Marshall

ZETA concluded the most successful rush week in recent years by pledging the maximum of 25 men allowed by IFC: Frank Arbaugh, Wynnewood; Allen Blackburn, Danville; Lee Bossert, Lewistown; James Clark, Paxinos; Richard Daubenspeck, Huntington; Charles Deininger, Lebanon; Jay Demi, New Cumberland; Lenny Ferucci and James Hoeschele, Hershey; Charles Fetterly, New Brunswick, N. J.; Harold Fischer, Joseph Nolt, Donald Spangler, Lancaster; Douglas Held, Lynbrook, N. Y.; John Iliff, Newton, N. J.; Peter Kirchner, Wyomissing; Brook Koenke, Wildwood, N. J.; Mark McGill, Fort Washington; John Remling, Scotch Plains, N. J.; Stephen Romeo, Lock Haven; William Sowers and Terry Strine, York; Henry Stewart, Windber; Lee Verstandig, Hamden, Conn.; Conrad Wagner, Williamsport, Md.

Between semesters the two bathrooms in the house were completely remodeled with ceramic tile showers replacing the ancient fittings. The Zeta House Assn. sponsored this project. Another house improvement planned is the rebuilding of the two sofas which have been in the living room for 25 years.

At the beginning of the semester Ray Baughman was married to Joan Brown of Lancaster. Ray is a senior and will complete school here. The social calendar for the second semester started with a dinner dance on Feb. 11, honoring our pledges and their dates. On Saturday evening following a pledge-brother basketball game, in which the pledges were soundly beaten, we held an informal record dance at the house. The greatest weekend at F&M in a long time, and certainly the highlight of the semester thus far, was Interfraternity Weekend, March 9-10. Friday night found the Brothers journeying to York to dance formally to the music of Billy May and his Orchestra. Saturday afternoon our Zeta Glee Club competed in the IFC sing and attended a tea dance and band concert. The theme for the evening house party was a "Guys and Dolls" party. Costumes ranged from gaudy "hood" outfits and zoot suits to conservative Salvation Army uniforms.

Zeta's basketball team is currently tied for the intramural lead with six wins and no losses. The race will be tight right up to the end, but we expect to see Zeta out front in competition for the college All-Sports Trophy.

Due to Zeta's slight drop scholastically, several steps have been taken to boost the average back where it was. All pledges' mid-semester grades will be posted and a plaque will be awarded at the end of the semester to the pledge showing the most improvement over his first semester average. Enforced study hours and well-kept files should help us achieve our goal.

Zeta was saddened to hear the news of the death of one of the Fraternity's oldest Alumni. Brother Bruce Griffith, Z '90, of Wichita, Kans., passed on to Chapter Eternal on Feb. 15.—THEODORE B. APPEL, III.

University of Georgia

THE most important happening last quarter as far as Chi Phi goes was the installation of a Zeta Delta Chapter at the University of Connecticut. All the members of Eta Chapter desire it to be known that they extend a very warm welcome and congratulations to a fine new Chapter. Incidentally, if you need an old ΣAE moosehead or something to adorn your chapter house, let us know.

We had two boys to return from the Army this past quarter: Larry Schick and George McDonald. We have had one Brother step into the married column, Bill Young.

Our initiates last quarter are: Doc Gammage, Chas. Johnston, Alton Kitchens, Sam McGill, Willie Starnes, G. B. Morris, Streey Hull, Maurice Joyce, Allen Matthews, Tom Oglesby, and Henry Wall.

The Chapter gave three parties last quarter. We also planned a house party at Stonehaven Lodge on Lake Rabun for spring quarter. Willie's fine, Alumni, and still looking after the boys.—STAN BOLEN.

THETA welcomes Jack Quartironi and Charles Guck back to the Chapter. February's work parties served to bring the house into great shape for the Winter Carnival—Saturalia. Some Alumni who returned to help make the weekend a success were Bob Barr, Phil Perdicizzi, Ray Urbinato, and Frank Quimby.

Theta's delegates to the Zone Meeting for the installation of the Zeta Delta Chapter at the University of Connecticut were Ken Klindthworth, Phil Rockmaker, and Frank Thoburn.

Congratulations to Dick Cocks on his recent marriage to Carol Page. Completing the spring calendar are the Navy Ball March 17, Grand Marshal Week, April 9-13, Soiree Weekend, April 27-29, and Parents' Weekend, May 4-6.—BERT RYBURN.

Iota Plans Alumni Reunion

JACK HOPKINS

Alpha

Ohio State University

A NICE birthday party was given in the chapter house on March 1, celebrating the 82nd birthday of our beloved housemother, "Grammaw" Carrie Commerson. She was presented with a very nice gift from the Chapter, but the general feeling was that there is no gift that will convey our appreciation for her 28 years of outstanding service to Iota. We know that all the Brothers who know Mrs. Commerson feel the same way.

Charles Thomas '54 visited the house while on leave from the Air Force. He brought news that John Winkler '54 has recently become the father of twins. Both men have just completed flight training and have received commissions. Only one of the twins is a future Chi Phi.

Larry Snyder '20, the Ohio State University track coach and former Olympic track coach, got the 1956 Olympic Fund Campaign off to a good start with a speech at the University. The Brothers in the Chapter spent one full Saturday soliciting funds for the campaign.

We are going to resume publication of our chapter alumni news letter, The Iotan. The first issue is set to go out in March. In conjunction with this we are planning an Alumni Reunion in May. This reunion is going to have a two-fold purpose, (1) to better alumni relations that have been neglected for the past few years and, (2) to have the Alumni join us in giving a banquet in honor of Mrs. Commerson. "Grammaw" is retiring as active house mother, and we feel that the least we can do for her is to get as many of her "Boys" back to see her as we can. We anticipate one of the biggest and best reunions in the history of this Chapter.—GEORGE HICKOX.

Kappa Stars in Campus Shows

FOUR new men were added to the pledge class after formal rushing this spring: Fred Verhulst, Madison; Gene Bjerning, Twin Lakes; Joe Lonsdorf, Sheboygan; and Jim Garvens, Wauwatosa. An extensive informal rushing program for the remainder of the semester has been set up by Dave Blank.

On the athletic scene, Kappa won its division in basketball and placed third in the play-offs. The bowling team came in second in its division and is now in the play-offs. The baseball team hopes to carry on the winning ways of last year's ball team. Golf and tennis look much better than in the past.

