The CHI PHI CHALKETT

Let's talk it over

OUR apologies and congratulations to Brother Congressman Vernon W. Thomson, Kappa '27, (That's his picture on the opposite page).

Our Washington informant failed to alert us to his recent victory in Wisconsin, thereby causing William F. Kachel, Jr., Kappa '33, to write, "On Page 6 of the February CHAKETT you mention three Chi Phis who were returned to Congress, but made no mention of Brother Vernon W. Thomson.

. . . How about giving Vern a little boast in the next CHAKETT. The Chi Phis of Wisconsin have worked on his campaigns and he is known around the state as an outstanding 'story teller.' We hope to keep Vern in Washington for many years." Probably by now our four Republican Congressmen have formed a Chi Phi club of their own.

The Council's mid-academic year meeting was held in Chicago on Washington's birthday. It was held in the Middle West to broaden the scope of interest and to gain the benefit of alumni members' counsel.

In addition to the regular members of the Council, the following Representatives-at-Large attended: Richard Reade, Alpha-Tau '33, Plymouth, Michigan; John Porter, Kappa '39, Madison, Wisconsin; Rudolph Schlosser, Pi '52, Glenview, Illinois. Among the Chicago area alumni participating in the all-day meeting were: Charles Kallevang, Alpha-Chi '41; Philip Guzzetta, Pi '57; David Duerwachter, Sigma '52; and David S. Clark, Mu '48, all officers of the Chi Phi Club of Chicago; David W. Fairfield, Sigma '28, Walter Sorg, Theta '47, Paul Fulton, Sigma '28, and Joel W. Russel, Alpha, and Gordon Smith, past Alpha, of Pi Chapter.

The National Director reported that alumni dues contributions were running behind last year and that contributions to the Chi Phi Educational Trust were running ahead for the same period. The report on pledges and initiations indicated that initiations for the year were running slightly ahead of last year, whereas pledgings were running slightly behind.

In reporting on expansion, the Director indicated the establishment of the Colony at the University of Arizona would probably not take place until February, 1962, rather than September, 1961, as previously announced. The University requested the change in entry time. Plans for establishing colonies at Florida State University, University of The South, Michigan State University, Southern Illinois University, Auburn University, and the University of Cincinnati were discussed, and the Director was encouraged to continue negotiations with the schools. Recently the Grand Gamma, the Grand Epsilon and the Grand Alpha, respectively, visited Michigan State University, the University of Cincinnati and Florida State University in connection with the expansion efforts.

David Clark, General Chairman of the 1961 Chicago Congress, gave a report on the arrangements for Congress (the details on Congress are reported in a separate article).

The Council voted to recommend to the 1961 Congress the adoption of the following changes in the Constitution:

1. The suspension of a chapter's right to initiate under the following circumstances:
 - a. When in arrears for pledge fees on men to be initiated.
 - b. When in arrears for prior initiation fees.
 - c. When in arrears for any official jewelry.
2. Suspension of member's CHAKETT subscription, if requested by the chapter, when reported in arrears to the chapter in excess of $25.00 at the time of graduation or departure from school. The subscription to be reinstated upon removal of the indebtedness.

The purpose of these amendments is to give the Council and the National Director greater authority over chapters in arrears for pledge and initiation fees, and to assist chapters in the collection of outstanding accounts receivable.

It was the consensus of opinion that the Council meeting had been a success and that a similar meeting should be held next year, probably on the East Coast.

The Chi Phi Club of Chicago held a dinner meeting following the Council Meeting on the evening of February 22 at the Pi Chapter house. The meeting was well attended by Chicago area alumni. Among those appearing on the program were Grand Alpha John E. Oliver, and Charles Kallevang, president of the Chi Phi Club of Chicago.

The Chi Phi Club of Cincinnati held a dinner meeting at the Green Hills Country Club on February 16. Robert Wick, Iota '51, secretary, reports; "Bernard Brockhage, Iota '54, president of the Chi Phi Club of Cincinnati presided and introduced James Russ, Alpha of Iota Delta (Indiana University); James McVicker, Alpha of Alpha-Chi (Ohio Wesleyan University); and Ernest Jones, Alpha of Iota (Ohio State University). Each of these men gave an individual report on chapter activities and future plans. William Jeckell, Iota '34, gave a progress report on the University of Cincinnati colonizing effort. The National Director gave a report on the national picture and urged alumni support, not only through alumni dues but through individual and group rushing effort."

All alumni brothers are urged to send to either the chapter or the Council the names of any men who will be attending schools at which chapters are located. In addition to supplying the necessary information on the blank furnished on the back cover of this issue, make a personal effort to discuss the value of belonging to a fraternity, and to Chi Phi in particular, with the rushee as well as with his parents. “LOOKING forward to the solution of the many problems besetting the world today, I think we can see on all sides the need for truly great intuitive ideas . . . ideas which bring together opposing groups in such a way that each group retains its good qualities and yet makes it possible for both to work together. Such ideas do not come from our earthly intellect or from scientific study or from research. They come from the same source which inspired the prophets in Biblical days—and all the great composers, writers, and other artists. And this was the source which gave inspiration to the American Indians and other primitive peoples.

Sylvester M. Morey, Dartmouth '18 and those with skills in the other graphic arts and crafts such as printing, and the dramatic arts that go into radio and television.

He himself got into advertising simply because, he says, Printers' Ink magazine made it seem so interesting and challenging. This was after graduation from Dartmouth with a B.S. degree. His college years were interrupted when he enlisted in the Navy in 1917, serving with the U.S. Mine Force in the North Sea and subsequently on the U.S.S. "Florida," with the English Grand Fleet. After Dartmouth and the Navy, he went to work for the Pennsylvania Chocolate Co. in Pittsburgh.

Sylvester Marvin Morey, Executive & Artist

These peoples were open to inspiration—to the thoughts of the Gods, the fountainhead of truly intuitive ideas . . . ”

This is Sylvester Marvin Morey, Chi '18, speaking in a recent address at the Waldorf School of Adelphi College, Garden City, N. Y., on the influences of the American Indian on our way of life from the first colonists on. The lecture was part of a series on New Ideas for Our Times, under the auspices of the Myrin Institute for Adult Education which he helped to found.

Brother Morey is not an educator in the formal sense, nor an historian. He is an advertising man, and is presently chairman of the board of Geyer, Morey, Madden & Ballard, Inc., one of the large national advertising agencies.

Yet a very active business life in a demanding field whose creative pressures never let up has not precluded a very active extracurricular life with strong, participating interests in education and art—he is a "Sunday painter" himself, whose oils have been exhibited and sold.

Brother Morey has long been a supporter of the world-wide Waldorf School movement because of his admiration for the educational philosophies of Rudolf Steiner, and was for years a director of the Rudolf Steiner School in New York City. He is now on the board of the Waldorf School of Adelphi College and also the Rudolf Steiner Foundation and the Waldorf Educational Foundation. Still not contributing enough to suit himself, he continues as an active officer of the Myrin Institute at Adelphi College. The Institute believes that the most essential need of our time is reconciling the modern scientific attitude toward life and the spiritual or religious view.

He also finds time to belong to several organizations serving the advertising business which he has found so rewarding over the years—probably because it gives him so many outlets for his own diversified interests and inquiring mind.

Indeed, Brother Morey feels that the many facets of advertising are not as recognized as they should be. Too many young people who come to him—or who shy away from a career in advertising—have an idea that advertising is writing or that writing is the principal talent required in the business. Yet, as he points out, advertising offers brilliant careers for people with many other kinds of talents—for management, marketing, research, financial operations, not to mention the artist

Printer's Ink ended his career in the chocolate factory. He moved into advertising, first on the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph and next with the advertising agency, George L. Dyer Co., in New York, starting out in research and later becoming a copywriter. In 1923 he married Minetta E. Meyer. A year later, he joined the Blackman Co. for four years and then moved to Gardner Advertising Co.

Then came the opportunity to become advertising manager of the Sinclair Refining Co., the beginning of a long and happy association which continues today—Sinclair is a major client of Geyer, Morey, Madden & Ballard. Brother Morey has seen Sinclair double and almost re-double in size to become very important in the national economy, yet as close to the individual American as the gasoline in his car and the heating of his house.

In 1941, Brother Morey became president of a new advertising agency in New York. Under his direction, the agency developed a substantial group of advertising accounts including Sinclair Refining Co. and institutional advertising for Sinclair Oil Corp. The latter included a unique and award-winning series of conservation advertisements, calling attention to our National Parks and historic shrines, for which Sinclair has been widely acclaimed. Brother Morey had much to do with introducing the Dinosaur into Sinclair advertising and he was responsible for developing the Sinclair Dinosaur exhibits in the Chicago and Dallas World's Fairs, back in the '30s.

The agency, which by 1959 had become Morey, Humm & Warwick, merged with Geyer Advertising, Inc., one of the oldest and most stable of advertising agencies, to form Geyer, Morey, Madden & Ballard, Inc. Brother Morey was elected chairman of the board of directors of the new firm, billing over $30 millions. Associated with him in this enterprise are B. B. (Pat) Geyer, long a leader in the advertising agency field, and Sam M. Ballard, a brilliant former newspaper editor and writer who is president of Geyer, Morey, Madden & Ballard.

This was a merger of strength. The resulting organization has continued to grow, with headquarters in New York and offices spanning the country—Detroit; Dayton, Ohio; Chicago; Omaha, Neb.; Los Angeles and Portland, Ore.

