LET'S TALK IT OVER...

TWO NEW COLONIES TO BE ESTABLISHED

THE UNIVERSITY of Tennessee and Miami University (Ohio) will be the site of new colonies in September.

Nine men have agreed to form a Colony at Miami University, known to fraternity men everywhere as the home of the Miami Triad. The Triad consisting of Sigma Chi, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta were all founded at Miami which is located in the charming southwestern Ohio community of Oxford. Phi Kappa Tau was also founded at Miami. All but Sigma Chi have their national headquarters in Oxford.

Through the efforts of William Jeckell, Iota '34, James Martin, Alpha Chi '32, and Henry C. Peterson, Iota '38 and the members of the Chi Phi Club of Cincinnati a house has been secured for one year. On September 6, 1967 six of the nine founding members will move into the quarters and the Colony will officially be under way.

The University of Tennessee will be colonized by one or more Chi Phi's who have volunteered to transfer to Tennessee for the fall quarter 1967. The colonizers will organize a rush program designed to recruit members from both the class of '71 and the upper classes to form the colony nucleus.

The administration of the University and the Tennessee IFC have thoughtfully and energetically endeavored to keep the fraternity system's growth consistent with the rapid expansion of the Knoxville campus. Thirteen of the long established chapters recently moved into new chapter houses built on a tract set aside by the University. Most of the older houses vacated by the move have been purchased by the University, one of which will be leased and occupied by the Chi Phi Colony in September 1967.

PRESENT COLONIES SHOW PROGRESS

THE AUBURN COLONY needs only to meet the Auburn IFC grade point requirement to be eligible for chartering. It is hoped that this well organized and prosperous group will soon make their "mark" so that they can take their place on the chapter roll.

Present plans call for housing the Tulane Colony in a house well located on "Broadway Ave.," the Tulane fraternity row, by September. The Colony numbers approximately 25 men.

It is expected that the Florida State Colony, Tallahassee, Florida will be granted a charter in October. The University recently gave the Colony permission to apply to the Council for a charter.

The Colony was established in February 1965 and has made very satisfactory progress since its founding. It has over 20 members most of whom have been initiated by the University of Florida chapter.

A group of Tallahassee alumni headed by George Langford, Steve Watkins, Ryalls Lee, Lee Everhart and Frank Grahman formed Chakett, Inc. (FSU) which provided the colony with the house it presently occupies.

LOST ALUMNI FOUND

THE CALL FOR HELP in the "lost" alumni department of the February Chakett brought volumes of mail. The announcement of a "directory" issue of the Chakett in September stimulated some of the response. Do we have your correct address? The directory issue goes to the printer in May. Better hurry!

BETTER NOW THAN LATER

UNDER the life time Chakett subscription program instituted by Congress in 1963, five dollars of each initiation fee is placed in a life subscription fund to be held intact by the Council. The income from the fund is annually transferred to the Chakett publication budget.

The fund will total approximately $12,000 by the end of this fiscal year. This year's income will cover about 3% of the cost of publishing the Chakett. It will take another 30 years to build a fund of sufficient size to yield the income necessary to carry the full cost of the Chakett.

Too bad the program was not adopted many years ago.

Chi Phi Badge Created a Sensation for Eta in 1886

THE story of the birth of the Eta Chapter of Chi Phi is told in a series of articles on the Southern Order of Chi Phi by Brother Ethan Allen Weaver (Rho 1874), which appeared in the Chi Phi Chakett in November, 1893. He stated, "Eta chapter owes its origin indirectly to Delta (now Alpha) Chapter, and directly to the indefatigable efforts of Peter Wiltberger Meldrim, 1868, of Savannah, Georgia. Meldrim and King Wyllly, of Delta (both of Georgia) were intimate friends, the former a student at the University of Georgia, which then had about two hundred and fifty students, and one fraternity (Sigma Alpha Epsilon). At the instigation of Burnett and Adams, of Delta, Wyllly wrote to Meldrim on the subject of establishing Chi Phi at Athens, to which he responded early in November, 1866 . . . The Grand Chapter at Chapel Hill was at once requested to forward the constitution to Meldrim . . . by March 23rd, Meldrim and Donalson were actively at work; six men had been pledged and a room secured. April 17, 1867, Meldrim wrote to Busbee: "Donalson is with me tonight, and is talking about you. The time is 12 o'clock P.M. Last evening Chi Phi was organized. Seven members were present and two absent. Five new ones were elected, making our present membership (if the elected members accept) fourteen—and fourteen of the best men in the university." Thus, the Eta Chapter was established, with the following charter members: John Earnest Donalson, 1868; Henry Woodfin Grady, 1868; Louis Eatton Le Conte, 1868; Peter Wiltberger Meldrim, 1868; Jephtha Harris Rucker, 1868; Alexander Pratt Adams, 1869; Benjamin Harvey Hill, 1869; Robert Huger Johnston, 1870. Present day Chi Phis know descendants of many of these charter members, for example, Henry W. Grady of the Omega Chapter; Grady Black, Eta 1943; Benjamin Harvey Hill, Vice President, Citizens & Southern Bank. A number of members of the Adams family of Savannah have been Chi Phis, including Pratt Adams and John Adams.

