LET'S TALK
IT OVER...

JUNE AND JULY are always nice months around the Council office, because we receive so many gratifying letters. On the facing page you will note seven letters from Brothers who have been Chi Phis for over fifty years. Undergraduates who question the value of fraternity membership might pause to reflect on Brother James Landauer's, Chi '23 (Dart.) well phrased, "thank you and Chi Phi for reminding me of the pleasures I have had in being a member".

Letters in the same vein from Brothers Kent O. Seymour, Lambda (U. of Cal.) and Oscar R. Heckenson, Chi '23 (Dart.) remind us that even though their respective chapters are no longer in existence, that they both look forward to the possible restoration of chapters at Cal and Dartmouth. Brother Seymour puts it thusly, "It is unfortunate that the Lambda Chapter has gone the way of all flesh, but those of us in the alumni, who have had a continuing association with the chapter, look forward to the day when we can bring it back to a full, active and vibrant part of campus life at the U. of California."

Equally gratifying are the letters from new Chi Phi dads, like Frank Moore, Eta '58 (U. of Ga.). Brother Moore writes, "Thank you very much for the pledge pin for my son, Henry Wofford Moore. It was quite a thrill for me and my wife to receive it in the mail as she has four Chi Phis in her family.

"I read the CHAKETT with interest and have confidence that the fraternity system will survive the revolutionary changes that are taking place on campus by supporting the scholarship rather than frolicship.

"Being a Chi Phi has been one of the most meaningful experiences in my life and receiving the pin in the mail today makes it even more worthwhile".

At a point in time when many alumni could easily, "say the hell with it", we have continued expressions of faith and confidence from alumni like Frank Moore's, "I . . . have confidence that the fraternity system will survive the revolutionary changes taking place on campus."

As a new academic year—a year of challenge—opens, we have confidence for CHI PHI.

Dear Brother Gladfelter:

While it came as a shock, it was a pleasant one. Your fiftieth anniversary badge and poetry were very much enjoyed and appreciated.

It is a very nice custom and gesture and I wish to thank you and Chi Phi for reminding me of the pleasures I have had in being a member.

With kind personal regards.

Dear Brother Gladfelter:

There are times when words that truly express one's thoughts are hard to come by. Yet I want you to know that your letter and the 50 year badge bring back vividly the solemnity and pride I experienced of Chi Phi.

I, along with many other Chi alumni, tried in vain to dissuade and stop that chapter from taking the foolish step of severing its affiliation with the Chi Phi Fraternity. I still have hopes that the Chi Chapter may be activated again in the not too distant future.

Will you please extend to the Council of the Chi Phi Fraternity my sincere thanks and appreciation for your timely and touching remembrance. Such an expression of warmth and thoughtfulness can make me prouder than ever to be a member of Chi Phi.

Dear Brother Gladfelter,

I wish to acknowledge your letter of June 2, 1970 and express my sincere appreciation to you and The Council of Chi Phi for the beautiful 50-year gold button forwarded to me. It was a very pleasant surprise for years since I entered the University of California and of being initiated into the Lambda Chapter of Chi Phi. The life time associations and friendships made there along with the many pleasant experiences shall always hold a warm place in my memories and continually remind me of a very pleasant period of my life. I shall always cherish your recognition.

It is unfortunate that the Lambda Chapter has gone the way of all flesh but those of us in the alumni, who have had a continuing association with the chapter, look forward to the day when we can bring it back to a full, active and vibrant part of the campus life at the University of California.

Congress 1970

A Summary Report

OVER 100 DELEGATES from 45 chapters and 15 chartered alumni associations met in Atlanta over the long Labor Day weekend.

Some important amendments to the Constitution and By-laws of the fraternity were enacted. A number of Committees were established to collect, review, analyze, and finally, recommend needed changes in the Constitution and By-laws, and the Three Star (Ritual) Book.

The Committees to be appointed, and a brief resume of some of the important items of legislation enacted follows. A detailed Record of Congress will be distributed to all chapters by November 1, 1970.