Robert Teska and John Hamel are Kappa's representatives in this year's Haresfoot show, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." Both are in the kick chorus. This is Brother Teska's fourth year with the theatrical club, and Brother Hamel is making his third appearance. This year's Humorology skit, directed by Charles Klienschmit and John Hamel, was the talk of the campus after the first try-outs. Such a response was most encouraging, and there is little doubt that the Chi Phi-KKT skit will be picked for the final production. Humorology is a variety show put on for the benefit of crippled children. Dave Duerwacher has the social calendar filled with suppers, pier parties, costume parties, and informal Saturday night parties. The big annual affairs this spring will be the Bourbon Street party, the Esquire party, the spring formal, and the party after initiation. The Chapter would like to extend an invitation to any Alumnus, who may be in Madison on a weekend this spring, to come over to the house and live it up for a couple hours.—JOHN HAMEL.

Lambda Initiates Eight Pledges

DARRYL PETERSEN, Alpha
University of California

LAMBDA was augmented when, after a delightful, never-to-be-forgotten "Work Week," eight new names were added to the lodge roster: Dave Allen, Bruce Rice and Dave White, all out of frosh crew and making names for themselves; Stephen Retter, shortstop on the frosh baseball team; and John Fraser, Mike Good, Rich Clark, and Clem Laufenberg, all active in one capacity or another in campus and house affairs.

Meanwhile the social committee, headed by Earll Riley, planned the "Big Six" dance, one of the more important social events on campus and which the "Big Six" fraternities hold annually. Our spring rushing program is under the leadership of John Fraser. Our Beta, Joe Bingaman, is doing a good job in the thankless task of keeping Lambda's scholarship average out of the cellar and apparently is succeeding. Much of the credit for the state of being of the Chapter may be directed toward our Alpha, Darryl Petersen, who has been vigorously coordinating all our programs. Bates McIndoe, who holds the office of Gamma, has been doing a good job as a yell-leader for U.C. Frank Merlo, Delta, is demonstrating his skill this spring on the varsity baseball team as pitcher. His adviser, Jim "Tiger" Lidster, is currently one of the better wrestlers on campus.

Turning to individual activities, we find Keith Jewell, an active member of the Executive Committee of U. C.'s Student Government. This spring saw the return of three Korean veterans, Howard Finn from the Air Force, Peter Dunne from the Navy, and Howard "M. G." Maynard from the Army.—JOHN C. WIESNER.

Mu Proposes Industrial Tours

SIBBERN
Alpha

Stevens Institute

MU is in the middle of our annual two weeks of closed rushing. This is naturally the most important event of the year and Artie Zack, our rushing chairman, is doing a very commendable job. There is a large Freshman Class at Stevens again this year, and the prospects of a large pledge class look excellent.

The great house-improvement program mentioned in our last report is almost complete. Due to the fact that all Brothers and pledges pitched in to do the big job, the house now looks better than it has in many years. Alumni are cordially invited to take a look at the "New Look" at the old Green Gate house. An Alumni meeting was held recently, at which time Carl Carlson was appointed our new Chapter Adviser. Carl, who was our Alpha last year, is setting a good example for our other Alumni by showing a great deal of interest in the house. At the Alumni meeting the possibility was discussed of having Alumni give industrial tours to men in the house to prepare them for job interviews in the senior year. The Brothers of Mu are wholeheartedly behind this plan.

We would like to extend our thanks to the men at our new Zeta Delta Chapter for the hospitality shown to our delegates during the installation. New Chi Phis are always welcome, so our heartiest congratulations to the men at the University of Connecticut.

As soon as rushing is over and we find time to breathe deeply again, our big social calendar will be revived. Under the direction of Social Chairman Gene Gorzelnik, we expect to average slightly better than one party per week-end.—ROBERT B. McFiggans.

Nu's Scholarship Zooms to Top

STARNES

Alpha

University of Texas

CONCLUDING one of the most successful semesters we have recently had, 11 new Brothers were added in impressive ceremonies. James M. Cline, Edward D. Weston, Jack E. Ferrell, and Scott A. McGall, Dallas; Don E. Studdard, Brownwood; Roland E. Lee, Ft. Arthur; Lynn R. Kromminga, Wiley S. Olson, and William L. Guyton, Austin; James M. Johnson, McCloud, and James D. Anderson, El Dorado, Ark., were initiated Feb. 19. Scott A. McGall was selected Best Pledge. Out of a pledge class consisting of 13 men, the chapter initiated 84.6%. Nu is proud of this record and promises greater results in the future.

Alpha Gordon Richard Starnes has continued the organizational policy initiated by past Alpha, Arthur J. Kemp. The new by-laws which are in effect state that a man must maintain a one-point grade average in order to remain active. New appointments include Thomas J. Welch, pledgemaster, and R. Robert Rackley, pledge training committeeman. Scholastically, a 1.42 grade average was posted, which brought us from the bottom of the list up to the top five in the fraternity scholastic division. Scholarship Chairman Herman Paul Pressler, III, did a fine job in organizing pledge study halls and scholastic meetings on a chapter basis. Thomas J. Welch, William L. Guyton, Lynn R. Kromminga, Scott A. McGall, Walter P. Hoffie, John Schulze, and Robert J. Schneider posted a B or better average. Attending the University of Texas Law School are Kenneth E. Studdard, Herman Paul Pressler, III, Arthur J. Kemp, Don E. Studdard, and Robert J. Schneider.

Tentative plans for the new house are completed and available for inspection. Many outstanding features have been incorporated into its design, thus making it superior to other chapter houses on the campus.

Rush Chairman Michael M. Fricke did a fine job during spring rush, pledging Mike Simpson and James Ross. In addition to these, the spring pledge class will consist of Joe B. Parks, James Angel, William J. Blythe, and Allen C. Bettis. Any information on rushees will be greatly appreciated; we will do our best to contact them. "Mike" is also social chairman and has planned a full social calendar of events for this semester. If Alumni or other Brothers are passing through Austin, drop by and attend one of our weekend parties. Former Chi Phi enrolled here are Reed Mathews, Pat Powers and Hugh Springfield.

Scott A. McGall, intramural manager, has done an excellent job by entering strong teams in volleyball, tennis, and softball. Winter sports saw Nu in the above average grouping.

Any suggestions from Alumni concerning phases of fraternity life that you feel we should improve, would be welcomed. Active Alumni indicate a good Fraternity; that's why Nu is on the way to the top!—R. ROBERT RACKLEY.