In a letter to Frank Boland who composed the Fifty Year History of the Eta Chapter, 1917, Brother Donalson wrote on July 28, 1904, "At that time the S.A.E. had a chapter, and when we came out with our badges, I remember we created quite a sensation, and our members were the most popular young men in the college, the girls soon showed their partiality for Chi Phi badges. Our chapter room was over a store on Broad Street, not a great distance from the Phi Kappa hall. As a part of the literary exercises we established a debating club in our clubroom, but this only existed one or two meetings; the boys delivered themselves of their thunder in such stentorian terms as to reveal the existence and locality of our clubroom, which in those days was kept a profound secret."

Kappa Alpha was formed at Georgia in 1868. Frank Boland in his history states that "though many other Greek letter societies have been organized at various times, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and K.A. are probably the only ones which could ever be regarded as rivals of Chi Phi."

The charter members of Eta were responsible for the founding of two other chapters in Georgia, Kappa (now Gamma) at Emory College, and Iota at Mercer University.

The classic city of Athens has sheltered one Chi Phi convention—that of the Southern Order of the fraternity, in August, 1872. At this convention a committee, of which Meldrim was chairman and Pratt Adams a member, was appointed to confer with the Northern Chi Phi in regard to union.

In 1874, a new chancellor was appointed at the university, Dr. Henry H. Tucker. That same year the board of trustees adopted a rule requiring all students who matriculated at the university to sign a pledge that they would not join a fraternity while in college. The Eta chapter of Chi Phi, although in a prosperous condition, resolved to disband, and all the paraphernalia, which was at that time of the old Southern Order, together with the charter and records, were entrusted to the Kappa Chapter at Emory College. During the ensuing three years enrollment at the University dropped from 266 to 116.

In 1878, when Dr. Patrick H. Mell, was elected chancellor, the ban against fraternities was removed. During the four years of suspension, S.A.E. and Phi Delta Theta had remained at the university despite the pledge. In that year A.T.O. entered the university and K.A. and Chi Phi re-established their chapters. Eta's revival was largely due to the efforts of Brother R. G. Taylor, then residing in Athens, together with George Hodgson and Elijah Alexander Brown, class of 1879, an initiate of Oglethorpe Lambda. The paraphernalia was brought from the Gamma chapter at Emory University, then located in Oxford, Georgia, by carriage by three of the Gamma brothers. During this period the chapter officers included the "critic" or in the Southern Order lingo "curator umbrae" (curator of the shadow), so-called because his seat was so arranged that he sat in the shadow made by the presiding officer. The office of curator, a critic of the Southern Order was not abolished until 1885.

In the Fall of 1883, the chapter decided to move from Clayton Street. Brother Billups Phinzy fitted up a suite of three rooms on Broad Street and rented it to the chapter at a moderate sum. The suite consisted of an ante-room, a large meeting hall, and a room for the regular and other effects of the chapter. The removal occurred at midnight, the chief of police having ordered the street lamps lowered so the strange procession might not be easily observed.

In the Fall of 1885, all the Greek letter societies signed an agreement not to enter into any political combinations and later during the year the club rooms caught fire doing serious damage to the furniture, but not destroying any of the records. Brother Charles F. Rice, class of 1887, represented Eta at the annual convention in New York in November 1885, when a duplicate charter was granted to replace the one lost when the chapter disbanded in 1874.

The chapter, collectively and individually, devoted a great deal of attention to the young ladies in the late 1880's and there was spirited rivalry between the fraternities as to which could claim the largest number of select fair adherents. These tried to outdo each other in making banners and cushions and other decorations for the chapter rooms, while the fraternities reciprocated with much candy and fruit and with many flowers and gallant attentions.

In the year 1889-90 the chapter moved to rooms over Talmadge's hardware store on Clayton Street, which continued to be Eta's home until 1897 when the chapter house became a reality. That same year a feud developed with the S.A.E. Chapter arising out of the publication of an article entitled "The Initiation of Non-Collegians" in the Chi Phi Quarterly for July, 1889. As a result of the quarrel, Chi Phi, S.A.E. and K.A. were required to hold no more meetings until permission was given. The suspension of meetings was removed in April 1890.

In 1895 the chapters reported to have been "more extravagant than at any time in its history" and was lavish in its social entertainments, to the extent that $100 was spent on baskets of flowers, fruit and candy for the girls at the Lucy Cobb Institute. The principal of that school forbade the continuance of this custom the next year. This was the first year that the use of pins by the ladies was prohibited, Eta having voted against the change. In 1896, Eta adopted the new constitution of the fraternity. In the Fall of 1897, the chapter after many years' effort obtained a permanent chapter house. It was the Cobb residence on Hill Street which was leased and occupied by thirteen of the twenty active members. This was the year in which a member of the Georgia football team, Von Gammon, died as the result of a football game with the University of Virginia. Also Sphinx was organized. Of the eighteen alumni of the University chosen as honorary members at the time the club came into existence, six were members of the Eta chapter.

In September 1900, Eta moved into the old Home School building on Prince Avenue, one of the handsomest colonial homes in the city, which made excellent quarters for the chapter for the succeeding four years.