Charlie Strange, Th'11, O'13, from Florida, intently makes a point. He attended 1908 Congress in Atlanta.

Brother Carl Sanders, H'45, candidate for Georgia governor, spoke at a special Congress luncheon.

● Congress will be held annually rather than biennially, effective with the 1971 Congress.

● The Court of Council shall have the right to summon, try and expel a member of the fraternity.

● The summer placement program shall be continued with the job opportunity list mailed to each chapter no later than March 1st of each year.

● Two undergraduates shall be appointed to the Council this year. The Council will consist of ten members, two of which shall be undergraduates.

● The new Leadership Development program was commended and it is to be continued.

● A committee to review the ritual, make suggested changes and report to the next Congress, while confirming the essential substance of the present ritual.

● Council was given the authority to establish a Chi Phi House Corporation with rights and privileges to: obtain capital funds, and to purchase, accept and hold legal title on land and the chapter houses located thereon.

● The Grand Alpha was instructed to appoint a committee to study the existing membership requirement contained in the Constitution and amended by the 1970 Congress. The committee will be charged with "consideration of all ramifications of the new membership requirement of the Constitution, By-laws, Ritual, past policy, and present necessities."

● The Look Forward Committee was continued and instructed to study the Constitution and By-laws and recommend changes to the 1971 Congress in line with current campus developments, and the changing student life styles.

● Establish a Sesquicentennial Commission to develop plans for recognizing Chi Phi's 150th Anniversary in 1974.

A leadership conference preceding the Congress was conducted at Oglethorpe University by Georgia State University, Atlanta, professors. Here are some of the conferees back in school.

New House At Theta Delta

By BOB CODY, ThD '40

THETA DELTA'S NEW CHAPTER HOUSE located at One Fraternity Row is the University of Florida's finest, say the alumni who built it and the actives who have lived in it since mid-March 1970, moving in just 35 years after the chapter was installed in February 1935.

A durably-built blend of contemporary and traditional architecture, the new house was designed by Joel W. Savers, Th D '48, to contrast with the "Holiday Inn" designs and construction of most other fraternity houses on the campus.

"This will still be a fine house 40 years from now," says Arch R. Updike, Jr., Th D '43, Chairman of the Theta Delta House Committee. "We wanted a house which could be periodically remodeled in the future, and this is what we have built. It won't get out of date."

The fireproof, two-story house looks impressive and yet comfortable at the same time. The outside finish is a textured brick which fits well into the tree-shaded lot, largest on the row.

The house provides roomy sleeping-study quarters for 44 actives, and plenty of living area besides: library, living room, dining room, TV room, chapter room, office, house mother's apartment, foyers upstairs and down, plus a backyard terrace adjoining the downstairs dining room where dances and parties will be held.

Tremendous effort was required by both alumni and actives to make the new house a reality, with an already big job becoming bigger and bigger as interest rates and construction costs soared.

Timely help from the national fraternity and the Chi Phi Educational Trust were essential. We had hoped not to have to burden them, but when the chips were down and we had to have aid, they came through magnificently.

History of House Campaign

ALTHOUGH a lot on fraternity row was bought by Chi Phi shortly after World War, II, while the chapter was at University Avenue and 7th (later 10th) Street, it was later sold back to the University to help finance the purchase of the house at 1225 S.W. Second Avenue where the chapter was located from the early '50's through 1968-69.

The serious effort to build a new house really had its genesis in the late 1950's when $22,000 in first mortgage bonds were sold to alumni to allow consolidation and amortization of the existing mortgages.

This program was initiated by Dr. Howard V. Weems, Jr., G '44, Th D '48, who was then president of the Florida Chi Phi Association. A graduate student, John Blackburn, Th D '56, devised the financial repayment schedule. The writer headed up the successful campaign to sell the bonds.