Xi Pledges 12 In Deferred Rush

Alpha
Cornell University

THIS year, under Cornell University's new rushing system, 12 freshmen were pledged: Michael Eschweiler, David Forman, Ronald Geren, John Henderson, John Hunter, Martin Holt, David Kent, Arthur Layton, Peter Littlefield, Charles Minarick, Joseph Ruggie, and John Rutledge. To this fine pledge class, we expect to add five more pledges during the deferred rushing period. Much of the credit for our rushing program must go to Jim Gouinlock and his rushing committee who did a very fine job.

The election of officers for the spring term was held on Jan. 16. Jim Gouinlock succeeded Dave Taylor as Alpha; Robert Rude was elected Beta; Robert Stanwood, Gamma; Floyd Downs, Epsilon; and Robert Willey and Jim Stallkamp continued in their positions of Delta and Zeta. A vote of thanks certainly must go to the outgoing officers for their fine job.

On the sports scene, Xi's basketball team was defeated in the semi-finals of the University championship, after winning in the league competition. It was a hard defeat. However, with most of the first team of Floyd Downs, Richard Payne, Robert Verstandig, Roger Dohn, Mac MacKinnon, Al Hahn, Bill McKinley, and David Stotz returning the prospects for next year are very good.

The house average showed a notable increase last term due to our emphasis on scholarship. We are quite proud of the 4-point increase in our average and are determined to raise it even more this term, by maintaining the strict study rules.—JIM STALLKAMP.

Omicron to Stress Public Relations

KENNETH J.
GERGEN
Alpha
Yale University

ELECTION of officers has been completed and Ken Gergen was elected Alpha. To help him are Jack Barber, Beta; Frank Melhorn, Gamma; Hienz Molsen, Delta, and Zack Sacks, Epsilon. The new social and house committees have been formed as well as a public relations committee. The function of the latter is to bring the fraternity into contact with the community through blood donations and social work.

Omicron was fortunate to pledge 11 men. A vote of thanks was given to Loren Partridge for the excellent job that the rush committee did under his guidance. Brother Partridge will assist Frank Wimer to begin the never-ending job of rushing for the next term. We hope that by coordination with the Alumni, this extensive rush program can be greatly expanded.

A delegation was sent to the University of Connecticut for Zeta Delta installation ceremonies. The courtesy extended was greatly appreciated and it was a most enjoyable experience that happens very seldom. We hope that this spring the two Chapters can exchange social weekends and thus form a stronger bond of brotherhood.

A new hi-fi system was installed in the house together with a speaker system by Brother Rentschler. The Chapter will furnish records which will make the set complete. This is undoubtedly one of the greatest improvements made on the house in some time by a Brother. The O.T.A. has kindly donated new pictures and they also make a fine addition to the house. We certainly hope that, with intensive work inside the house by pledges, a great deal can be accomplished.—CHARLES E. SHEDD.

Pi House Suffers Fire Damage

O'SHIELDS
Alpha
Northwestern University

FLAMES and smoke swept through our house on Jan. 24, forcing us to stay at another fraternity house until provisions could be made for temporary housing. The fire, damage from which was estimated at $7,500, started in a small study room on the first floor and spread to the second floor hall before firemen were able to extinguish it. Daryl Frazell was awakened at 3 a.m. by the smoke in his second floor room and he aroused all of us. Thick smoke caused a momentary panic in the portions of the house nearest the flames, but the readily-accessible fire escapes emptied the house in minutes. No one was seriously injured, but two were hospitalized. Marshel O'Shields suffered from an overdose of smoke, and Ed Merson had a mild case of shock. The University's Building and Grounds department declared the house unsuitable for occupancy during the rest of winter quarter, and we have moved back only recently.

Despite the handicap, we have not ceased to be active. In February, seven men were initiated: Vernon Reisenleiter, Glendale, Mo.; John Lewis, Winchester, Va.; Daryl Frazell, Omaha, Nebr.; Edgar Merson, Tulsa, Okla.; Richard Castle, Danville; Donald Snowhook, Chicago; and John Williams, Evanston. As pledges, these men scored

Pi's house suffered damage when fire started in a small study in the middle of the night the highest pledge class average on campus.

Early in winter quarter, election of officers was held. Brother O'Shields was elected Alpha; Jack Wardlaw, Beta; Jim Locke, Gamma; Bob Piatak, Delta; Dave Rickson, Epsilon; and Bob Kocheck, Zeta.

Thanks to Social Chairman Phil Guzzetta and his committee, Brothers Merson and Snowhook, we've had a successful casino party, held at the home of Alumnus Bob Snyder, two semi-formals, and a Wild West party. We're looking forward to a beach party and, of course, the spring formal in May at the Tam O'Shanter Country Club in Chicago.

News Notes: The Daily Northwestern is getting to be a Chi Phi enterprise, what with Brother Wardlaw covering varsity baseball and Brothers Piatak and Frazell serving as intramural sports co-editors. The Mock Political Convention, which is being held this month, has Brother Locke on the Honored Guests committee and Bill Orchard on the Credentials committee. Speaking of Brother Orchard, he holds the position of business manager of the University's leading political party, Student Congress, and is also a member of the Little Hoover Commission. We are looking forward to a successful rushing program, under the chairmanship of Brother Guzzetta.—BOB KOCHECK.

Rho Pledges Donate Room

RICHARD MUDGE, Alpha
Lafayette College

RHO CHAPTER commenced "Work Week" with the largest pledge class in its 82-year history. The keynote during "Work Week" was constructive work. The 28 pledges voluntarily submitted plans for the redecoration of one of the campus on April 21. Fraternities and basement game rooms along with a check for $270. This room is to be named the "Pine Room," being completed by the pledges with no supervision by the Brothers and given to the house as a gift from the Class of '59. The Brothers joined the pledges when it was time to work and together they redecored the entire first floor. An overall appraisal of the week shows that almost all work was completed, even to the installation of new recreation equipment in the famous "Rock Room." Informal initiation took place on Friday, with formal initiation on Saturday. This initiation brought the chapter roll up to 40.

As spring nears the Brothers expect to have one of the strongest intramural baseball teams on campus with hopes of bringing the cup back to Chi Phi.—JAMES MASTER.