The agency serves the advertising requirements of a wide range of national and international clients offering a great wealth of products and services. Some have been on the roster of clients for many years, as Kelvinator major appliances and the automotive division of what is now American Motors Corp., whose Rambler, the pioneer compact car, has brought about a major revolution in the automobile industry.

Perhaps as a consequence of all this, Brother Morey has had to give up one outside interest, regular golf. He and his wife, who happens to be a first-rate painter herself, live in New York at 41 Park Ave., but he was born in a small town, Greenwich, N. Y., and is equally "at home" on his farm in Great Barrington, Mass., which gives the family a restful hideaway when they can find the time. There Brother Morey catches up on his reading in American and European history, always, since high school days, an absorbing interest.

Their son, Clayton Phelps Morey, is an architect, practicing in New York. He, too, is a talented artist.

Looking ahead from his vantage point of past and present in advertising, Brother Morey sees not only continuing growth of advertising, but also an ever greater responsibility resting on people and media in the business to help buttress and expand a prosperous economy.

As populations "explode," as production expands, as communication broadens, and standards of living improve on an increasingly global scale, the need to bring seller and buyer together becomes correspondingly greater. Thus advertising, as an essential sales tool for most products and services, must fulfill to the utmost its dual rôle of informing and attracting the buyers to the market place.

Friess Wins 1961 Viking Scholarship

THE men of Kappa Chapter were recently very pleased to learn that one of their most popular brothers, Foster Friess, had outrun a stiff field of competition to win the 1961 Viking Scholarship, and that another brother had come in second.

The scholarship is open to all sophomores and juniors at Wisconsin. It is sponsored by the many men who for the last few years have come over here from Europe to study for a year under the Brittingham Scholarship Program. It is given as a token of gratitude by these Vikings to a worthy American. The scholarship provides for a summer's study at the University of Oslo, with room and board provided by the many Vikings living near Oslo.

Foster, a junior gunning for law school, is no newcomer to victory. Besides being an excellent hurdler on the track team, he has served as vice president of the dormitory association, and is currently treasurer of Kappa as well of the Interfraternity Council. He was a distinguished military student last year as a sophomore in the Army ROTC, and seems headed for the same position this year.—JOHN S. CLARKE, Zeta.

A FOREIGNER'S VIEW of the Fraternity System

by Claus Sonberg, Jr., Kappa '60

I HAD the excellent opportunity to be a Chi Phi from fall semester 1959 to the summer of 1960. Receiving the Brittingham Viking scholarship to the University of Wisconsin, I was, according to the scholarship, to select a fraternity and to live in it for two semesters. I chose the Kappa Chapter of Chi Phi after a week of bewildering rushing. Being a foreigner, unaccustomed to the system of fraternities, to the idea behind them, to the brotherhood and what the different chapters on the campus were famous for, I had to base my choice upon the one and ultimate impression I got, the impression of the people in the house, an impression which later came to be called brotherhood and which I know served as a great help to me.

I admit that I had dubious experiences in the beginning, naturally. I admit that I, after a couple of weeks of adjustment to the life, came to think of the system as the best thing invented by Americans (next to jazz and coke as we say over here!). I do also admit that I, after two semesters in Chi Phi and some time at home, gave the system more thought and came to several results I never had achieved earlier. This was, of course, due to a whole year spent there, going through the routine as well as fun of a fraternity and now I could look back on it and make up my mind about it. I experienced myself as the participant of a real "hell week," but I also saw the "hell week" from the other side of the fence, from another angle, being chairman of it the following semester, though this time under the rules of an Active Training Creed prohibiting us from doing the usual physical and mental hazing, fortunately I say. I had the opportunity of being helped and to help myself, the chance of participating in the good and bad parts of a fraternity man's real life. I did appreciate all this, and it bore some fruits, extracts of which will be given below. True, I had to found my conclusions upon one chapter, but knowing several other fraternities, too, I dare to put all this forth as a view of the general fraternity system. My thoughts are also going to ramble off without being properly coördinated, so forgive me for that.

Brotherhood is the cornerstone of a fraternity, thus it should, in my opinion, be given closer thought than at present. Brotherhood came easily to be a phrase, a cliché with no actual meaning and value. Brotherhood is a game of give and take. Without this it is useless and meaningless. It seemed to me several times that brotherhood came to mean complete acceptance of every brother, and this can be very dangerous. Maybe I, as a foreigner, have a far more realistic view on this, but it amazed me to see that there was no question about anybody as soon as he became a brother.

A fraternity is also an educational institution, and this should definitely not be forgotten, and brotherhood should, in this concept, imply the will and desire to guide and help each other even more than it does now, not just by accepting any brother and let it be with that. This might be misunderstood by several, but my idea is that brotherhood should not be decisive in its wordly meaning, but should imply interest, desire to help, and foremost selectiveness. I do even urge some small amount of intolerance in order to select the right men for the Chapter. It is no lie that each Chapter will seek more or less the same kind of human types as the Chapter has at present when they rush, but sometimes I had the feeling that prestige played an even more important part in the selection than the proper qualities of each person. Thus, a good sportsman could be favored to a man of stable and normal character but with the right approach to mankind and to the proper meaning of brotherhood. Brotherhood did also, for some people, include the allowance to use other people's ideas, opinions and suggestions, instead of being selective and make up their own minds. If and because brotherhood is the cornerstone of the fraternity system, we should all practice brotherhood more and make it a goal we have to struggle to achieve, not a goal that is gained as soon as initiation is over. We should practice it by working together, with each other, for each other and foremost on ourselves. Then we may talk about brotherhood as something sacred and valuable, a virtue we all want to have. Brotherhood means respect, both self respect and respect for others, respect for their ideas as well as character, but it does not mean to stagnate. There is still time for increased work on mankind among us human beings.

Upon closing, I want to express my most sincere gratitude for having been able to be "one" in this system, to be a brother and to follow the fraternity system as closely as possible. I do stand for the idea of fraternities and the system will remain actual, now and forever, because man will never cease to want closer contact with each other, and today in our present world of uncertainties, we do all have a steady wish for brotherhood, togetherness, and friendship and to close the gap between people of all races from all parts of the world.

Report on the Olympics

by Larry Snyder, Iota '20
in Ohio State Monthly

SINCE returning from the Olympic games in Rome this past summer, I've heard a lot of folks bemoaning the fact that the United States lost the Olympics.

If you go by the unofficial score tabulated on the various events, then we did "lose." On the other hand, consider these facts:

The United States received a total of 57 gold medals—including team awards, while the Soviet Union received 43. In track alone, the United States had four grand slams—taking first, second and third places. (And if my memory serves me correctly, no other nation has gained more than one grand slam in any Olympics.)

Furthermore, 44 nations won at least one medal—about a hundred per cent increase since the last Olympic games. That means the caliber of international athletics has improved greatly.

I felt quite proud of the track and field men who formed the United States team. They performed under difficulties that few Americans appreciate.

Our athletes, you see, peak their training for June and early July, when the majority of track and field events are held in this country. Then our Olympic entrants had to attempt to re-peak their physical condition for the games in late August and early September.

But the European athletes normally carry out their training so they will reach their peak in late August and early September when track and field championships are held on the Continent. Their conditioning for the Olympics was less an effort than was the conditioning undertaken by American athletes.

Some of our disappointments in track and field events were not fully explained at the time of the games.

Hal Connally, of course, broke the world's record in the hammer throw during our workouts in early August. Then he failed to get into the Olympic finals. Few people who criticized American athletes and coaching realized that Connally insisted upon changing his form to Russian style after he arrived at the Olympics. That last-minute change of form, in my opinion, cost him a gold medal.

High-jumper John Thomas was hounded day and night by writers, broadcasters and photographers. The pressure placed on him was terrific. Even the privacy of his room was invaded by members of the press who would walk in and wait for him to return from a meal or try-out. (Several of the team members went away from the Olympic village to find a place where they could sleep undisturbed.)

Thomas had to jump into sand, rather than sawdust. Since he completes his jump by rolling over on his back, you can imagine the effect of continued practice in a sand pit rather than his accustomed sawdust. Olympic officials finally acceded to our protests and put a thin layer of sawdust over the sand, but it was less than adequate for our style of training and jumping.

Glenn Davis was his usual superb self. He broke stride in the hurdles twice but then regained his stride and put on a burst of speed that enabled him to win first place. It was a magnificent effort and a wonderful example of championship caliber.

In one race, the 100 M, Dave Sime, the American runner, actually had his foot across the finish line, while the German runner, Hary, was a half stride behind, but the German bent forward and broke the tape with his head and won the race. Sime later said he had lost sight of the tape and was still running upright. I mention this not to cast doubt on the validity of the German's victory, but to show that the difference between the two was not as great as a first and second place would normally indicate.

We found the Russian athletes to be extremely friendly and eager to learn. They came to all our practice sessions in an effort to watch our style and to learn our techniques. Their intensity, their desire to improve themselves, their willingness to admit their own shortcomings, was surprising and impressive. It's evident that all their athletes are willing to make a supreme effort to win.

I think the large number of countries winning gold medals reflects the fine efforts of our State Department to share athletic knowledge with other

Ohio State's longtime track coach, Larry Snyder, served as head coach for the U. S. Olympic team last summer. Larry served in World War I as a flyer. Following his discharge, he barnstormed the country giving stunt flying exhibitions. He entered Ohio State in 1922 and was graduated in 1925. He immediately joined the coaching staff. He has coached such world champions as Jesse Owens, George Simpson, and Mal Whitfield. nations. Our own Jesse Owens, Swimming Coach Mike Peppe, Basketball Coach Fred Taylor, Baseball Coach Marty Karow, and I have been among the U. S. coaches sent overseas to put on clinics and demonstrate athletic techniques. We have made things harder for ourselves in the Olympics by sharing our know-how, but we feel the world of athletics has been bettered.