In 1903, the Omega chapter of Chi Phi, at the School of Technology was established through the efforts of the Brothers of the Eta and Gamma chapters and in particular the efforts of four Eta alumni, Frank R. Mitchell, 1898, A. Pratt Adams, 1899, Phinizy Calhoun, 1900, and Frank Boland, 1897. The charter members included Luther Zeigler Rosser, Jr. who subsequently gave years of faithful service as Grand Alpha and National Director. In 1904, the chapter leased the Lipscomb home on Milledge Avenue as its chapter house. In 1905, the chapter moved into a very desirable colonial home at the corner of Hancock and Pulaski, formerly the Goss Sanitarium. In 1905, the chancellor of the university, Walter Hill, Eta 1870, died and was succeeded by Brother David Crenshaw Barrow, Eta 1874.

On June 13, 1907, the charter of the Eta Trust Association was granted largely through the efforts of Brother Thomas Whipple Connally, Eta 1904, because of his experience at Yale with the Omicron Trust Association. The prime purpose of the association was to erect or purchase a chapter house for the active chapter.

An example of family connections of some brothers of that day is Joseph Emerson Brown, Eta 1911. He was the son of Governor Joseph M. Brown of the Lambda Chapter at Old Oglethorpe University, class of 1872, a cousin of two of the Boston family and of two Connallys and a nephew of E. A. and G. M. Brown of Eta. In 1910, the chapter occupied a house at the corner of Hull and Dougherty Streets. In 1911, the chapter occupied a house at 834 Prince Avenue, the last one to be rented. At this time Bob McWhorter was establishing his reputation in football and had the honor of being captain of both basketball and football teams for the following seasons.

At the tenth annual dinner of the Chi Phi Alumni Association of Atlanta, held at the Georgian Terrace Hotel on December 21, 1912, Governor Joseph M. Brown, Lambda 1872, presented a loving cup to Bob McWhorter as a tribute to his prowess in the athletic field, and Governor-elect John M. Slaton, Eta 1886, presented a cup to Tom Connally for his labors in behalf of the fraternity. In 1914, the chapter first occupied its own home bought by the Eta Trust Association for the sum of $7,500. It was a seventeen-room frame house, at 294 South Lumpkin Street, facing the college campus and next to the new Y.M.C.A. building.

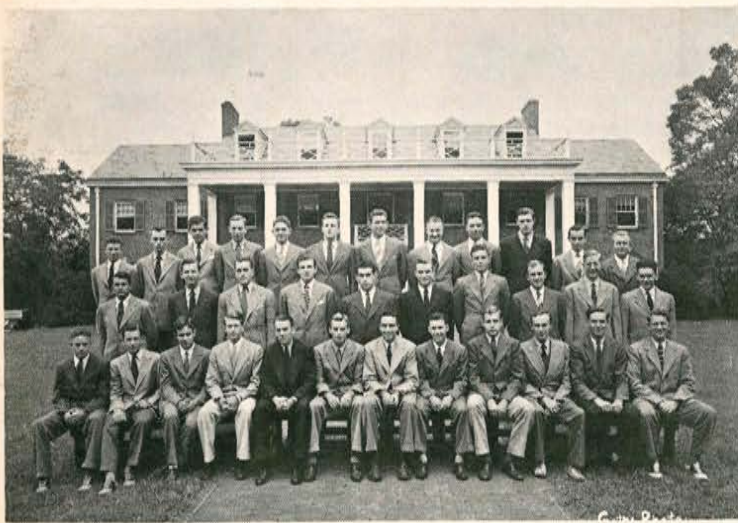

When the Chi Phi fraternity celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on May 17, 1917, four of the original charter members attended: Judge Ben Hill, Jephtha H. Rucker, John E. Donalson and General Peter W. Meldrim. Jephtha H. Rucker's widow served as house mother of the fraternity in the late 1950's. In celebration of the occasion a Alumni of Eta paid $7500 for house at left in 1914. It was used as Eta's home until 1928 when it was replaced by the present house (right).

Dramatic Growth:

Eta Before and After Pearl Harbor

Eta of Chi Phi in October of 1941

... and again in 1948

history of the chapter was published by Dr. Frank K. Boland consisting of approximately 150 pages.

In November 1921, a memorial tablet was erected by the Eta Trust Association to honor the one hundred and twenty-three members of the Eta chapter who served their country during World War I, and in memory of the five who died. They were Captain Henry Warren Brown, 1916; Major Frank Butner Clay, 1907; Captain Joseph Brown Connally, 1896; Lt. Clarence Hull Dobbs, 1908; Lt. Calvin George, 1912. On the University of Georgia football team that played in the Rosebowl on January 1, 1943, the Captain was Brother Haywood Allen and the field goal kicker was Leo Costa.

World War II saw the chapter closed. During 1943-44 the house was leased to the University and was used as a girls' dormitory.