Sigma Pledges Tie for Honor

JAMES RIGGS, Alpha
University of Illinois

SIGMA welcomes to the brotherhood seven new initiates: Walter Heimerdinger, Michael Simpson, Warren Malone, James Hoffman, James Weatherly, Robert Tolley, and Ned Wheeler, initiated on Feb. 25-26. John J. Roche '37 spoke to the Brothers at the initiation banquet. Other Alumni attending were Charles Studt, Irving Countryman, Paul Armstrong, Sr., and Robert Hoffman. The efforts of the pledges in the Class of '59 put them in 19th place scholastically out of the 58 fraternity pledge classes on campus. Walter Heimerdinger, in Electrical Engineering, and Michael Simpson, in Dairy Technology, tied for the Jim Lee Scholarship award for the highest pledge average, receiving better than "B" average. The Brothers of Sigma are proud of their fall semester scholarship, which brought to the Chapter fourth place in improvement among the fraternities on campus. We ranked 31 among the 58 fraternities.

Congratulations to the new officers: James Riggs, Alpha; Thomas Naughton, Beta; Richard Degener, Gamma; Jack Schuster, Delta; John Riggs, Epsilon; and Neil Barr, Zeta. We also want to thank the retiring officers for the fine job they did.

Mid-year graduation took Dave Mersbach. Dave got his degree in Marketing with a Management major. He goes to the Air Force in June with his 2nd Lieutenant's commission. Dave was on the swimming team for three years and was a football manager until his senior year.

The "Bowery Brawl," Sigma's annual pledge dance, was held on March 9. The pledges were completely in charge and did a fine job on decorations and other preparations. The Spring semester at Illinois brings the Spring Carnival to plans for the redecoration of one of the campus on April 21. Fraternities and sororities pair up to give a show for the benefit of the Campus Chest. Sigma is paired with ΔΣΕ. Sigma is looking forward to a successful IM basketball schedule, with its first five all over six feet.—NEIL BARR.

Tau Places Second in Scholarship

JOHN M. HASSLER, JR.
Alpha

University of Alabama

TAU has welcomed 11 men into the Brotherhood this semester: Bob Dickinson, James Emmons, Jim Gravlee, Bill Holcolm, Ronald Montgomery, Bill Poe, Gordon Pugsley, Jerry Redus, David Sington, Paul Skidmore, and Jack Tra-wick. We were pleased with our spring rush, led by Bob Naumann, pledging: Bill Burt, Joe Driver, Lloyd Furney, Larry Grace, Gary and Jeff Herring, Charles Krout, and John Purdy. We want to thank the Alumni for all that they did to make this rush successful.

The Brothers and pledges have enthusiastically entered into some week-end work around the house that has resulted in some new cement work in the yard, repairs throughout the property, and fresh paint on walls. We remodeled a study room as an experiment in cost and house labor. The resulting new room is well worth the time and effort, and we plan to panel the entire upstairs the same way as we find the time. James Emmons, our new house manager, is such a go-getter that he already is the curse of all the pledges.

We were well rewarded for our scholastic efforts in the fall term, as we were second on campus in scholastic average. Three of our fall pledge class made ΦHΣ their first semester here and one of the Brothers has been tapped for TBII. Pledge Gary Herring made ΣΠΣ and ΠΤΧ.

We started the semester off well with three smokers and two house dances during rush week. After the semester started, we let some of the accumulated steam off at a stag party on Feb. 24. We continued with a dance on March 5 and another on the 11th. The calendar also calls for a costume party on April 7 with our Beaux Arts Ball on May 5. We're looking for all of our Alumni who possibly can drop in and pass judgment on us at Tau Day, April 21. Alumni, remember to keep informing us of the boys coming to Alabama whom you think would bear the name Chi Phi well.—JIM PIERCE.

Phi Makes Improvements

ROBERT THOMAS
Alpha
Amherst College

SINCE Amherst has deferred rushing until second semester, we are now in the midst of what promises to be a successful rushing season. With smokers, open houses, and room groups underway, Co-rushing Chairmen Peter Damon '57 and Bob King '57 are leading the organized effort of the house.

Semester house elections in January included Robert Thomas '56, Alpha; Robert Fay '56, Beta; Will Rodgers '57, Gamma; and Robert King '57, Delta. Also elected are Will Rodgers '57, House Management Committee representative, and Peter Damon '57, Amherst College Automobile Assn. representative. Credit should go to Dave Huer '57, recently elected social chairman, along with Tim Sanders '57 and Bert Tannenbaum '57 for promoting many house improvements. Dave designed and built most of our new bar while Tim and Bert worked along with the Alumni of the Phi Corp. which so generously supplied the wherewithal. The improvements were begun between semesters by several Brothers who stayed at the house to start construction of a new bar room. After stripping the room to bare walls, Tim Sanders '57, Dave Heuer '57, Ned Megargee '58, and Ed Bleser '57 laid a new tile floor and put in a paneled dado of driftwood on the walls. The ceiling of the room was lowered two feet to disguise heating pipes. Joe Derby '58 and Dave Heuer '57 worked several hours building a curved bar faced with beveled plywood. The bar stands on metal legs about eight inches above the floor with a footrail welded on. The top is covered with vinyl plastic. The addition of a stainless steel sink, an impressionistic mural, and indirect lighting makes the room complete. Also remodeled were the recreation room and the women's lounge. The "rec" room was repainted, the built-in booths revarnished and stained blonde. The women's lounge has new wrought iron furniture, a vinyl-covered vanity table, and a new tile floor. A new set of curtains now divide the Jimmy Hamilton room from the formal living room. Dancing is now feasible in the living room with the addition of a 3-speed record changer and many long playing records from the Simonson Fund. The music is also piped into the basement recreation room.

Sportwise, the Phi Chapter has several men in spring training for baseball and crew. Jim Connors '57, Bob Wood '57, Fran Rainey '56, Jim Krumsiek '58, Bob King '57, and Tom Gorman '58 are on the Amherst varsity baseball team. Bob Fay '56, Tim Johnston '56, and Ned Megargee '58 are on varsity crew, Ned as coxswain.

Ed Bleser '57 is manager of intramurals. The basketball team has been successful in winning six games, losing two and the volleyball team has won three games and lost three.

Socially the "Bowery Brawl" was a great success with nearly the whole Amherst campus turning out in addition to visiting Brothers from Omicron, Beta, and Chi.

Although we don't expect to have any awards this year, the Phi average is steadily improving and there is a chance that we may win the college improvement trophy.—VICTOR VINJE DAHL.