One approach that I feel would improve the Olympic games would be to institute a rule that athletes can compete only in one Olympics. Now, there is no rule limiting appearances and any athlete who qualifies may compete any number of times. I think it would improve the overall performance if each competitor could compete just once. In my opinion, that would equalize the athletes from all countries and put the entire burden upon the physical condition of each entrant. And many more would have an opportunity to compete in Olympic games.

Now, you see, there are entrants from countries where athletes are subsidized and permitted to train exclusively for events, while other countries send entrants who have competed in previous Olympics, have dropped training for a while and then pick it up in an intensified effort to get back into condition. A rule of competing just once would catch all athletes at their prime and would be a fairer indication of the athletic prowess of each participating nation.

Glendon Swarthout, Michigan '39, believes that fraternity bigness is bad

"Where the Boys Are" is Chi Phi Brainchild

TWO cars, a Mercedes and a Volkswagen, are parked in a driveway, leading to a house on the side of a mountain five miles out of Scottsdale, Ariz. They belong to Glendon Swarthout, Alpha-Tau '39, novelist, scenarist, and teacher. Glen graduated from the University of Michigan. He taught at Michigan State University prior to moving to Scottsdale to write. Presently he is teaching a 3-hour lit course at Arizona State "as a hobby and to get out of the house." He also "gets out of the house" and on location when movies are made of his novels. "They Came to Cordura" was made in Utah and Glen watched Gary Cooper, Rita Hayworth, Van Heflin, and Tab Hunter perform in his story of the United States cavalry on the border in 1916. Random House had published the book not many months before the filming by Columbia.

Where the Boys Are was scarcely off Random House's presses when the song and the picture became popular. MGM cast George Hamilton, Dolores Hart, Connie Francis, and Barbara Nichols in it.

Autographed copies of They Came to Cordura and Where the Boys Are are in the Chi Phi Archives.

The first movie which Glen authored was "7th Cavalry," another Columbia production, starring Randolph Scott and Barbara Hale. His first book was Willow Run (Crowell), published in 1943. In 1947 he turned playwright and wrote "O'Daniel" with John Savacool which the Theatre Guild produced.

His short stories have appeared in Cosmopolitan, Collier's, New World Writing, Esquire, and Saturday Evening Post.

Miles, a freshman at Scottsdale High School, Kathryn, Michigan Alpha Phi wife, and a cat of doubtful background, are other occupants of that mountain house.

"One of the best things about Chi Phi," commented Brother Swarthout, "was it was small, not inclined to burgeon, which is the trouble with much of the world. THINK SMALL, my motto."

Jaques worked a couple of years for a lumber company and then started his savings and loan career with the Benefit Savings and Loan Assn. He was manager of the United States Savings and Loan Assn. when he organized the Portland Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Portland Federal opened for business on Sept. 21, 1934, in an upstairs office in the Henry Building. It had one other employee, Jane Dickson (now Mrs. Albert Heikkila), who is secretary of the association.

A hard-working community servant, Guy E. Jaques assisted in proper planning and zoning of Portland while serving as a member of the City Planning Commission from 1933-43. He was elected a member of the Board of School District Number One and served in that capacity for four years. A long-time interest in the religious life of his community led him to the presidency

Jaques Builds Portland Office Building

RESIDENTS of Portland, Ore., will find the face of one corner in their city changed considerably when the new "Portland Building," to be built by the Portland Federal Savings on the northeast corner of S.W. 5th and Washington, is completed. Guy E. Jaques, Beta Delta '24, is president of the company.

Glass and aluminum will be used for the tower which is to be set back to accommodate a plaza. The 6-story office building will be joined to the plaza by a transparent screen of glass. The central feature in the plaza will be a fountain washing a piece of sculpture above a reflecting pool. Construction will start in the fall and occupancy is expected about the middle of 1963.

The building will occupy the site of one of Portland's landmarks—the Perkins Hotel, built in 1891 by Richard S. Perkins, an Englishman who made money in the cattle business. The sculptured wooden steer which was atop the hotel, a gathering place for cattlemen throughout the Northwest, will be incorporated in the decor of the new building.

A distinguished and devoted leader of the savings and loan business in Oregon for the past 33 years Brother Jaques is a founder of Portland Federal Savings and Loan Assn.

Portland Federal's steady, consistent growth—from assets of $13,129 in of the Portland Council of Churches and, as an active member of First Methodist Church, he served as chairman of the building committee when the new church buildings were recently erected at S.W. 18th and Jefferson Sts.

A prominent civic leader, Brother Jaques holds membership in the Chamber of Commerce, City Club, Royal Rosarians, YMCA, Rotary and University Club. He is also a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, national business honorary, and Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary.

At the local level he has been an advocate of the American Savings and Loan Institute having served as president of Portland Chapter No. 37 in 1931 and is a holder of a 5-year or standard certificate for attendance in the Institute's educational program. In 1938 he was president of the Oregon Savings and Loan League.

He is presently an appointee to the legislative committee of the United States Savings and Loan League and is a past member of the executive committee of the League. He has served as a director of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Portland and as a member of the board of directors of the Federal Home Loan Bank, San Francisco, for several terms following the merger of the Portland and Los Angeles Federal Home Loan Banks. He was also a member of the Savings and Loan Advisory Council.

A son, Guy E. Jaques, Jr., vice president of Portland Federal, daughter-in-law, Anna, and three small grandchildren comprise the Jaques' immediate family tree.

In 1950 Brother Jaques and his wife, Evalyn, built a new home on a 2½ acre tract fronting on the Willamette River, south of Oswego. Here a busy manager finds time for hobbies of gardening and sun-worshipping (when Oregon skies permit). Friends and associates attest that his ever-youthful, bronze complexion is a much-envied reward for his leisure time being wisely spent.

Gow Heads Abrasive Company

AT 57, Aalph F. Gow, Beta '25, became the seventh president of the Norton Co., Worcester, Mass., the world's largest abrasive manufacturer, operating 25 plants in the United States, Canada, and overseas. He was elected at the company's 76th annual meeting in January.

Brother Gow has spent all of his working life at Norton. He is the first president who is not one of the family who founded the company in 1885. He had been executive vice president since 1948.

Brother Gow joined Norton Company's research and development department following graduation from M.I.T. in 1925. He later served in the inspection department and as planning engineer in the machine tool division. In 1930 he was sent overseas to serve as works manager, and later factory superintendent, of Norton's French grinding wheel plant in Paris.

In 1935 he was appointed superintendent of the ceramic section, and in 1939 he was made production manager of the abrasive division. He was appointed works manager of the division in 1941 and held that post until he entered active army service in 1942.

During World War II, he served as a colonel in the General Staff Corps. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for his work as chief of the industrial services division and the industrial personnel division.

Following the war, he returned to his post as works manager. Brother Gow was elected a director of Norton Co. in 1947 and was elected executive vice president the following year. He became president in 1961.

He is a director of several Norton foreign plants, including Norton Co. of Canada, Ltd.; Compagnie des Meules Norton (France); Norton Grinding Wheel Co. Ltd. (England); Norton Abrasives S. A. (Pty.) How did you live to be eighty-one?"*

To show them how to really live.*

*I get my exercise shooting craps.
I get my rest in taking naps.
I get my strength from "little nips."
I get my pleasure from women's lips.*
I get little food, but eat enough
To keep me well and keep me tough.
I dislike fishing in a stream or brook,
But with a diamond I'm on the hook.
And work at this with much delight,
For fishing where the monies lay
Is the answer to a perfect day.*

Dr. Robert J. Senior, Franklin and Marshall '49, works with Alpha-Alpha at the University of North Carolina

Prof. C. H. Scott McAlister teaches insurance and advises Zeta-Delta at Connecticut

Alumni Advisers Combine Fraternity Work and Business Careers

BY day Alumni Advisers practice law, medicine, teach, sell, buy, and do all kinds of work. Their hobbies are varied. But they have one great bond in common—a constant awareness of the chapter needs and problems that confront Chi Phi chapters.

Senior

ALPHA-ALPHA's Adviser is Dr. Robert J. Senior, Zeta '49. A native of Buffalo, N. Y., a veteran of the U. S. Navy, Bob got to Chapel Hill via a residentship in pediatrics at the University of North Carolina.

Following graduation from Franklin and Marshall College, he served his Alma Mater as an instructor in biology, and Chi Phi as a house Resident Adviser. He then attended Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, where he was president of the Phi Rho Sigma Medical Fraternity, and of the graduating class of 1955.

Following his internship, he was a resident in pediatrics at the Buffalo Children's Hospital and at the University of North Carolina, where he further served as chief resident. The medical students of UNC honored him as the first recipient of an annual award for a resident physician who had furthered their medical education.

Brother Senior is the only practicing pediatrician in Chapel Hill, and teaches daily at the UNC School of Medicine. He has lectured to county medical societies in North Carolina regarding infectious diseases in children, and to numerous campus wives' organizations on growth and development of preschool children.

He is married to the former Gwen Gore, who is an alumna of UNC and the University of Virginia, and is the Alumna Adviser to the Kappa Delta Sorority. The Seniors have three children, enjoy UNC athletics, and rummaging through antique shops.

Bob reported that Alpha-Alpha pledges are a fine group, most of them making their grades for initiation.