It was understood that refinancing of the house would lead to a continuing effort to build. However, near-disaster intervened. Through poor management, the Chapter found itself owing over $6,000 in the fall of 1961. Since alumni had just been tapped for bond purchases, it was not possible to ask them to bail out the active chapter. So the chapter did it itself, in a long struggle which ended in early 1966, aided greatly by Col. Thomas A. Graham, Th D '37, Chapter Adviser, and the dedicated house mother, Mrs. Dorothy Langdon.

Then the chapter said: "How about that new house? When will we get it?"

Gray C. Ramsaur, Th D '38, became chairman of a New House Committee, and efforts began in the summer of 1966 to raise the money needed to build a $200,000 house on the existing property, no lots being then available on fraternity row. $10,000 was raised during that summer, far short of enough to build with. The following summer Ramsaur called his committee together with the addition of Brother Updike: Brothers, the Rev. Jack Pace, Th D '40 (also Grand Beta), Joel Savers, Th D '48, Ralph Hollister, Th D '44 and the writer.

Brother Updike said: "Let's get a professional fundraiser and get the job done." Carlyle Sweet of Fort Lauderdale was hired, and a full August-September schedule of meetings and trips followed, with the result that over $75,000 had been committed, mostly in three-year pledges, by mid-fall.

Costs sky-rocketed during the next two years, and goals had to constantly be revised upward. (Final cost is about $350,000). Meanwhile, Lot One became available on fraternity row, and the existing property was put up for sale. Sale of the old house was finalized in June 1969, a contract was let in August for construction, the chapter rented apartments for the Fall and Winter quarters, and the House was occupied, almost finished, in time for the Spring quarter of 1970.

One key job, working out a rental contract with the active chapter, was the accomplishment of Gary Simons, Th D '64, Ocala, attorney and national counselor to the three Florida chapters.

Alumni financial support has been phenomenal. As of July 1, 1970, over $100,000 in donations had been received, and there remained $27,000 in pledges to be collected.

Even with this, however, and the proceeds from sale of the old house, debt will exceed the chapter's ability to repay it for a number of years, and alumni will have to contribute the difference. As other campus rents rise, however, the chapter will accept a higher rental, and eventually payments will become adequate to pay all costs and hopefully build up a reserve for future remodeling. Internal debt to the Ed Trust and two alumni is involved. Chapter rents will pay the basic mortgage.

Meanwhile, money-raising will continue indefinitely. Donations of $300.00 for membership in an "Order of Theta Delta" will be sought from former and future graduates. To date, gifts have been received from about one-fourth of Theta Delta's 500 living alumni, and several dozen alumni of other chapters living in Florida have also contributed.

Active Chapter Strong Contributor

THE JOB of the active chapter was primarily to keep itself strong and solvent during the period when alumni effort was concentrated on raising funds. This they have done, and in addition have taken on financial responsibility for some $7,000.00 worth of costs which alumni were unable to pay, principally furnishings.

For the first time in history, Theta Delta led all fraternities in scholarship during the year 1968-69. In both 1968-69 and 1969-70 they won their league in intramurals, another first for the chapter—also winning the President's Cup by accumulating more points than any fraternity in either league.

They didn't neglect their brotherhood, either, so they were able to put this sign up on the property during the building period:

"Chi Phi—Number One in Scholarship. Number One in Intramurals. Number One in Brotherhood. Number One Fraternity row."

Right after the Korean War veterans began returning, the old Beta House at 1225 SW Second Avenue pictured above was bought and remodeled for Chi Phi. Here the chapter lived until June 1969, when it was sold and later demolished, the chapter living in apartments in "Sin City"—a Gainesville apartment complex—until the third quarter of the 1969-70 school year, when the new house at Number One Fraternity Row was occupied.

When Theta Delta Chapter was installed, Alpha Delta local had secured this attractive house at the corner of what is now University Avenue and 10th Street. The chapter occupied this until the early 50s, punctuated only by a fire which forced evacuation for the last half of the 1937-38 school year. Miss Georgia Seagle made an unoccupied house she owned available free at the time.