Chi Reaches Basketball Finals

STEVEN L. NEWNHAM, Alpha
Dartmouth College

WINTER Carnival was the highlight of the winter social season for the Brothers of Chi. Saturday evening J. C. Higgenbottom entertained everybody from Al Capone to Trigger Burke in our Underworld party. The Dartmouth Indian Chiefs relieved J. C. at 2:00 a.m. to provide music for a "let's rebuild the statue" movement. Grace, our non-Monacoan ice statue, was much the worse for wear at the close of the weekend and Professor Murch believes it was the weakness in structural design that prevented us from winning interfraternity competition. The last minute additions were of no avail.

In the fraternity basketball tournament, Chi has reached the finals. Coach Quan hopes to sharpen up the team before the big match with contests with McQuire's local sharpshooters. Our first five of Bill Balliett, John DiOrio, Swede Nelson, Rus Barry, and Whispers Wardle should fare well. The hockey team, under the direction of Todd Driscoll, is still in hot pursuit of the league title. With the addition of crashing D. Duane and the recent brilliance of Sieve Post, the rooting section should not be disappointed.—DAVID H. DOLBEN.

Omega Plans Refurnishing

EUGENE SCOTT
Alpha

Georgia Institute of Technology

By next fall quarter, Omega Chapter plans to have all of the upstairs rooms completely refurnished. This will be done with the help of our Alumni and also from contributions from the Brothers themselves.

We are planning to initiate 25 to 30 pledges at the beginning of the spring quarter. The pledges are building a storage room on the side of the house. Last quarter they remodeled the upstairs phone booth and put spotlights in front of the house so that it would show up at night.

We have been doing very well in athletics this year. After coming in third in football, we won second place in our league in basketball. We are also doing very well in the current paddle ball contest.

We just got back from a very successful houseparty at Lakemont, Ga.—DON BROWNE.

Alpha-Alpha Tells of Concert

CHUCK HASTINGS
Alpha

University of North Carolina

ALPHA-ALPHA'S 28 pledges recently completed their class project of refinishing all the exterior woodwork of our house. This much-needed restoration of the old, 3-story Colonial house has done a great deal towards helping us regain the distinction of having the most attractive house on campus. One thing, however, is still lacking in our extensive program of renovation. The old shingle roof is showing the signs of many years of service. Unfortunately, we are not in a financial state to bear the expense of a re-roofing. Several Alumni have come to our assistance, and although the amount needed is still great, we are certain that with whatever additional help our other Alumni may be able to offer, this project, too, will soon be completed.

In the interest of promoting better relations between fraternities and the public, Alpha-Alpha sponsored a charity benefit in cooperation with all the other fraternities on campus. On March 26, a pianist, Errol Garner, gave a performance before an audience of 1,600 in Woolen Gymnasium. Each Brother and pledge of every fraternity bought tickets, and the proceeds went to charity.

In the latter part of March, we held our bi-monthly forum with Dr. Boyd, a professor of Religion here at the University, delivering a lecture on the recently discovered Dead Sea scrolls. The forum has become a tradition since its establishment by Rollie Tillman '55. For our speakers in the past, we have had many men prominent in their fields of study, each giving a lecture to an informal gathering of Brothers and their dates here at the house, with a question-and-answer session following.

Judge Rosser and his wife paid us a much enjoyed visit at the end of February. Before dinner, the charming Mrs. Rosser talked over the problems and joys of housemotherhood with our own Mrs. McNair. The Judge gave the Brothers and pledges a thought-provoking speech after dinner, in which he reminded us of the not-too-distant days in the past when Alpha-Alpha barely had its head above water.

The weekend of March 10 saw the long-awaited Roman Toga party which is held every year on the weekend the pledges make their trips to our neighboring Chapters. Brothers and their dates attended decked out in sheets and sandals with wreaths of ivy in their hair. The first signs of spring at The Hill saw the festivities of a Patio Party with the Tri Deltas here at the house. After a good ol' Southern dinner of ham and grits and black-eyed peas, the party adjourned to the Patio for a dance. This party was held in keeping with our custom of entertaining one of the sororities on campus each month.

One of the campus-wide events soon to come about is the University Club Carnival in which each fraternity and sorority enters a booth with a carnival game. Alpha-Alpha has won the trophy for the best booth for the past three years, and will be putting in a bid for the fourth win soon.

Newly initiated is Joseph Warren (Bud) Walker of Charlotte. Pledges eligible for spring initiation are: Randy Abernathy, Frank Inmann, Jim Rattay, Chuck Ross, Jim Purks, Reid Hunter, Albert Goldsmith, Jim Jarrel, Lee Kenan, and Jim Smith.

Congratulations are in order to Michael Brown '54, who recently became a father. Mike is now serving as an observer in the USAF.

Results of elections for officers for the spring term are: Alpha, Chuck Hastings; Beta, Allen Holt; Gamma, Clyde Meares; Delta, Albert Wood; Epsilon, Phillip Malone.—BEN BURBRIDGE.

Alpha-Tau Plans Alumni Weekend

ROGER COMSTOCK
Alpha
University of Michigan

With the guiding principle of maintaining the strength of Chi Phi on the Michigan campus, Alpha-Tau recently initiated 10 new members, and is now in the midst of the mid-year rushing period. Newly initiated were Hamilton Robichaud, Chuck Kuivinen, David Shaub, Bert Hilberger, Dean Case, Dean Savell, Jerry Christman, Ted Kotila, John Mathews, and Jim Freeman. With many recommendations from our Alumni, and a lively interest among the Brothers, this spring rush should provide us with another good pledge class.

Rod Comstock and Ray McCarus are working on the Student Government Council. Pete Groner is active in the marching and symphony bands. Members of the League Coffee Club are Ralph Fear, Bill Heston, Jim McGee, and Don Dilworth. Everyone is getting into full swing preparing for Michigan, which is Michigan's junior-sized Mardi Gras. For one weekend in the spring the campus blossoms with a carnival atmosphere. Features of the weekend are a parade, in which all campus organizations enter original floats, and a 2-day carnival, which is highlighted by entertainment, refreshment, and skill booths manned by the fraternities and sororities. Alpha-Taus will be found as proprietors of a German tavern complete with German band and floorshow. Other activities being planned for the spring are Mother's Weekend, Pledge Formal and an Alumni Weekend. On the Alumni Weekend we are hoping to have quite a number of our Alumni back to spend a weekend and get acquainted with the Brothers of today and renew old friendships.

In the sports field our basketball team is still fighting it out in the playoffs after a win over a strong ΣAE team. Other sports coming up this spring are swimming, tennis, track, and baseball in which we should be strong contenders. In the past semester, our scholarship improved markedly, and, from present indications, it should be even better this spring.—BOB CREAL.