McAlister

PROF. C. H. SCOTT MCALISTER is assistant professor of insurance at the University of Connecticut. Born in the Hawaiian Islands in 1930, he received his A.B. degree at Illinois Wesleyan in 1956 and his M.B.A. at Indiana University in 1958. From 1952 to 1954, he served in the Marine Corps as drill instructor and chief language instructor in the Special Training School in San Diego.

Scott has written numerous articles and monographs on insurance. He is a consultant to several local and national corporations on training programs, insurance agency management surveys, risk analysis, and insurance surveys.

Commenting on the rôle of the adviser, Professor McAlister feels that the adviser can offer "spiritual guidance" to the Chapter as well as to the individual. In his particular case, experience in business and on campus enables him to be of assistance in the area of career preparation and guidance and placement at Zeta Delta Chapter.

Reade

R. S. READE, Alpha-Tau '34, is in his first year as Adviser for the University of Michigan Chapter. He is finding the experience interesting and rewarding. The high calibre of members impresses him.

Dick was born in Romeo, Mich. While he was in the University, he was Alpha of Alpha-Tau in 1933. He took a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering. His work has been with American-Standard in Pittsburgh, New York, Buffalo. He is living in Plymouth, Mich., 18 miles from Ann Arbor.

From the time of his graduation,

Dick was active in the Chi Phi Club of Detroit until the beginning of World War II. At that time he helped Carl Gladfelter make arrangements for the care and preservation of the chapter house during the war years when the Chapter could not occupy it. Following the war he helped rehabilitate the Chapter and to refurbish the house.

BILL JOHNSON, Alpha-Tau '50, and Stuart G. Wade, Alpha-Tau '38, have assisted Dick in an advisory capacity. Both Bill and Stu have been devoting more attention to the financial aspects of the Chapter and have served as liaison between Alpha-Tau and the Alumni Assn. in Detroit. This has permitted Dick to spend more time on such matters as rush, scholarship, and the like.

Gabrielson

WORK with handicapped people is a hobby with Harold R. Gabrielson, Gamma Delta '32, Adviser for Gamma Delta. He is active on the boards of several health and welfare organizations in Minneapolis. Approximately half of the staff of 50 people working for Mailers Service, Inc., of which he is founder and president, are handicapped. Eleven years ago he started his firm, now one of the largest direct mail advertising companies in the Upper Midwest. Among its national accounts are such companies as Rexall Stores, Lever Brothers, Encyclopedia Britannica, and the like.

Prior to establishment of his present business, Brother Gabrielson was an officer in a Minneapolis bank, a credit manager, and an executive director of health and welfare organizations.

Fishing and hunting are hobbies, but golf gives him the most satisfaction. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Minneapolis Golf Club.

Brother Gabrielson's Chi Phi work has been constant since his graduation. He has served on the Alumni Board four times, each term being for a period of three years. He is now president of the Chi Phi Club of the Northwest. The Club is engaged in a fund-raising drive to assist Gamma Delta.

today who have an erroneous impression of fraternities. Unfortunately, many alumni are unaware of this circumstance and make no attempt to dispel some of the rumor and falseness spread about fraternities.

The young and old respond to the alumni dues request. Brother Ward Raymond, Mu '90, (Stevens Institute) sent in his dues the other day. Brother Raymond has been a loyal member of Chi Phi for 74 years, having been initiated June 3, 1887. He resides at 908 Paxinosa Avenue, Easton, Pennsylvania.

Among the younger members SP-4 Thomas E. McDaniel, Sigma '59, Co. A 319 US ASA BN, APO 717, New York, New York, sent 30 German marks to cover his dues. All of which is to say, if you have not sent yours, the Council suggests taking a moment to take pen in hand and send $5.00 or 30 marks to 308 Mark Building, Atlanta 3, Georgia.

Respectfully submitted,

Carl J. Gladfelter,

Captures Judgeship

AN Americus attorney, Tom O. Marshall Jr., 41, Gamma '40, was reaffirmed Democratic nominee for judge of the Southwestern Superior Judicial Circuit after a recount of votes cast in the primary.

The recount showed Marshall the winner by nine votes over another local attorney, Charles Burgamy, 37, who gave up his $10,000 a year post as solicitor general of the circuit to run for the judgeship.

Burgamy asked for the recount after Marshall won by two votes in the primary. The official recount tabulation from the six counties of the circuit gave Marshall 4,752 votes to Burgamy's 4,743.

Burgamy earlier had announced that he would run as an independent for the post in the general election but Wednesday said he was withdrawing his candidacy, leaving Marshall a clear field for the judgeship.—Atlanta Constitution.

Newsmen Die

DEATH has taken two Midwestern newspaper men of national prominence. Roy L. Matson, Kappa '29, died on Dec. 3 in Madison, Wis., where he was editor of The Wisconsin Journal. Cedric Adams, Gamma Delta '25, died on Feb. 18, in Austin, Minn., not far from Minneapolis where he was a newspaper columnist, radio and TV commentator and news broadcaster. Both men suffered heart attacks.

Brother Matson was a member of the Wisconsin State Journal management board, a director of Madison Newspapers, Inc., and a director of the Badger Broadcasting Co. He was a member of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Sigma Delta Chi, journalism, the Madison Rotary and University Clubs. He had been president of the United Press Newspaper Editors of Wisconsin.

He and Cedric Adams had much in common. Roy was born in Cloquet, Minn., and attended high school in Minneapolis, but he chose the University of Wisconsin for his college work. Both men gave time and energy to community projects and service clubs.

Cedric Adams was born at Adrian, Minn., but he moved to Magnolia, Minn., when he was very young. He put this little town on the map when he wrote nostalgically of it in his column in the Minneapolis Star and Sunday Tribune. His column was called, "In this Corner." Roy had written such a column in 1941-44 called, "This World of Ours." Cedric graduated from Central High in Minneapolis and then attended the University of Minnesota off and on for many years. He always left in the spring term to sell seeds for Northrup King and Co.

Roy Matson's career was always reporting. Cedric Adams' was varied. He was an associate editor for the humor magazines published by the Fawcetts before he settled down to reporting.

Both men are missed by their communities. Among survivors is David Matson, Kappa '54.

Violet Grower

AFRICAN violets are more than a hobby with Henry Peterson, Iota '38. Brother Peterson has 100,000 plants in his greenhouse on McHenry Road, Westwood, Ill. Chain stores and florists throughout the Midwest and South are his customers. He makes delivery in a private plane.

Nearly 80 years ago, the late Julius Peterson, his grandfather, started the business. The greenhouses were full of flowers to be cut and potted plants such as begonias, in those days. Henry's father and uncle, Roger and Clarence Peterson, brought the violets to the greenhouses. Now all of the other plants, except relatives like Episcias, have been crowded out.

Brother Peterson does not hybridize violets in his acre of glass houses. He leaves that hazardous business to amateurs or others who have more time and less investment than he has. The old varieties are carried for hybridizing purposes and he has wild species which are also used for hybridizing. One of these has a slight fragrance and some day the larger violets may bear that resemblance to their wild forbearer.

Today's public is not very interested in the miniatures. The demand for violets in small pots is greater than it is for larger plants. Buyers also want single-crown plants although the many-crowned ones make a better showing and cost a little more.

If you are a violet-fancier, Brother Peterson advises watering when the soil is dry to the touch, pouring off water which collects in the saucer of the pot, and never watering from the bottom so that the plant stands in water. Impurities wash through the soil when top watering is done and they should be destroyed from the saucer.

Brother Peterson attended the Chi Phi Club of Cincinnati meeting on Feb. 16.

Cody Descendants

WHEN the Cody Family Assn. holds its annual meeting in Flint, Mich., in July, Al Cody, Theta Delta '36, will preside as president. There are about 1,000 descendants of Phillip Le Cody, the first of the Cody family to migrate to this country in 1695. The most illustrious is Buffalo Bill, a cousin of the grandfather of Al and Bob Cody, Theta Delta '40.

Unlike their swashbuckling relative, both Cody brothers are quiet and industrious. Both were Sparks Medal winners when they were at the University of Florida. Al was an early member being No. 29 on the Register. Bob was Alpha and is now a Council Representative.

Kissimmee, Fla., is home, the center of the Florida cattle industry. They have helped build up that business through The Florida Cattleman.

The Orlando Sentinel featured the Cody brothers in the Sunday magazine section late last year. Al was a born printer-journalist, starting on his career when he was a child and pursuing it in a practical way through college and into newspaper reporting. Bob took it for granted that he would do weekly newspaper work, too, though he took a year's graduate work to qualify to teach English.

Publishing the Cattleman took them into the printing business. That took Al and his wife into square dancing for exercise. He was one of the founders, secretary, and president of the Florida Federation of Square Dancers and president of the Central Florida Square Dance Assn. As a matter of fact, he is a consistent president, having served as master of the Masonic Lodge, president of Kiwanis and Rotary, and chairman of the board of trustees of the Methodist Church.

Bob was Alpha of Theta Delta. He has been president of the Chamber of Commerce, vice president of the Junior Chamber, and is holder of the Silver Beaver in Boy Scouting.

Alpha-Tau Assn. Meets in Detroit

THE ALPHA-TAU Chapter House Assn. held a dinner meeting at the Detroit Boat Club on Feb. 24. The following were elected officers and directors: Maynard Andreae, Alpha-Tau '32, president; Charles Raymond, Alpha-Tau '48, vice president; O'Neil Dillon, Alpha-Tau '35, secretary; Roger Tuttle, Alpha-Tau '56, treasurer; John Ball, Alpha-Tau '48; Robert Campbell, Alpha-Tau '41; Henry Gildner, Alpha-Tau '24; Carlton Johnson, Alpha-Tau '38; William Johnson, Alpha-Tau '59; Jack Richardson, Alpha-Tau '37; John Thomas, Alpha-Tau '50, directors.