In the Spring of 1944, Jesse G. Bowles '43 returned from the Army and found that he and Charles P. Eaves '42 were the only Chi Phis on the campus. They immediately sought and obtained possession of the house. By late fall 1944 Eta was once again able to stand on its own feet with nine new pledges. The first initiation following the reopening of the chapter took place on March 2, 1945. Those initiated were Charlie Holman, Lawton Shaw, Tommy Methvin, Garry Brisendine, Julian Hood, Ralph Nollner, Reid Moseley, Larry Raines, and Don Wells.

Eta celebrated its 80th Anniversary on April 19, 1947. The alumni and actives were luncheon guests of Jack Wilkins '20. Following lunch a plaque was dedicated to the 195 members of Eta who served in World War II, and in memory of the ten who gave their lives. Brother Rutherford Ellis, who made the dedication address, related that he had been present at the dedication of the plaque of World War I.

At a meeting of Eta Trust the same afternoon, the new University Housemother regulation was revealed and plans for an annex to house the housemother were discussed for the first time.

The present two-story red brick fraternity house occupied by the Eta chapter at 290 South Lumpkin Street was built in 1929 at a cost of approximately $35,000. The house was added onto in the middle fifties providing some additional sleeping accommodations and a room for the house mother.

The chapter has continued in the tradition of superior achievements through the present. Following in the ideals of their forefathers are many. In recent years Richard Trotter '55, and Richard Lea '63, were both presidents of Sphinx, the highest honor an individual can achieve at the University of Georgia. At present Eta is represented by Henry Lane '69, and Robert Williams '69, on the Student Senate. The fraternity has also had two Presidents of the Senior Class with Richard Lea and James Wimberly '65. Jim was also a Phi Beta Kappa. Another in a long list of outstanding brothers is the late Tucker Dorsey '66, who was President of X Club, Vice President of Blue Key, and Secretary of the Student Council.

In athletics there are just as many Chi Phis. Eta was represented by Michael Taylor '65, in basketball, Douglas Russell '66, was Captain of the Georgia Tennis team in 1966 and an SEC champion. Joseph Kunes '69, was number one on the Georgia Freshman Golf team, and Thomas Grey '68, represents Chi Phi on the Georgia Baseball team. Chi Phi has a long and impressive list of swimmers, including head coach, Richard Wammock class of 1963, Richard Bryant '67, two time SEC champion and captain of this year's team. Past captains include Michael Walsh '64, and Charles Gentry '64, both SEC champions. Roy Hall '66, was also an SEC champion. Other swimmers from the chapter are Cleveland Meredith '68, Robert Spanjer '68, Richard Dorschel '68, who is presently Freshman Coach, and John Cahall '69.

GEORGIA

—oldest charter in the Nation!

(Public Relations, University of Georgia)

THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA, rich in tradition, is the oldest chartered state university in the nation.

Shortly after the Declaration of Independence, a movement was begun in Georgia for a state institution of higher learning. In 1784, the General Assembly of Georgia set aside 40,000 acres of land to endow a college or a seminary of learning. On January 27, 1785, the University of Georgia known originally as the (Benjamin) Franklin College of Arts and Sciences—was incorporated by the Assembly.

The Board of Trustees held their first meeting in Augusta on February 13, 1786. They selected Abraham Baldwin, a native of Connecticut and a graduate of Yale University as the first president. Baldwin drafted the historic charter, patterned after that of his alma mater, making the University of Georgia not only the oldest chartered state university in the nation but also one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in the South.

When the University's founders were looking for a site for the institution, they came across a hill deep in Cherokee Indian territory overlooking the broad Oconee River. Because the hill boasted an excellent spring, a climate free from "harmful vapours", and was six miles removed from the "evils" of town life, they decided to risk the danger of an Indian uprising and looked no further.

They christened the hill "Athens" after its famous Greek forbear, another great university center, and predicted that from the hill "knowledge would flow down to the people."

No one knew as the charter was being drawn in 1785 that it would be 16 years before the University's doors could be opened to students. The State was convinced that the necessary funds could be raised through the leasing of land granted, but this operation took more time than had been anticipated. So the birth was not without the pain of delay.

Finally, in 1801, under the leadership of Josiah Meigs, president and sole faculty member, classes began. The first building was a log hut which cost about $200. Red Indians came to peep in the windows at the strange phenomenon of education in progress.

Meigs, past faculty member of Yale, patterned the curriculum after that of his alma mater and the core of it was classical. The original degree offered was a Bachelor of Arts with courses taught in Latin, Greek, mathematics, forensic disputation, and natural history. A typical set of courses for a junior would be astronomy, determination of geographic longitudes and latitudes by observations of eclipses and by the use of a celestial globe, natural and experimental philosophy, botany, chemistry, logic, composition, and Priestly's lectures on history.

The trustees had envisioned the University as a "full and compleat seat of learning," and in 1859, after slow progress to that point, expansion began. The administrators wanted to increase the University's popularity by offering courses of a semi-professional and vocational type. Degrees other than the Bachelor of Arts were started including the Bachelor of Science and the degree in Civil Engineering. The Lumpkin Law School was made a part of the University that year.