Alpha-Chi Has Project Week

EARL A. SPILLER
Alpha
Ohio Wesleyan University

As a result of Project Week there are many improvements to be noted in the Alpha-Chi house. Two of the recreation rooms in the basement were given new coats of paint and the old house manager's room was converted into a third recreation room. A new house manager's room was started but is not yet complete. The hall on the first floor was given a new coat of paint as was one of the rooms on the second floor. On Sunday morning following Project Week five new men were initiated into the Brotherhood: Paul Moore, Ron Kennedy, Kermit Carlson, Dave Young, and Harrison Rowbotham.

Jim McNew '58 was a member of the Bishop's swimming team that set new school records in the 400-yard free style relay and the 300-yard medley relay. Dick Rebillard '58, Dave Swaile '57, and Bob Scheidemantel '58 figure to hold down positions on the varsity baseball team this spring. Frank Wershing '57 manages the indoor track team and Jack Cummings '57, manager of the swimming team, is going to try for a position on the lacrosse team. Lacrosse is a brand new sport at OWU this year.

The Brotherhood is already making plans for the annual Queen of Hearts contest which will be culminated by the Spring Formal at which the new queen will be crowned.—WILLIAM HOLLAND.

Alpha Delta Rush Goes Well

MICHAEL WEBB
Alpha
Pennsylvania State

THIS past semester Chi Phi jumped

15 places in Interfraternity Scholastic Ratings. However, this standing is not official and is based on the general ratings of the past. The new officers are: Raymond Michael Webb, Alpha; Thomas Lewis Webb, Beta; Lloyd Krull, Gamma; Harold Buery, Delta; Paul Britt, Epsilon; and Philip Steel, Zeta. The new Brothers are John Peifer, Fred Spott, Ernest Young, Marlin Grove, Larry Wright, Frank Farrell, Fred Simpson, Robert Yeatman, Robert Miller, Lee Lewis, and Charles Zoi. We are in the midst of a very successful rushing season with 11 men already wearing the Chakett, and three more months to rush. The men pledged are Richard Katzman, Howard Brosius, Craig Mosback, Lee Farmelo, Dave Johnson, Joseph Hendrickson, George Vince, Cris Hostetter, John Sweeney, and John Bittinger.

The wrestling program looks good for Chi Phi. We have all the men who stole the show last year except Ernest Young, lost to the Varsity Wrestling team. However, we have an addition from the Zeta Chapter in Philip Sieg who will fill the gap left by Ernie. The special program looks good for Alpha Delta this spring with the IFC Ball, and the Senior Ball, both houseparty weekends. We hope to take the Spring Week Contest again this year with the aid of KAΘ.—PHILIP STEEL.

Beta Delta Wins Bowling Trophy

GORDON F. YOUNG, JR., Alpha
University of Washington

ANNUAL elections at Beta Delta were held in January with the result that Gordon Young is now Alpha; Bob Follis, Beta; John Pomeroy, Gamma; Wally Genser, Delta; John Wolf, Epsilon, and John Hallock is Zeta. Living in the house now are 12 men and we list 12 participating town men. Six out of the 24 men are pledges whom we intend to initiate early in spring quarter.

Beta Delta has just won the Intramural Bowling Championship and the trophy really graces our living room. Bowling on the team were Don Daniels, Harlan Olson, Fred Johnson, and Lou Mentor. Our biggest social event of the year at Beta Delta is coming up early in spring quarter—all Chi Phis are already dating up Saturday night, April 21, for our spring formal. Jim Bond has returned to school and the Chapter after a tour of duty in the Air Force and has been very active in the Fraternity. Brother Bond was a member of Beta Delta when it was quartered on 19th N.E. and has been able to give the Chapter some ideas of its traditions.

A complete pledge training program has been set up and is being carried out, introducing the pledges to basic information and tradition of Chi Phi and Beta Delta and indoctrinating them in many of the facets of fraternity life in general as well as social graces.

The April Alumni Banquet is going to be held in the chapter house and we are anticipating a good turnout for the event. I would like to remind all of the Alumni of Beta Delta and other Chi Phis that our address is 4733 17th N. E., Seattle 5, Wash. If any of you know of men planning to attend the University this coming year, send us their names; our goal for the next year is "DOUBLE STRENGTH!" — JOHN HALLOCK.

Gamma Delta Works on Big Plans

RICHARD S. KOBS, Alpha
University of Minnesota

GAMMA DELTA's new officers are: Richard Kobs, Alpha; John Berquam, Beta; Carlton Olson, Gamma; Geryld Krogfus, Delta; James S. Allan, Epsilon; and Kenneth Hodge, Zeta. Generally, we are campaigning to increase membership, obtain more recognition on campus, and to improve organization within the Chapter. To achieve the first of these goals, Rushing Chairman Orion Carlson is drawing on his years of experience to make this the best spring quarter rushing season that the Chapter has seen yet. Although our house is now almost at capacity, we hope to reach our man-for-man objective.

Next, we plan to make the name of Chi Phi as popular on Minnesota's campus as coffee breaks and spring vacation. This is a far-reaching campaign covering everything from word-of-mouth to participation in every campus event that the time and talent of the Brothers will allow. We got started with our Snow Week display, a carousel sculptured from colored snow and ice (three tons of it), that attracted attention from all quarters. This was quickly followed with good participation during IFC-Panhellenic Greek Week. This year we again supported Radio Free Europe through button sales and solicitations from local industries. The Week included a songfest, variety show, discussions on the value of fraternities, a Tunic Twirl, and Olympic games. We were spectacular in the chariot races with our new chariot built by Brother Carlson. We have men active in IFC and other governing bodies. Intramural sports are another of our useful tools for spreading the good name. And going on the premise that a good party leaves a good impression, Chi Phi parties are now bigger and better. Our Valentine party was a huge success and our forthcoming Hawaiian party promises to be the best yet. On May 19, the annual Orchid Formal will be a fitting climax to another successful year under the capable hands of Howard Super, our social chairman.

Speaking of orchids, our Mothers' Club certainly deserves one for the work they are doing on improvements for the house. A new stove and repairs to much of our furniture head their long list.

Again, thanks to the Alumni for their continued strong support and help in rushing. We would like to see more of them around more often.—KENNETH HODGE.

Delta Delta Hits High Standard

GERALD W. PENNER, Alpha
UCLA

DELTA DELTA has had a boon year! A player on the Rose Bowl team, a straight "A" grade average, a prize-winning float, and a top-notch costume party—these are only some of the things that have happened at Delta Delta.