COLLEGE CHAPTERS

Alpha Notes New Vigor

GRAYSON E. McNAIR, Alpha
University of Virginia

ALPHA has moved into the final stretch of the academic year with a definite feeling of renewed vigor. It is with much satisfaction that the Chapter can point out new house improvements, a successful rushing season, and spirited alumni interest.

Painting has been somewhat of a pass-word lately as both brothers and pledges have spent weekends and vacation periods refinishing the first floor, stairwell, hallways, and all bath facilities. The Chapter can also boast of five newly finished individual rooms this year with work on two more now progressing. Present plans are to expand Alpha's "new look" to outside improvements by next fall.

Under the University's new rush system, which concluded formal rush on Bid Sunday, Dec. 11, Alpha welcomed 15 new pledges. A great deal of credit is due to last semester's rush chairman, Bob Whitman, who developed such close contacts with the rushees that the job of pledge-master seemed logically his. Rushing is continuing into the spring semester on an informal basis, and indications are that several more pledges will shortly join the present class.

Alumni interest continues to grow as the recently re-organized Alpha Home Assn. enlarges its contacts between the Chapter and alumni. Alumni are being urged to visit the Chapter whenever in the Charlottesville vicinity and to aid the Chapter in its rushing. Recommendations from alumni were responsible for the pace setting start of last fall's rush program, and it is not too early to suggest prospective Chi Phis for the coming year, or even visit the chapter with them before the school term begins.

Probably no one is as responsible for Alpha's new success as Grayson McNair, just recently reelected unanimously as Alpha for his second term. Last year's winner of the Sparks medal, Brother McNair has been most instrumental in knitting the threads between the Chapter and alumni.

Other items of interest include a welcomed visit by National Director Gladfelter; the hard-fought basketball victory over Quadrangle rival, the Kappa Sigs; and the purchase of new chinaware for the dining room made possible by Brother C. I. Johnson's careful management of the kitchen.

Gamma Analyzes Rush Technique

GEORGE S. STRAIN, Alpha
Emory University

FOLLOWING is a list of events which have taken place in the past several months at Gamma:

1. Chi Phi at Emory placed 4th in the annual cross-country meet and 3rd in the wrestling tournament. Clint Moore became the heavyweight champion of Emory University. Both the contests took place in late fall.

2. Initiation of 10 new brothers was held at the beginning of the winter quarter. An initiation banquet was held on the same evening and was attended by many of our most distinguished alumni. National Director Gladfelter was present, and he delivered some stimulating remarks on the need for individual excellence among fraternity men. He observed that the fraternities must prove their worth as a force for good in American life if they are to continue to grow and prosper. He especially emphasized the responsibilities of the younger men who are only beginning their college careers. At this banquet Brother William A. Haygood '00 presented the 1960 Sparks Memorial Medal to Tom V. Willis.

3. The Winter Formal, a most glittering success, was held at the Atlanta Yacht Club on Feb. 17. Gerry Johnson, a sophomore at Emory, was named as the 1961 Sponsor for Gamma Chapter during the evening.

4. We have taken advantage of the good opportunities for off season rushing and have pledged five men.

5. Jake Cogburn has been named the rush chairman for spring and summer. By means of an effective early rush program Gamma Chapter intends to go into the 1961 rush week well ahead of the other fraternities at Emory. It is plain to everyone that rush is an extremely competitive enterprise. It is the opinion of some members of this chapter that Rush Week must be approached from a strictly scientific point of view. If I may continue the listing procedure that frames this letter, I will enumerate a few of the points which a scientific approach to rush might include.

(a) Good advance literature: The letters and the publications which a chapter mails out to rushees must be carefully composed. This material must be attention-getting and striking. Further, it must be so skillfully presented that it excites the rushee over the ideals for which our Fraternity stands.

(b) Planned personal contacts: Brothers must not visit prospects until these visits are carefully planned. The points which they will emphasize to the rushee must be decided in advance and carefully remembered. Such things as appearance and general manner of conduct must be impeccable. In short, the brothers who visit must be perfection itself in order to impress the rushees with the quality of our fraternity.

(c) Planned parties: Rush social functions must have that perfect balance of planning and spontaneity. Those in charge must be certain that these functions are moving merrily along every minute and that every prospect is receiving an excellent rush.

(d) Total effect: In order to present the image of Chi Phi as the finest fraternity, it is requisite that every contact with the rushee be free from flaws. If this is accomplished the rushee will be so impressed with the calibre of Chi Phi men that he will desire to identify himself with such a group.

All the above objectives can be achieved through a kind of psychological study as to what image is most appealing to the psyche of the outstanding college freshman. It is the opinion of many Chi Phis that nothing less than such an approach will be 100% effective.—BILL BORING.

Delta Pledges 18 Freshmen

TIMOTHY D. SCHOFIELD, Alpha
Rutgers University

DELTA CHAPTER pledged 18 freshmen on Feb. 6 after a 5-day rushing period. The brotherhood feels that the pledge class is one of the best balanced groups Delta has ever taken. The class is composed of majors in chemistry, engineering, and liberal arts. Besides having a high academic average, members participate in Freshman basketball, wrestling, crew, football, track, and swimming. Many of the pledges are also officers in their living groups and other campus organizations.

The second semester at Rutgers indicates a busy schedule for Delta. There are two University big weekends: Military Ball and Junior Prom, the annual Parents' Tea, and the Alumni Banquet in April. Throughout the semester, the social committee has also planned several theme parties.

With the beginning of the second term, Pinehurst has acquired a well deserved going over. In preparation for rushing, the entire house was given a thorough cleaning along with a great deal of painting. The Alumni Assn., under the direction of Carmen Della Bella '49, is looking into the purchase of a new heating system. Also planned is renovation of the bathrooms.

The officers for the spring semester are: Tim Schofield, Alpha; Dave Van Derveer,

Epsilon Athletes Show Prowess

GEORGE J. McVEY, Alpha
Hampden-Sydney College

EPSILON CHAPTER was fortunate in having a brother, David Jones, and a pledge, Walter Penn, return for the second semester. Brother Jones has been in the Army since his departure four years ago. Pledge Penn returns after an absence of a year.

Several of the brothers and pledges are on the school wrestling team. The brothers, veterans of last year's team, are Dave Holman and Bill Kempton. The pledges, with a background of high school wrestling, are John Roberts and Aldie Dudley. Don Rogerson, high school sprint star from Richmond, joins the track team to add depth in the 100-yard dash. Our undefeated intramural basketball team is currently leading in a close race for the school championship. Bobby Gene Saylor, elected Most Valuable Player of the Hampden-Sydney football team in 1960, is showing his athletic prowess in basketball as an excellent rebounder and scorer.

The pledges are being subjected to a rigorous pledge training program. The brothers gave a party in honor of the pledges on Feb. 11 as a reward for their earnest response to the training program.—RICHARD E. COONS.

Paid Your Dues?

THE CHI PHI CHAKETT ■ April, 1961

Zeta Pledges Active on Campus

RICHARD M. BARRETT, Alpha
Franklin & Marshall College

ZETA'S rushing program produced a fine group of nine men. The pledge's scholastic average is well above a C grade. The class is well represented on campus in hockey, lacrosse, soccer, the Glee Club, basketball, track, and football, to say nothing of the fact that James Leslie is vice president of his class.

The traditional pledge-brother weekend was combined with Snowball Weekend this year, and can be considered nothing less than a success. The highlights of the weekend were: Glenn Miller for Friday night's dance and Dave Brubeck's concert on Saturday afternoon, an informal party was held at Odd Fellows Hall on Saturday night. The rest of the semester will include I.F. weekend which will be held on March 17-18. Spring weekend follows on May 6-7. Undoubtedly a number of record parties will also be held throughout the rest of the semester.

For the 5th straight year, Zeta walked away with the interfraternity wrestling championship while, at the present, we are in third place in basketball with a good chance of taking second place. Preparations, under the careful direction of Chester Douglas, have already begun for the I.F. Sing, which comes up in three weeks. Swimming practice has begun with hopes of capturing the interfraternity swimming crown. The team will be piloted by James Pattison.

Last semester closed with the election of a new Zeta, Neil Murchison.—JOHN A. VINCZE.

Iota Improves Grade Average

ERNEST F. JONES, Alpha
Ohio State University

DURING the past quarter, the brothers of Iota distinguished themselves scholastically by attaining a point hour ratio of 2.6, well above the All-Men's average at Ohio State University. The emphasis we have been stressing towards attaining a notable scholastic record has certainly paid off.

Our social program was highlighted by parties and dances, including an interchapter party with Alpha-Chi. Among our parties this fall were a Homecoming dance, the Fall Formal, and our notorious Bowery Party. A dim and dusky atmosphere spread throughout the "Mansion on the Hill" as it was decorated in a typical Bowery setting. The costumes of the brothers and pledges were appropriate for the occasion.

Turning towards the sports scene, the men are doing a fine job in intramural athletics. The bowling team captured the trophy for their league last quarter and have a fine chance of repeating again this quarter. On the hardwoods, although not quite matching the quality and precision of our "Buckeyes," the Iota basketballers are well on their way to victory and the coveted trophy in their class tournament.