Students were put on their honor to behave, replacing faculty supervision. The lecture method of teaching replaced the use of textbooks, and elective courses were offered. The two literary and debate societies of Demosthenian and Phi Kappa, founded in the institution's early years, flourished and took many of the students' waking hours to achieve their purpose of "the promotion of extemporaneous speaking." "All-day-Saturday-and-half-the-night-meetings" were held by students who debated the weightiest subjects of the century.

The doors of the University were shut for three years during the War Between the States. Then, following that conflict, an order to cut off funds was issued by the Reconstruction military commander because a student giving the 1867 commencement address denounced the Republican party. Only appeals to President Johnson and General Grant got the order rescinded.

The problem of admission of women to the University which had previously split the Board into warring factions was resolved in 1918 when women were admitted to the College of Education. (Now women students comprise about one third of the student body).

The first two decades of this century were also times of rapid proliferation of colleges and schools within the University. There are twelve today: Arts and Sciences (1801); Law (1859); Pharmacy (1903); Agriculture (1906); Forestry (1906); Education (1908); Graduate (1910); Business Administration (1912); Journalism (1915); Home Economics (1933); Veterinary Medicine (1946); and Social Work (1964).

The first five years of the 1950s were years of examination, appraisal, and planning. A library was dedicated, and a $3.5 million grant was received from the Kellogg Foundation to stimulate and expand a continuing education program. The Center for Continuing Education, completed 10 years ago this year, offers home study courses, facilities for short courses, institutes, and seminars and TV and film studios, and is a pacesetter for the nation in this field.

The Sapelo Island Marine Institute was begun in 1953. Today ranked with other marine facilities in the nation, it is tenth in research dollars and seventh in number of personnel.

The second half of the 1950s was a time of building expansion. The $13 million science center was dedicated and occupied in 1960. The six-unit structure sprawls over the middle campus and accommodates physics, chemistry, mathematics, geography, geology, biological sciences, food technology, and livestock-poultry. Adjacent to the science center complex are newer buildings for pharmacy and agricultural engineering.

The establishment eight years ago of eight Alumni Foundation Distinguished Professorships was one step in a program which has brought scholars of national and international reputation to the campus, increasing the University's supply of faculty with imagination, experience, and vision. Percentages of faculty with the advanced degree have soared in recent years and graduate programs of teaching, have been strengthened to supply more of the same. The output increased in the fifteen years from three or four Ph.D.s per year graduated to 68 in the calendar year 1966.

The last seven years for the University have been described as the University's time of introduction into "the charmed circle of southern institutions destined for national status" with a rapid and steady acceleration in many areas.

Selectivity of students as well as faculty has increased. Since the introduction of the Scholastic Achievement Tests several years ago, incoming freshmen scores have risen each year. According to the President, they seem more intelligent and more demanding of a fine education and increased resources in their university. Students today work toward Doctor of Philosophy degrees in 30 areas; Doctor of Education; Masters Degrees in 50 areas; and baccalaureate degrees in 100 major areas of study.

Some two dozen doctoral programs have been approved in the last fifteen years. In each case, careful planning and evaluation of strength and resources preceded approval. Departments offering new degrees have moved rapidly in developing the depth of their programs.

Last year, more than $15 million was budgeted for research. Such progress has placed the University in favorable ranking with institutions throughout the nation. In a survey conducted by Industrial Research magazine, the University ranks fourth in dollar volume for research among the 42 institutions in the Southern Regional Education Board area and 14th among 49 land-grant universities in the United States.

It is in the last 15 years of the University's history that high-powered, accelerated, programs of expansion have brought it to the threshold of national eminence. The recent expansions in many directions have charted its courses for the future and brought it stature as a regional leader.

The simple instruction for 20 by one has grown into instruction for nearly 15,000 by 900. The traditional goals of land-grant institutions, instruction, research and service have provided guidelines for administrative alignment and today there are separate vice presidents for each area. The $200 log hut has become a $100-million plant of buildings and equipment. While the Red Indians are gone, tourists, visiting scholars, distinguished statesmen, and persons from every walk of life come to visit.

In the last five years, a research park has been set aside adjacent to the South Campus. For several years now, the University has had the most powerful computing complex of any southern university. The $4 million Center is one of the largest in the country outside federal installations. Used as both a tool for research and for research per se, it is rapidly outgrowing its physical plant. To accommodate expansion far into the future, it will be one of the operations housed in the $6 million Graduate Studies Research Center of offices, classrooms, and labs now under construction.

Service, the third major responsibility of the university, long a part of its program, became coordinated under the new Vice President for Services, an office created in 1965 due to increasingly complex services demanded by the people of the state. To every nook and cranny of the state go members of the faculty, publications, and ideas from the University to help build a better Georgia. The University's seven major services which have strengthened and expanded over the past years are: Georgia Center for Continuing Education Cooperative Extension Service; Institute of Community and Area Development; Institute of Government; and services of the college of Business Administration, College of Education, and School of Law.

Eta Contributes to Georgia Public Life

By BATES BLOCK, Gamma 40, Eta '43

THE Eta Chapter of Chi Phi includes three (3) governors of the State of Georgia, the oldest was Governor Nathaniel Edwin Harris, Eta Class of 1870, who was governor of Georgia from 1915 to 1917. He was preceded in office by his younger fraternity brother John Marshall Slaton, Eta Class of 1886, who was acting governor of Georgia 1911 and 1912, and governor 1913 to 1915. More recent times Carl Sanders, Eta Class of 1947, served from 1963 to 1967.