The new Executive Council of Delta Delta is one of the best in the Chapter's history. Led by the Alpha, Gerry Penner, the others are: Beta, Dick Lamoureux, Gamma, Don Killen, Delta, Bill Lawrence, Epsilon, Ted Borock, and Zeta, Ken Lucas. All of these Brothers live at the chapter house and all are sincerely interested in the affairs of the Chapter. Congratulations to the newly initiated Brothers: Bernie Bernacchi, Dick Ewing, Chuck Flickinger, Jim Packer, and Jim Pine. Prospective members for next semester are our present pledges: Jim Penner, John Drott, Al Jungers, John Macksoud, John Opsitnick, and Mike Stoddard. Since we are still engaged in rushing, we expect to add several more men to this spirited core.

Last semester featured several exchanges, a New Year's Party (in the true spirit of New Year's), a costumed end-of-semester celebration on a Roman theme (the finest costume party ever staged at Delta Delta), and a number of smaller parties. We're now preparing for a Pajama Party. However, the social life has not dimmed our eyes to the real purpose of school. Not a single Brother fell below the school average in scholarship. Roc Walley deserves a big handshake for his straight "A" average. Likewise, Don Killen and Jim Packer for their "A-" grades.

Sandwiched in between studies and social life are a number of activities in which many of the Brothers have been able to participate. For example: Gerry Penner lettered in football and played in the 1956 Rose Bowl Game; Bill Woodruff is photographer for the school paper and annual; Ted Borock is Fund-Raising chairman for the Varsity Club; John Macksoud is a member of the debating team; Jim Packer has been writing very witty stories for the Student Body periodical; and Dick Lamoureux is an officer of the Chemistry Society.

Besides these individual activities, the Chapter has entered all school functions, such as Homecoming, Blood Drive,

Greek Week, etc. During Homecoming festivities, Delta Delta, led by Don Killen, placed third in house decorations, second in the skits, sponsored a beauty contest to pick a Princess for the float (which, incidentally, won first prize in the fraternity division), and had a great "Davy Jones" Party. Delta Delta also has retired the Blood Drive Trophy after winning it three semesters in a row (Egged on by the constant hemorrhaging of Ted Borock). Ken Lucas saw to it that Greek Week had a good representation of Chi Phis. Members attended the banquet, took part in the officers' meetings, danced at the Greek Dance, and enjoyed dinner exchanges with six of the leading sororities, to say nothing of panting and puffing their way through the chariot races. Around Christmas time the 25 sororities and women's dorms were surprised by Chi Phi Christmas caroling. This was a great deal of fun and was soon copied by other men's organizations. This semester Jim Pine is planning a Chi Phi Rat Race as Delta Delta's entry in the Mardi Gras, UCLA's annual charity drive; and Don Killen is choosing music for a Chi Phi quartet for the UCLA Spring Sing.

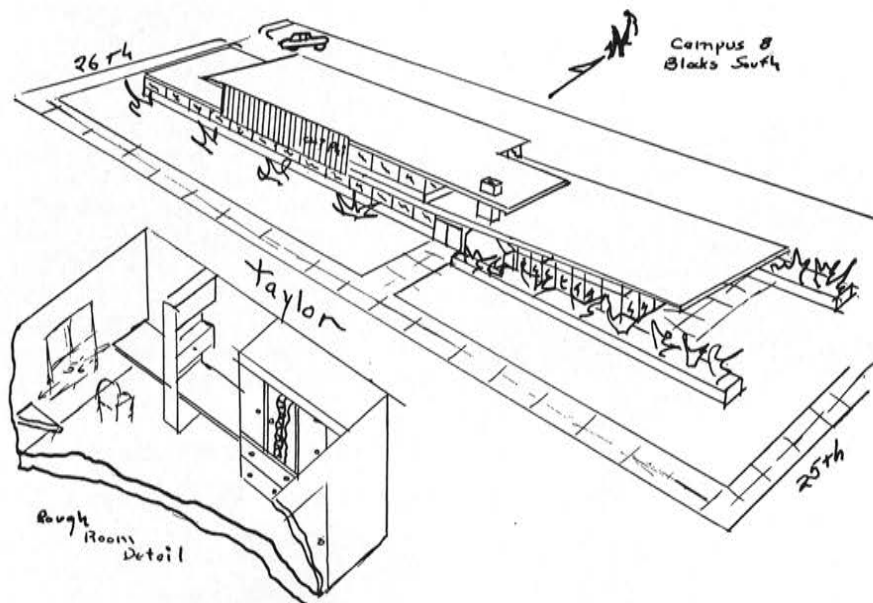

Home from the armed services just in time to enter into the whirlwind life at Delta Delta are Rich Ryder and LeRoy Stegmiller. While we are welcoming, it might be well to welcome into the limelight the dark horse of intramural basketball! This year's Delta Delta team crashed into the intramural scene with a resounding 69-12 win in its first game and a 58-46 triumph in its second to become a power in the race for the championship.—KEN LUCAS.

Epsilon Delta Sets Pledge Goal of 30

DAVID KIRKLAND
Alpha
Oregon State College

EPSILON DELTA is planning to have a banquet in May to talk over the plans for the new chapter house which is going to be built this summer. The Alumni Assn. is in the process of having the final plans for the house drawn up. The house will have a maximum capacity of 68 men and will be built along modern lines. The Chapter started out the year with 18 men living in; and, at the end of winter term, we have 23 living in. During winter term we have pledged four men who will move in in spring term. The goal set for spring term is 30 new pledges; and, with the new house as an inspiration, this is not a large number.

Epsilon Delta hopes to build this house soon. It is 194' x 38' and will cost about $100,000. Its 17 rooms will accommodate 68 men

The term dance was very enjoyable. The theme of the dance was "Hawaiian Holiday," and, during the dance, some of the Hawaiian women students entertained us by singing hula songs in English while they pantomimed the words with hula dances.

The main gas plant in Portland burned down, and the repairs will take a week to finish. In the meantime, we have no hot water nor use of the gas range. Fortunately, we do have oil heat and two gasoline stoves for cooking.

Zeta Delta Busy In Activities

JOHN TAILOR, Alpha
University of Connecticut

SINCE this is our first newsletter, I thought it would be a good idea to let you all know what we are doing and what we have been doing here at Connecticut.