We have been doing quite a bit of work on the physical improvement of the chapter house in painting and fixing up the study rooms, etc. The exterior was recently painted.

Following our recent elections, the following men took office: Ernest Jones, Alpha; Bruce Graber, Beta; Frank Fiori, Gamma; Lee Coppess, Delta; Lee Webb, Epsilon, and Robert Blair, Zeta. Our winter quarter initiates included Tim White and John Baumann.

Briefly, some of the highlights throughout the past year included several of the brothers being initiated into various honoraries and several representing us in campus activities. We were hosts to several foreign exchange students from different countries during the past year. Brother Winkler was outstanding in a leading rôle in a university dramatic presentation. Our kitchen has shown a substantial profit throughout the year due to the careful management of our housemother, Mrs. Bleil. We had a large farewell banquet for our graduating seniors and had several outstanding speakers, including Larry Snyder, head Olympic track coach, at various rush functions and meetings.—ROBERT BLAIR.

Nu Alumni Invited to Formal

DAVID BUDZILOWICZ, Alpha
University of Texas

WITH the end of finals and a week of registration at hand, preparations were made for spring rush. Rushees were entertained with a coffee at the house and a dance. The beautiful 80-degree weather made possible a couple of lake parties. Our efforts were rewarded by the pledging of four men. We initiated 17 fall pledges.

Coming this spring to give a break from studies will be Round-Up Weekend and Varsity Carnival. Varsity Carnival is the only all-Greek event in the spring as Sing Song was presented in the fall. We hope to coordinate our Alumni Weekend with our Spring Sweetheart Formal and plans are being made to facilitate this.

The new officers for the spring semester are: David Budzilowicz, Alpha; Bob Ernst, Beta; Thomas Bishop, Gamma; Labe Wingert, Delta; Harold Balthrop, Epsilon; and John Carlson, Zeta. The social chairman is Bob Simpson. Our new Alumni Advisers are Phocion Park and Ben Greig. They are taking a very active part in working with the Executive Council to build a stronger Nu Chapter.—JOHN L. CARLSON.

Xi Inaugurates Lecture Program

HAL O. BINYON, III, Alpha
Cornell University

THE mid-year recess and first week of the spring term at Cornell is official rush week (a 10-day week, too!). It is just finished, and Xi, under the leadership of Rushing Chairman Mike Egan '62, the ever-helpful support of the alumni, and the great efforts of the entire brotherhood, succeeded in pledging a fine class of 17 men. The pledge class boasts a 78 average and represents eight different schools within the University.

To bolster the feeling toward academics already shown by the pledge class, and to stimulate that feeling in the upperclassmen, Xi is originating a scholarship program during this spring term. Assuming that poor work is primarily due to faulty study techniques, Xi will engage the services of a remedial expert to teach the actives and pledges how to read rapidly and effectively, to take meaningful class notes, to make clear and concise written reports, and compose well constructed themes. The big brother system will be carried on as successfully as in the past, and close attention will be paid to the development of each individual pledge.

With the success of this lighthouse pro-

Lambda Plans Big Six Party

BRAD WAIT, Alpha
University of California

LAMBDA began the spring semester by pledging two fine men, Dennis Coupe, Daly City, and Steve Ipson, Pleasant Hill. Steve's brother, Dan, is presently an upperclassman in the Chapter. After pledging these men, we found their athletic prowess to be highly polished. Dennis is the third man on the freshman tennis team, and Steve is a quarter miler on Cal's frosh track team.

The new officers this semester are: Brad Wait, Alpha; Tom Russell, Beta; George Innis, Gamma; Ed Laufenberg, Zeta.

Lambda was among the first six fraternities chartered on the California campus and for this reason is a member of the Big Six. Each year this organization has a spring formal. This year Lambda is in charge of its operation and we all hope it to be a big success.

The fall semester at Lambda has seen many new changes from the way of life that previously existed in the old chapter house. With new and better facilities with which to work, the spring semester with its many challenges looks ever increasingly brighter. With the renovation of our lodge room nearly complete, the parking lot almost a reality, and 35 willing men ready to work, Lambda is looking hopefully to our second, and we hope most fulfilling, semester in our new home.—ED LAUFENBERG.

gram, Chi Phi may help tremendously the fraternity system toward scholastic leadership. Heretofore, fraternities have lagged behind the All-Men's average. Xi will succeed and Xi hopes that the other 50 fraternities "on the hill" will follow in its footsteps!

Athletically, Xi seems to have hold of the swimming team with five brothers on the varsity and several promising pledges swimming for the freshman team. One or more representatives are on the basketball, hockey, and squash teams. In the intramural leagues, Chi Phi is leading the field in basketball with two games to go, and our bowlers are also on top of the pack.—NEWCOMB D. COLE, JR.

Pi Acquires New Mascot

JOEL W. RUSSELL, Alpha Northwestern University

A BLACK and white furry animal, at first glance resembling a baby polar bear, is really nothing but the 18th of Pi Chapter's newly initiated fraternity brothers. Zhutchka, a 4-month-old Siberian Husky, has been the center of attraction ever since she arrived at Northwestern shortly after the Christmas holidays. And even though she is only a puppy, she has already rung up a board bill that none of her fraternity brothers could ever surpass. After Zhutchka has her morning walk and her 20 pounds of dog food for breakfast, the rest of the brothers are finally able to settle down and tend to classwork and activities. Last quarter Pi Chapter was proud to rank fifth on campus in scholarship out of the 27 social fraternities. Its social calendar has been full and the winter sports program finds Chi Phi among the top contenders.

The grandest party of the quarter was called "The Inaugural Ball" and was held at the beautiful Tower Club on the top floor of the Civic Opera Building in Chicago. The brothers dressed in tuxedos, except for members of a mock "cabinet" chosen by President Joel Russell, who came in full dress tails. In addition to "The Inaugural Ball," we also had a square dance. This has always been one of our most popular informal parties and was once again a great success and a lot of fun. Several informal house parties were also held with smaller groups of couples.

Winter quarter found Chi Phis spreading out into all campus activities. Jim Harff headed a delegation of Chi Phis to the Illinois College Young Republican Convention in Chicago, where Senator Barry Goldwater was the featured speaker. A member of the Sophomore Class executive board, and planning for the '63 Spree, was Bill Appler. Other brothers participated in the university musical production, the WAA Mu Show, and in the Dolphin Show, Tony Zaugh playing a principal rôle.

In intramurals, Chi Phi participated in bowling, swimming and basketball. In the latter sport, Chi Phi is a close second in its league. We hope to add a first place trophy in basketball to the one won for football fall quarter.—STEPHEN B. RITCHIE.

Rho Pledges Excellent Class

JAMES E. HARTSEL, Alpha Lafayette College

RHO CHAPTER had an exceedingly good rushing period this past February. We received 15 pledges, the sixth largest pledge class on campus. Bruce Applestein, rushing chairman, was behind the successful rushing policy. The Chapter is still rushing and hopes to gain a few more members. The brotherhood would be grateful to be informed of any prospective freshmen who would make good Chi Phi material. Brother Applestein may be notified through his home address: 105 Penn Valley Ter., Morrisville, Pa.

On Feb. 27, Rho held its annual elections. James Hartsel was reelected Alpha; Stephen Altenderfer, Beta; David Walsh, Gamma; Richard Gilbert, Delta; John Dillon, Epsilon; and Frederick Currie, Zeta. Alpha Hartsel was reelected because of his outstanding achievements of the past year. A Dean's List student, also recipient of the Sparks Memorial Award, Brother Hartsel is treasurer of the Interfraternity Council.—FREDERICK CURRIE.

Sigma Initiates Study Plan

WILLIAM D. DEIHL, Alpha University of Illinois

THIS year the Sigma pledge class buckled down to the arduous tasks of Help Week. The '64's painted the third floor halls, revamped the dining room, redecorated the party room, and generally put the house in tip-top shape. As Help Week drew to a close, the entire Chapter began to prepare for the new semester.

One reason for the great enthusiasm is the forthcoming social calendar. A highlight will be our annual costume party, scheduled for March 11. This year's theme is a "Go To Hell" dance, with everyone wearing costumes representing some evil character. Our ever-popular Spring Formal will be held May 13.

Sigma will initiate a new pledge study program for the second semester. Under this new program, all the pledges will room and study together. The only active allowed to talk to the pledges during study hours will be the Epsilon (pledge trainer). This program was developed with the aid of the Dean of Fraternity Men, and we feel that it will give the pledges the opportunity to develop their own personal study habits. Since the pledges will learn to study on their own, their grades won't slack off when they become initiated, and no longer have an active to watch over them. We feel that the second semester at Sigma will be bright not only socially, but also scholastically.—DAN ARANGELOVICH.

Tau Welcomes Faculty Adviser

THOMAS C. SMITHERMAN, Alpha University of Alabama

THE main items of interest the past few months have been the election of Tau's officers for second semester and the initiation of pledges. New officers are: Alpha, Tommy Smitherman, Birmingham, our henpecked BMOC; Beta, Edward Thomas, Tuscaloosa, a man among men; Gamma, Bob Eagar, Birmingham, Tau's answer to Emily Post; Delta, Jim Munroe, Windsor, Conn., better known as "Scrooge"; and Epsilon, George Kennedy, Troy, Tau's own little "snowman."

As their Help Week project, our happy "goats" were allowed to enhance the already scenic charms of our beloved basement and party room. With only a small amount of aid and instruction, they constructed padded seats all the way around the sides.