The Eta Chapter of Chi Phi has also supplied three (3) chancellors for the University. Walter Barnard Hill was the president of the Georgia Bar Association in 1884 and served as chancellor of the University of Georgia from 1899 to 1905. He was a classmate of Governor Harris and a member of the Eta Chapter Class of 1870. Chancellor Hill was succeeded by David Crenshaw Barrow as Chancellor of the University of Georgia, Eta Class of 1874 and served until 1925. The most recent Eta brother to be chancellor of the University System was Harman White Caldwell, Eta Class of 1920 who served as Dean of the Lumpkin School of Law before becoming president of the University of Georgia and then chancellor in serving until 1966.

Probably the best known member of the Chi Phi Fraternity from the Eta Chapter has been Henry W. Grady, one of our charter members and a member of the class of 1868, having served as editor of the Atlanta Constitution and serving as Grand Alpha of the Fraternity after the union of northern and southern orders, serving during 1882 and 1883. In more recent times Jack Spalding, Eta class of 1936 is serving as editor of the Atlanta Journal.

The Eta Chapter has furnished a number of distinguished members of the Bar. The "Father of Chi Phi in Georgia", Peter W. He was Judge of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. Nash R. Broyles became a Judge of the Georgia Court of Appeals in 1914 and was elected Chief Judge in 1919. Florida Chapter Wins S.E. Chi Phi Basketball Title

By Dan McLaughlin, Eta '48

IT WAS Florida 63-North Carolina 51 in the finals of the 2nd Annual Chi Phi Southeastern Basketball Tournament!

The Gators of Theta-Delta, sparked by tournament MVP Stephen R. Kaufmann, '68 streaked to an early lead, dropped behind at half-time, surged back with a 38-point 2nd half to win the game, the Championship and the coveted John E. Oliver Award Trophy.

The Alpha-Alfa Tarheels, who had played beautiful basketball throughout the 2-day competition, took runner-up honors and the Bates Block Trophy.

As the tournament's most valuable player (80 points in 3 games) Florida's Kaufmann was awarded the MVP Trophy donated by Brother Rankin Smith, Gamma '46- Eta '49, owner of the Atlanta Falcons of the National Professional Football League.

The Florida and North Carolina teams had reached the tournament summit as a result of impressive wins in the opening-round and semi-finals of the 8-team intra-fraternity battle-royal held February 25-26 in Atlanta.

Tournament participants included chapter teams from Alabama, Emory, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, and North Carolina plus teams from the Auburn and Florida State colonies. All the action took place at the Lovett School Gym before a rafter-rattling audience of actives, alumni and friends of Chi Phi, who saw good basketball, some not-so-good basketball, but enough competition, to keep them cheering consistently throughout the 8-game family squabble.

In the curtain-raiser on Saturday North Carolina edged the Georgia Bulldogs of Eta in a 67-65 thriller. Florida took the Crimson Tide of Tau 69-43, and the Emory Gammas beat a game under-manned Florida State Colony 74-

24. Georgia Tech's Omegas defeated Auburn Colony 69-40 to end the opening round.

In semi-finals action, it was Florida over Georgia Tech 86-80 and North Carolina over Emory 73-50 setting the stage for the Sunday showdown between the Gators and the Tar Heels.

In a crowd-pleasing added attraction, immediately preceding the tournament finals, the alumni All Stars (Dan Plaster, Eta '51; Jack Taylor, Zeta Delta '57; Tax Anderson, Omega '61; Tommy Tillman, Omega '52 Gamma '53 Frank Owens, Jr., Omega '49; John Grant, III, Omega '49 Gamma '49; Jerry Wright, Omega '58; P. B. Burdett, Eta '56; and Charles H. Cox, Omega '52) took the floor against a team of undergrad All-Stars. The alums, a mixture of aging basketeers of yesteryear and recently-graduated brothers in varying degrees of physical readiness, used frequent substitution (possibly averting a coronary or two) and a style of play resembling the "stall" to keep the score close; losing 26-32. The undergrad quintet (best players from eliminated teams) was paced by Terry H. Saxon '68 of Gamma, Charles B. Troutman '69 of Omega, and Allen B. Posniak '69 of Auburn, each of whom accounted for 8 points.

Social highlight of the tournament weekend was the party Saturday night at the Georgia National Guard Hangar, Fulton County Airport. This event, sponsored by the Omega Chapter of Georgia Tech, was complete with orchestra and (thanks to Brother Billy Caye, Omega '67) dates for all visiting brothers.

Credit for the success of the 1967 Tournament must go to the dozens of Atlanta Area Alumni and the Emory and Tech Chapters who arranged and supported this fraternal event.

Plans for 1968 are already underway with the possibility of a 10-team competition and hopes for an even greater "gathering of brothers" to cheer them on.

NEWS OF THE CHAPTERS

BETA

FOR THREE days last fall the front yard of the Beta Chapter house displayed a sign proclaiming "BEST FRATERNITY". Indeed, we had the best fraternity lawn in the Neighborhood Association garden contest. We have tried to let that set the tenor for the year.