The officers are John Taylor, Alpha; Jim Lyons, Beta; Lou Gallerani, Gamma; Bob Baisden, Delta; Jack Koons, Epsilon; and Dick Darling, Zeta. Pledging went along fine this past semester and we will initiate 12 pledges on March 2. This will up our active membership to 60 men.

Our social activities will get into full swing in a few weeks. This semester we will have "coffees" with KAΘ, KKT, AΔII, ΔZ, and IIBΦ. Bob Withington and his social committee are doing a great job as usual on these socials. In intramural sports our football team last fall had a record of seven wins and two losses. We lost our league title to ΔXA, 8-6. The basketball team now has a record of 7-1, so they will have a sure berth in the Campus Invitational Tournament, and they are also currently leading their league.

In varsity sports, Bob Baisden is a catcher on the baseball team; Bruce Richardson played football; and Ron Stephens plays on the varsity soccer team starting as a forward.

The Greek Sing is coming up in a few months so we are starting in thinking about that now. We are out to defend our title so we will have to be good. The intramural debate is coming up the first week of March so the boys are doing research on that. If we win the title this time, we keep the trophy for good. We have won it twice so far and a win this time would clinch it. Since we feel that outside activities are important to a fraternity, we have many boys on the outside. Just to mention a few, Bill Ratchford is editor-in-chief of the Daily Campus, our school newspaper. Merritt O'Brien is the head of the Student Senate. Jim Lyons is head of the Mock Legislature. Bob Sokel and Steve Jones are moving up on the newspaper staff so we will be well represented. Joe Fontana heads the Young Republicans' Club, and Val Buonaiuto was head of the Diamond Jubilee Committee last year.

We would like to thank, again, the Brothers of Phi, Mu, and Beta Chapters for helping out with the initiations the last three months. It sure was a great help to us all.

The Brothers of Zeta Delta Chapter elected Grand Alpha Carl Gladfelter to be a charter member of the Chapter. We are also very fortunate to have him as our Faculty Adviser. We already have one alumnus, Tony Dalessio, who lives in Danbury, Conn. He graduated last February.

Jim Lyons, Zeta Delta's Beta, right, received the debate trophy following the Chapter's third win in the annual contest. The trophy is a permanent possession.

We have been above the All-Men's average in marks for the last three years, and Dave Ives, our scholastic chairman, is doing a good job seeing that we keep up with the University's standards.

The preliminary arrangements have been taken care of so we will be getting a new lounge in a few months. It will probably get here in the summertime.

The Brothers are all very sorry about the loss of our chef's wife, Bert Browning. She was a great person and the boys were all fond of her. We shall all miss her greatly.

As a final note I'd like to say that the Brothers are very happy to be a part of such a great Fraternity, and we are looking forward to many prosperous years as a chapter of Chi Phi.—DICK DARLING.

Eta Delta Hopes To Build

GEOFFREY ENGLAND, Alpha
University of Southern California

ETA DELTA has just initiated six men and elected its officers for the spring semester: Daniel Richard Gannon, III, John Gray, Bob Hokom, Larry Niles, Charles Phillips and Mike Teilacker. Geoffrey England is again Alpha, while Ken Van Rohr, Bill Dildine, Phil Salisbury, and Bob Hokom fill the offices of Beta, Gamma, Delta, and Epsilon, respectively.

The Chapter was greatly encouraged by the visit last December of the National Director and his wife, Judge and Mrs. L. Z. Rosser. Fortunately he was able to see the unique house Christmas decorations. The outstanding social event of the past semester was the annual Winter Formal held in Malibu at the Holiday House.

Dennis Fagerhault '58 was elected as president of the Squires, the sophomore service organization on the SC campus. Phil Phillips and Ken Van Rohr were elected to membership in the organization. Bob Lawson (decathlon and hurdles), Ray Martin (shot put), and Dick Bronson (shot put) are all looking forward to scoring points for SC in the NCAA Track Finals this year. They also have hopes of making the USA Olympic squad.

The Mothers' Club held a rummage sale and cleared about $180 which will be used to buy new dining room chairs. We also redecorated the living room. A small fire necessitated this. We are still hopeful of building a new house sometime in the near future.

Rushing for this semester is about finished, and although we have pledged only three men, we have not fallen behind because there was a limited number of rushees.—BOB HOKOM.

Theta Delta Has Annual Weekend

HARRY ROULSTONE
Alpha

University of Florida

THETA DELTA held its second annual Chi Phi Weekend on March 2-3—a change in date from that announced in the last issue because of a conflict with campus activities. The Weekend came into being last year in celebration of the Chapter's 20th anniversary, so this year the theme was "Coming of Age." A formal banquet and dance were held at the house on Friday night. A picnic highlighted Saturday afternoon and the "Coming of Age" Party with a Negro combo was held that evening at the house.

"Snick" Ogden has added another chore to his already long string of activities by being named chairman of the Florida Blue Key, leadership fraternity, Speakers' Bureau. He is recruiting campus leaders to spread the word of the University's services and activities to high schools and civic groups of the state and plans to make more wide use of radio and television in doing the job than in the past. Brother Ogden, completing work on a master's degree in speech, is treasurer of Florida Blue Key, business manager of Florida Players, secretary-treasurer of Flavet II, secretary-treasurer of the Florida Chi Phi Assn., and manager of the chapter dining room. We also point with pride to Bruce Robertson, secretary of Religious Affairs in Student Government, who has been elected to a niche in the Seminole Hall of Fame. Gene Parets, Under-Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, was chairman of Pan-American Week; Bob Kairalla was chairman of the campus Red Cross Drive; and largely due to the efforts of Henry Oppenborn, Executive Council member, a new political party has been launched on campus.

In intramurals Theta Delta got the spring semester off to a fine start by winning the shuffleboard trophy. As this report goes to press, we have won the first two games in basketball, putting us in third place in the league. Last semester saw us runners-up in touch football, and swimming, and semi-finalists in table tennis and horseshoes. George Davies won the interfraternity diving championship.

Initiated on Feb. 19 were Stanley Lang, Coral Gables; Elliot Christian, Tampa; Vernon Syverson, Winter Park; and John Smith, Rockford, Ill. Affiliating this semester was Jack Blackburn of the former Chapter at Duke who is working toward a Ph.D. in economics. Julius Collins, Tony Papalas, and Glenn Sellers have returned to school after tours in the service. New pledges from second semester rushing are Pat Cain and Holland Coulter, Dade City; Jim Carlow, Montverde; Mike Green, Gainesville; John Price, Sebring; and Bill Sutton, Sarasota.—BILL SEEPE.