We were recently privileged to obtain as our Faculty Adviser, Maj. H. E. Grafton. Major Grafton, a former Tau initiate, returned to the University of Alabama this year after an absence of nearly 20 years, this time as an instructor for the Air Force ROTC.

Our sports program has advanced nicely this year. At the present time, both of our ping-pong doubles teams are in the quarter finals of the interfraternity tournament. Our basketball team is battling for second place in our league and a chance at the semi-finals.

We have thus far, this semester, gained three new pledges.—BLAIR ATKINS.

Chi Recalls Carnival Party

MICHAEL R. SCHWARTZ, Alpha Dartmouth College

THE new year brought a new term to the Dartmouth campus, much to the relief of the brothers, many of whom were looking for new courses to broaden their intellectual horizons. Roger Schulze returned from Montana with his new wife after a year's absence. Tom Hector returned from six months studying in Spain, sporting a new haircut.

John Manske, being Carnival chairman, naturally turned his attention to Carnival along with fellow Council members, Hal Knott and Pete McCrea. When the great event finally arrived, Hartley Webster, social chairman, provided the Chapter with a weekend that was hard to forget. The highlight was the Roaring '20's party on Saturday night complete with everything, including several Eliot Ness-type raids on the downstairs.

As Carnival became part of the past, the brotherhood found that neglected books had to be pulled out of the shelves, and the academic life started again. February 21 marks the arrival of "The King of the World" in Hanover to bring Dartmouth College under his domain. The Bishop has graciously accepted our invitation to a reception in his honor on the evening of his visit. The first weekend in March brings Apache weekend and marks the end of a very cold winter at the Chi Chapter.—PETER MCCREA.

Psi Contacts Frosh for Rush

STANLEY J. WILCOX, Alpha
Lehigh University

THE cumulative average of Psi for the fall semester was rather discouraging, not so much for the numerical value as for the ranking among fraternities at Lehigh. Our 2.1346 average should be above the All-Men's average, but ranked us 20th out of 30 fraternities. A rise of 0.0015 would have ranked us 7th among fraternities. With the high caliber of study conditions at Psi, we are confident that our spring rating will be considerably higher.

On Dec. 19, 1960, we initiated 10 men. The Chapter was pleased to welcome George S. Hagstoz, Psi '33, and Edwin H. Gott, Psi '29, who attended the initiations of their sons. These initiations raised the total of initiated brothers at Lehigh to 38, the highest number for several years.

Freshman contacting has started again and, for the fourth year in succession, Lehigh is employing a revised contacting and rushing plan. Contacting began on Monday, Feb. 6, and will last six weeks. Contacting was permissible every day the first week, and for the duration will be allowed on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday in alternate weeks. The contacting hours are from 3 P.M. to 8 P.M. on weekdays, and 1 P.M. to 4 P.M. on Saturday. Rushing in the fraternity houses begins on April 4, and continues until April 13. Due to the fewer days of contacting this year than in the past, Psi has adopted the policy of requiring every man to rush at least two hours a day. If, for some legitimate reason, a man cannot rush one day, he must make up the lost time on another day. Psi will lose 16 brothers through graduation this year, and therefore a relatively large pledge class is sought. Our rushing chairman is Mikell P. Groover.

Psi now ranks third, only five points out of second, in the race for the all-university sports trophy. We placed first out of the 73 living groups in the annual Turkey Trot, a cross-country event that takes participants on a very unrelaxed tour of the mountainous Lehigh campus. The prize was 24 points toward the all-sports trophy and a live turkey that looked as if he had run in the race.

The house now has a new 12-car parking lot, due to the fact that another fraternity built a new home in our old parking lot. As soon as the snow thaws, a basketball court will be installed in the new lot.

The alumni committee is revising the program for alumni relations, with the aims of keeping the alumni of Psi in closer contact with the Chapter and informing them of the best times to return to the chapter house.

The main all-University events in the spring will be IFC Weekend and Spring Houseparty. Psi will hold its annual Pledge-Brother Weekend and Senior Weekend toward the end of the spring semester.—ARDEN MCE. EMERY.

Omega Sets Up Study Hall

BLAKE TRAYLOR, Alpha Georgia Institute of Technology

ON Feb. 19, the Omega Chapter initiated 13 boys. Following the initiation the old and new brothers and their dates enjoyed a banquet consisting of turkey and all the trimmings.

In an effort to improve scholarship, a pledge study hall under the direction of Gary Schuler, has been started. On Monday through Thursday nights between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30, the dining room is off limits to card playing, talking, and any other distractions. Here the pledges are required to study. It is hoped that this study hall will help pull up several low point averages.

Athletic-wise the Omega Chapter has done well in some sports and not so well in others. The paddle ball team, composed of Brothers Doherty, Ellison, Rapp, and Serff, took third place in the school. The volley ball team took second place in its league. With spring approaching, several Omegas have begun warming up for the softball season. The prospects are good for a successful softball team.

Of interest to the Omega alumni would be the recent signing of a new contract with the Omega Trust Assn. This contract provides for an extra $2,500 a year for improvement of the chapter house. It is hoped that eventually there will be enough money to build a new house. Fred Rudder is the rush chairman for the summer.—
JOHN R. PORTER.

Alpha-Alpha Has Pledge Weekend

WARREN BARNETT JACKSON, JR.
Alpha
University of North Carolina

WE held our annual pledge weekend on Feb. 4-6. The formal banquet and dance was held in the ballroom of the Holiday Inn in Durham on Feb. 4. The master of ceremonies at the banquet was our former Delta, J. R. Brown, who did a commendable job. In spite of the fact that there were several inches of snow and sleet on the ground all weekend, all the planned events were held and the weekend was a big success.

We are very proud of our pledge class. Out of 16 pledges, 10 made a "C" average or better. They are now preparing for Greek Week which starts Mar. 10. The way the pledges perform on various community projects, their participation in these projects, and their carnival skit will go along with their scholarship toward determining who has the best pledge class on campus.

We feel that our pledge class has an excellent chance of being selected as the best. Spring rush takes place Feb. 20-22. We are hoping to pledge several more good boys.

Our intramural bowling team composed of Bill Evans, J. R. Brown, Jim Cobb, Alton Russell, and Don Heenan went all the way to the finals, but could not win that last match.

Election of spring officers was held the second week in January and the results are as follow: Alpha, Warren Barnett Jackson, Jr.; Beta, Robert Vernon Fulk, Jr.; Gamma, Stephen Carlton Lowder; Delta, William Casto Evans; Epsilon, Michael LeRoy Byers; Zeta, Lawrence David Warlick, Jr.—L. D. WARLICK, JR.

Alpha-Chi Proud of Achievement

JAMES W. McVICKER, Alpha Ohio Wesleyan

THE question, "What Can a Medium-Sized Fraternity Do?" is one that too often is met with a feeling of defense and a manner of beating around the bush. Too often a feeling of inadequacy is the one expressed or inferred. However, there is no need or basis of such a defensive attitude. The medium-sized fraternity is the one that offers the most to every individual in the fields of leadership, personal expression, and brotherhood. And we say brotherhood without snickering or any feeling of foolishness. For brotherhood is a sense of belonging, not as number 35 in a pledge class. Brotherhood is the spontaneous reaction to the idea of sending the Jamaica girl home for Christmas, the cooperation of young men to send cookies and candy to the local orphanage, and that certain tingling in the blood stream when 40 men sing "All ye who wear the badge, scarlet and blue." Brotherhood is a growing experience of losing oneself to find oneself in cooperation and fellowship. This is the spiritual answer to the question, "What can a medium-size fraternity do?"

However, some part of the masses in a large monolithic fraternity may want some material proof of achievement that can be seen. If such is the case, we of Alpha Chi can point with tempered boastfulness, to what we can do outside of our fraternal walls.

This year Chi Phi at Ohio Wesleyan has set a unique record for the third straight year. That record is that for six consecutive years we have held one of the five IFC positions. No other fraternity at OWU has held an IFC position for more than three years consecutively. As Al Alexander bows out this spring as executive vice president, Jim Stevens '62 enters as treasurer, in the OWU IFC which has just been named one of the top five IFC's in the nation. Can we at Alpha-Chi not help but feel that the respect and strength of our IFC is due in part to the presence of Chi Phis?

Also this year, the senior men's honorary, Omicron Delta Kappa, tapped only eight new members. Two of the eight were Chi Phi brothers: Al Alexander '61 and Bob Richardson '61. We also hold one of the offices of justice on Men's Court. Again the select student organizations cannot ignore the quality men from the medium-sized fraternity.

We can point to the track team and show Ed Stoltenberg and Kent Robinson representing Chi Phi. However, to end this report on the Chapter in Delaware, we turn to the new members, those gangling boys who seemed so wet behind the ears, who now are Chi Phi men taking into their hands the responsibility of maintaining a tradition, which none finer can be found in American fraternities. It is to these new members to whom the Chapter owes a feeling of gratitude in helping us improve our long time low scholarship position. Although at this writing the official word has not been given, the unofficial estimate is that Alpha-Chi has made a considerable move up in scholarship ratings; possibly we moved up eight positions last semester. The Chapter did very well in grades, but the freshmen class did not hurt us in any way.

On Feb. 7, Alpha-Chi initiated its new men. It is with pride of achievement, honor in deed, and faith in our need that we of Alpha-Chi ask our alumni and all Chi Phi men to hail our new brothers.—WILLIAM P. ZAHLER, JR.