We initiated fifteen new men in February, adding strength to the chapter. We also gained another pledge at the start of the second term. Academically, the chapter had a 3.9 (out of 5.0) for the first term. The chapter had challenged the pledges to a cume contest for a half keg. We almost lost to the pledge class, which came in with a 3.88. We expect to be in high standing among living groups on campus.

The new dining room chairs have arrived—and they make a big improvement in the appearance of the dining room. They were made possible by the bequest to the chapter by brother Charles P. Moat, class of '96. We are looking forward to replacing some rugs and buying new furniture for the commons rooms. Plans have been made for the social season. The Bohemian Ball will be bigger than ever this year, with a Hillbilly theme—featuring a still and a feud. Again this year we will entertain the neighbors for tea before our spring semiformal.

The softball and track teams are about to start working out in preparation for (we hope) another successful season.

There is a great deal of enthusiasm in the house, and it promises a very good term—James L. Kirtley, Jr., Alpha.

CHI

ON APRIL 8-9 Dartmouth College initiated its first spring rush (preliminary to fall rush), and I am proud to say that of the twenty-four fraternities on Campus Chi Phi had the third highest turnout (156). This visitation total is visible proof of the added enthusiasm the brothers are showing toward rush. Regatta weekend is April 22-23 and we plan to have two house bands and a party along the Connecticut River. (The latter is a very good, subtle rushing tactic.)

Our annual Fathers' Weekend is May 13-14. Since Chi Phi has several brothers playing on the presently undefeated, Rugby "A" team, we—the brotherhood and their fathers—plan to watch the "A" game en masse. On that same evening we expect to show the Dartmouth Football Highlight films of 1966 or 1965 in which two Chi Phis starred, and as usual to tap a keg of beer.

The precedent-making Faculty Cook-out is again planned for late May. We received many rewarding compliments after last year's informal barbecue.

Chi Phi came out triumphant in the semi-finals of the fraternity wrestling matches, placing five brothers in the finals. This number of finalists surpasses that of any other house, and make the prospects of a College championship very optimistic.

All in all, this spring term at Chi Phi and Dartmouth has been (and will continue to be) the best of my three years at the Big Green. — George Robert Spivey, Gamma

ZETA DELTA

WE CONCLUDED a successful fall semester with the initiation of 22 new brothers. The chapter now consists of 50 active brothers and 6 pledges.

The Spring semester began successfully with a fine second place finish out of 22 fraternities in the Winter Weekend activities. The judging was based on over-all spirit, the building of a snow display and the winter olympics. Dennis Reilly, Delta, was chosen Winter Weekend chairman by the Board of Governors, and the Queen's Coffee was held at the chapter house for the choice of the Winter Weekend Queen. Also, Dave LaLima was a finalist in the King contest.

The UConn basketball team, 1966-1967 Yankee Conference Champions, which played Boston College in the first round of the NCAA consisted of 5 Chi Phis, Ron Ritter, Dick Thompson, Bill Holowaty, Fred Malan, and Jack Melen.

Brother Matt Stackpole was recently elected President of the Associated Student Government. Matt is President of the Junior Class and was also Sophomore Class President. For the first time in the history of UConn a student has been chosen to represent the students on the Faculty Senate. Pete Staaterman was chosen for the position on this policy formulating committee and is, also, chairman of the University Reform Committee which initiates innovations in the academic structure. Finally, Dave Seaman has been elected Editor of the Year Book.—Michael Plis, Zeta.

THETA DELTA

THETA DELTA proudly started off the Winter Trimester at Florida by initiating the largest group of men in the chapter's history, twenty-four in number. Bob Parsons was given an award for the best pledge of last trimester, while the rest of January was spent in rush, which netted 11 more members for the chapter. The active membership now stands near 75 men.

Scholarship found us finishing in the top ten fraternities on campus, based on overall grade point average.

Bob Wattles was elected the sophomore Honor Court Justice in campus wide elections. A number of men were appointed to IFC Committees. They are: Jim Wolfe-Scholarship; Lofton Westmoreland-Rush; and Tom Watkins-Publicity. Bo Quintana was initiated into Arnold Air Society (AF-ROTC) and George Franks was initiated into the Billy Mitchell Drill Team (AF-ROTC). Jim Dickenson was one of five recipients of IFC scholarships.

A trip to Atlanta for the Chi Phi Southeastern Regional Basketball Tournament netted Theta Delta both the championship award and the award for the most valuable player. Defeating high-caliber teams from Georgia Tech, Alabama, and North Carolina, the team, consisting of Steve Kaufmann, Bob Wattles, Bob Reed, Jim Dickenson, Jim Last, Bill Carter, and Mike Allison, took the first place trophy and returned home to maintain an untarnished record in inter-fraternity basketball. Steve Kaufmann was awarded the tournament's Most Valuable Player Award.—Walt Woodard, Zeta

KAPPA DELTA

FALL RUSH at the University of Rochester saw the pledging of 16 men to Kappa Delta. Approximately 50 per cent of the freshman men pledged fraternities, an increase of several per cent over last year. Kappa Delta also pledged

CHAPTER NEWS

3 more men this spring.

The Chi Phis continued to distinguish themselves on campus this year. As in the past, most of the technical work for campus theatrical productions is being done by Chi Phis. In athletics, we are represented on several Varsity and Frosh teams, while in Intramural Athletics, we fielded teams in basketball and squash competition, one of which, Chi Phi "A" in squash, took first place. We were also recognized for the service aspect of our pledge program for the work done by the pledges in helping to repaint a room at a local settlement house.

The Chapter's lounge was improved with the addition of a new television, and the pledge class presented the Chapter with a coffee table, an end table, and two bar stools which they had assembled and finished as a pledge project.

Projects currently underway are: A revision of the By-laws with the aim of removing ambiguities and to bring them in line with current Chapter philosophy; and the formation of an alumni file for the purpose of improving communication with all alumni of Kappa Delta and also with Chi Phis of all chapters living in the Rochester area.—Richard A. Wilkes, Zeta.

initiated into our brotherhood on February 26, making it the largest initiation class in Iota Delta's history. The formation of the spring pledge class is the major concern presently, 11 men being pledged so far with rush ending March 10.

The house grade average has taken some mighty jumps in the last three semesters, going from 28th to 18th to 9th last semester out of the 32 fraternities on campus.

America's "Greatest College Weekend" revolving around the annual "Litchie 500" bicycle race, is beginning to take shape, with intensive practice having already begun for the May 13 race. Coached by brother Mark Asmar, Brothers Gunnar Richardson, Phil King, Jim Miner, Tom Smart, Mike Mullinix, Larry Flaten, and pledge Chip DeNigris are all vying for the four race day riding positions.

Chapter advisor Joe Goeller '64 has split Indiana into seven districts, with alumni director and chapter director in each region. The purpose is to allow the alumni to take a more active interest in the chapter's affairs, with a better opportunity to assist in rush, have regional meetings, etc. There is an all-out effort to build an even better Chi Phi chapter at Indiana University.—David Estes, Zeta.

TAU DELTA

TAU DELTA's high scholastic ability was shown by a 2.53 G.P.A. for Fall term which placed us third among fraternities.

ties and sixth in all men's organizations. This standing is the result of our study table program which encourages all members to concentrate on their studies.

Four brothers have been active in Interfraternity Council activities this past year. Brother Michael Drennan is chairman of College Bowl—a program similar to the General Electric College Bowl. Each week a half-hour program is broadcast on the University's closed circuit television system. Brother Robert Shelton is chairman of the Northwest Regional Conference for representatives from Washington, Idaho, and Oregon. The major task of Brother Phil Seeley, chairman of I. F. C. Publications, is the edition of a monthly newspaper, the Greek Way. Brother Michael Blackaby is chairman of the annual I. F. C. Awards Banquet.

In intramural sports, Tau Delta has made a fine showing this term. The basketball team consisting of Brothers Fatterson, Seeley, Shelton, Catherwood, Fukuda and Blackaby placed first in our league and, now, will enter the finals. The bowling team is leading its league and all university teams in total pins and has a 22½-11½ league record. After one more match the team—Blackaby, Catherwood, Efaw, Patterson, and Miller—will compete in the final tournament for league champions—Michael K. Blackaby, Zeta.

RHO IOTA KAPPA

DURING THE fall semester PIK broke long standing traditions in intramural football by upsetting five time winner Sigma Chi for the right to the University Championship. This performance plus success in basketball has placed the Chi Phi chapter in the number one intramural spot at the University of Rhode Island. It is quite possible that if this athletic success continues PIK will be able to add the All University Intramural Trophy to its growing collection.

Athletics as well as scholastic endeavors have always been an essential part of the Rho Iota Kappa chapter and this year is no exception. Chi Phi, URI, has placed men on the rosters of varsity baseball, soccer, crew and Rugby and the freshmen pledge class will definitely carry on this tradition with baseball and football players as well as trackmen.

Elections were held at the beginning of the spring semester in which the following were placed in office: Alpha—Paul Lane, Beta—David Bettencourt, Gamma—Ralph Malafrente, Delta—Rush Clark, Epsilon—Thomas Teliska, Zeta—Donald Arabian, Steward—Chuck Gates, Pledge Master—Richard Mandeville, Rush Chairman—Alan Spachman and John Waddington.

The new officers are predominately sophomores which proves very bene-official in developing administrators in the years ahead. Also at the beginning of the Spring Semester the freshman class determined its fraternity preferences. Rho Iota Kappa took in sixteen pledges representing a wide variety of interest and inclinations. The pledge training will last for approximately one and a half semesters, hopefully leading all to brotherization.

Presently, Rho Iota Kappa is preparing plans for extensive renovations.

These well be carried out this summer in hopes of maintaining the beauty of the oldest fraternity house still standing on the University of Rhode Island Campus. The present Chi Phi house was built in 1928, then an addition, to accommodate a growing brotherhood, was added in 1964. The newly planned renovations will help to maintain the present quality and beauty which traditionally has been connected with the PIK house.—Donald Arabian, Zeta.