Alpha Delta Has Freshman Plan

WILLIAM BEVAN, Alpha Pennsylvania State University

THIS year the main goal of our Chapter has been the job of improving our physical plant. Since September we have painted the clubrooms, stairs, party-room, and the hallways. New rugs and furniture were purchased for our living rooms. These improvements have paid off handsomely in our rush program which, with almost 20 acceptances, has succeeded in carrying on the Alpha Delta traditions for another year.

Our scholastic average rose to a 2.55 all-chapter average in the fall semester. This is a substantial improvement over the previous spring semester and should place us high on the scholarship rankings at Penn State.

Our new officers are: Alpha, Bill Gwan; Beta, Cliff Nichols; Gamma, Dave Gowan; Epsilon, Mike Weinmayr; housemanager, Gene Marotti; and, caterer, David Stolp. They have all pledged their support and cooperation toward making Alpha Delta a stronger and more unified Chapter.

This year we have initiated a new program for the freshmen who have accepted their bids. After a rushee accepts his bid, there is a 3- to 6-month period that he must wait before he begins active pledge training. In order to avoid losing men during this period, we have set up a program that will help to promote closer relations between the brotherhood and the new men. Under this program, we are having a series of meetings to explain the history and traditions of Chi Phi at Penn State. Along with these meetings there will be dinner parties, social and sports events, all designed to make our new acceptances feel a part of Chi Phi.—ANTHONY CANIKE.

Zeta Delta Job Service Valuable

JON RICHMOND, Alpha University of Connecticut

THE brothers are looking forward to a successful spring semester with a new set of officers at the helm: Alpha, Jon Richmond '62; Beta, Ted Tillotson '62; Gamma, Bill Oliver '63; Delta, Russ Stockman '62; Epsilon, Jim Clabby '63; Zeta, Doug Crawford '62; steward, Fred Larson '62; assistant steward, Joel Jenenda '63.

Tom Yobbagy '60 has been busy setting up a panel of alumni, in different fields of business, to help graduating seniors to find jobs, and to advise them on how to undertake job interviews. This program emphasizes the fact that you are a Chi Phi not only for the four years in college, but for life. The alumni have been invited to join the brothers in a stag dinner before the Holy Cross basketball game. This should be an excellent chance for the alums to meet the younger brothers and pledges in the house.

The spring rush period has just begun with Jim Chapman as rush chairman. This will be a very short rush period, and the brothers are rushing with great diligence.

Ted Tillotson, along with his responsibilities as Beta, is still our intramural sports chairman. He is doing a superior job in both positions. We are in first place for the all-sports intramural trophy and hope to stay there. In varsity competition the brothers are also doing an outstanding job. Fred Stackpole is the captain of next year's football squad. Fred Larson will be captain of the soccer team. Bryce Roberts will be captain of the cross-country team. Reid Crawshaw is captain of the track team. Playing varsity basketball are sophomores, Gerry Manning and Bob Haines, and juniors, Dave King and, Dave Daniels.

Three brothers were graduated this February: Mike Dalton; Dick Fanelli; and, Paul Madden.

The Zeta Delts are looking forward to the Brothers' Banquet, celebrating our fifth anniversary as Chi Phi, which will be on Feb. 25. Winter weekend for the University will also be held on this weekend.—DOUG CRAWFORD.

Eta Delta's 500th Member Initiated

THOMAS GREELEY, Alpha University of Southern California

THE Eta Delta Chapter, established at the University of Southern California in 1934, will initiate Richard and Robert Hall, John Stephenson, Gil Garcetti, Dale Moffett, and Paul DeNunzio on Mar. 13. John Stephenson will become the 500th man to be initiated into the Chapter at SC.

During the years our Chapter has been at USC, it became famous for the many well-known leaders it contributed to the campus. Currently, we maintain this tradition with candidates for AMS president, four ASSC Senate seats, and yell leader, also an ever-increasing membership in the campus honorary service groups of Knights and Squires. John Zorger has been named to the annual staff which will produce the 1961 El Rodeo, while Ron Sugarman was recently named editor of the IFC Rush Book, and is on the SC debate squad. One of the most important matters attesting to the Eta Delta tradition was the tapping of Bob Kastigar into the national honorary society of Blue Key.

To start off the spring semester, the brothers elected our new officers. Tom Greeley replaced Bruce Anderson as Alpha. Gene Stubbe was reelected Gamma. John Zorger elected Delta, Ron Sugarman as Zeta, and Bruce Anderson as Epsilon. Dennis Dalsimer was selected as the new pledge master.

During the holiday season, our Mothers' Club sponsored their annual Christmas Dinner which was enthusiastically eaten by all those associated with Eta Delta. They donated new fireplace fixtures and other helpful items. Our Chapter has always enjoyed the active support of the Mothers' Club which contributes much to the welfare of the Chapter and the University.

In sports, Ralph Gullion manages the Big Five AAWU champion basketball team which is presently rated as fourth in the nation.

Ending his last semester at SC, Brother Marshall Dowd graduated with a B.S. in advertising. The brothers appreciate the great contributions which Brother Dowd made to the betterment of the Chapter.

On this coming Apr. 7, Chi Phi will celebrate its 27th year on campus with the annual Alumni Banquet. Highlighting the program will be the presentation of approximately 15 25-year pins which will be awarded to the deserving brothers of the Class of '35 who were instrumental in doing so much in charting the successful road which the Chapter has followed. The guiding spirit of the Classes of '34 and '35 are indeed appreciated by the brothers of the Chapter.

Besides our emphasis on scholarship, rushing will receive a great deal of attention. The new rush co-chairmen are Dale Moffett and John Stephenson. Rushing will be a job that will require the cooperation of many members of the Fraternity. It would be greatly appreciated if those brothers across the nation who know of any man planning to enter USC, would please give us their help by contacting our rush chairman on this matter. Your support will be greatly appreciated.

Thus, over the years, the brothers of Eta Delta have become a great asset to the University, the Fraternity, and our nation. We continue the great tradition of service to both Fraternity and University. But our continuing success lies in the emphasis on teamwork as a means to accomplish our set goals. Much is due to the general opinion that we cannot think in terms of what Chi Phi can do to further the ambitions of any single individual or group of individuals, but what we brothers together can do for the betterment of the University and the fraternity system of SC.—RON SUGARMAN.

Theta Delta House Is Remodeled

RONALD F. ARCURI, Alpha University of Florida

THETA DELTA has a new look downstairs with an extension of the living room, new cloak closet, telephone booths, and some new furniture to fill out the new addition. Without the help of Lee Draper '46, who owns a furniture store in Lake Wales, the remodeling could never have been done. The Chapter is in deep gratitude for Brother Draper's aid. All the remodeling, carpentry, plastering, and painting was done by the brothers, and they really did themselves proud. This work was done in between-semester break in order to have the house ready for rush.

Theta Delta has always felt that extra-curriculars play an important rôle in college when used wisely. This semester finds Eddie Donn as editor of the Florida Engineer. On his staff are Steve Hager, humor editor; John Shaeffer, news editor; and Brian Ellis as advertising manager. The engineers in the Chapter have always taken an active part on the Florida Engineer, and this semester it looks as if the magazine is all-Chi Phi operated. Brian Ellis is also the assistant business manager of the Seminole.

Martin Jensen, our dining room manager, is president of Sales Club and Bill Whitmire is secretary of the Society for Advancement of Management. A number of brothers are taking active part in Student Government. Eddie Donn and Don Bode have positions on the Honor Court and in the coming campus elections, Bill Gorman, Cappy Cappezera, and Bill Whitmire are running for elected positions. Don Bode, our political representative, has been working very hard in the party which we are in. Don tells us that our chances of winning the coming elections appear very good.

Chi Phi Colony Wins Trophies

DAVID J. KEUDELL, Alpha University of Oregon

Our first election produced the following slate of officers: David J. Keudell, Alpha; Gary B. Rhodes, Beta; Robert L. Johnson, Gamma; John W. Uhlman, Delta; George W. Holt, III, Zeta.

Wilbur W. Weed of Eugene, a former member of Tau Delta, the local which eventually became Epsilon Delta of Chi Phi, was elected faculty representative. Brother Weed and nine members of the Colony were initiated by Epsilon Delta in January.

Through the efforts of the University of Oregon Chi Phi Association, new desks and chests of drawers for the study rooms were acquired. The house now looks much more presentable.

Two firsts were achieved by the Colony. We won a trophy for having the largest percentage of fathers at the University's Dad's Day Weekend activity and the "cap stone" of our achievements to date—the acquiring of the highest scholarship for fraternities during the fall term. Our grade point average was a 2.55.

We decided that we needed a dog to make the day complete; so, we bought a Norwegian Elk Hound named Freja who has just about taken over the house as well as the members.—GEORGE W. HOLT, III.

Alumni . . .

RUSHING IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY

You can do no greater service for your Fraternity than recommend desirable candidates for membership.

Chi Phi's continued strength and growth are dependent upon the coordinated rush efforts of both the alumnus and the undergraduate.

You can help Chi Phi by recommending prospective members from your home community. Send the leads in now. Receipt of information on prospective candidates by the chapters, prior to the closing of school in June, enables the chapter to establish summer contact in many instances.

The alumnus can do more than furnish leads. He can talk to the candidate and his parents on the merits of fraternity affiliation, show him copies of the Chakett, and in other ways generally encourage him towards CHI PHI.

Use the recommendation form on this page. Send it to the Office of the Council, 308 Mark Building, Atlanta 3, Georgia, or to the chapter. The chapter addresses are listed on page 24. Between June 1st and August 31st send all leads to the Council's office and they will be forwarded to the appropriate rushing chairman.