"Name Lots Of Names"

BROTHER GLADFELTER told the writer: "Use lots of names." The trouble is, there are too many who played major parts in the new Theta Delta House, to name some, without omitting others whose help has also been important. For the omissions, pardon us in advance!

Two alumni of the Alpha Delta Fraternity, the local which became Chi Phi, have been Theta Delta mainstays throughout its existence, and in the forefront in the new house campaign, both in contributions and in counsel. Both outstanding lawyers, they are James D. Bruton, Jr., Th D '30, Plant City, and William P. Simmons, Th D '34, Miami.

Franklin G. Russell, O '16 and Ivy H. Smith, Ome '20, both of Jacksonville, were the two alumni of other chapters who were among those contributing $2,500 or more to the new Theta Delta House.

Thomas F. Fleming, Jr., Th D'38, Boca Raton banker and farmer, and Paul L. E. Helliwell, Th D'38, Miami attorney-financier (now a Trustee of the Chi Phi Educational Trust) both wrote letters on their business letter-heads urging contributions to the campaign, and were also personally generous with their money and with financial advice.

Bob McCann, ThD'40, Fort Lauderdale hardware contractor, donated the hardware used in the house and assisted the architect during construction.

Other contributors of $2,500 or more are: Arch Updike Th D '43, Dr. Rufus Thames Th D '51, Joseph D. Farish Th D '42, Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Weems G '17, John W. Fleming Th D'41, Foy B. Fleming Th D'43 Nu'43, Edward F. Heimburger Th D'34, William G. Miller Th D'50.

Why Give For A House?

FORREST HOLZ, Ome '39, a Jacksonville resident and a salesman by trade, made up a "sales talk" for use by canvassers. Some excerpts:

"We alumni don't want to be boys again in a fraternity. What we do want is for the young men in college to have the Chi Phi experience as we did.

"Fellows in college won't get 'lost' on a big campus if they have a 'home' at the Chi Phi House. Fraternity men are the leaders—on the campus today, off the campus tomorrow. Fraternity participation develops leadership.

"With the old house we would have a declining chapter. With the new house we shall have a strong chapter."

Afterthoughts...

WHO DID we leave out? Are there any errors in the account of what happened as Chi Phi, at last, began to build? Copies of this article were sent to members of the Theta Delta House Committee and others, and comments were solicited.

Al Warrington suggested that the part played by the actives throughout the effort should be stressed more. And this is very true, although it was different actives playing key parts at different times. The overall effort of the actives over the 10-12 year period is extremely impressive.

For example, Brother Warrington remembers that he, as Alpha in the 50's, played a part in urging and helping Howard Weems with the original plan for refinancing with 4% bonds. He may have been the first to suggest a "professional" fund raiser.

Later, the very first donation to the New House Fund—only $5.00, but it had to start somewhere—was made by Roger Straub Th D '65 the summer he graduated. Richard Cehon Th D '61 was second with $10.00, and then two sizable gifts from the Simmons cousins of Miami in the fall of 1965, $500.00 from Jerry Simmons Th D'49 and $400.00 from Bill Simmons.

Joel Sayers, Th D '42 and architect, spent far more time designing the house and supervising the construction than he expected to, and his partner, Bill Greening (not a Chi Phi) shared in this cost and in the greatly lower fee they charged.

Who was the active who insisted on an answer from Gray Ramsaur at the 1966 Founders Day meeting to the question, "When will you begin building?" Gray wiggled out of a definite answer as a good lawyer should, but the end result was the real beginning of the campaign that summer.

Then there was a succession of hard working Alphas who had the thankless job of keeping the chapter alive while the debt was paid off, culminated by Chuck Fleming Th D '65 who led several successful years of rushing, and Dave Okula Th D '69 elected Alpha as a sophomore whose strong work with actives gave essential backing to the professional campaign in August-September 1967.

Three young alumni added greatly to the Miami meeting during that same campaign: Bob Glorius and George Kanistras both Th D'63 and Jack Thomas Th D'64. It seems as if there was a fourth, but memory fails me as to the name. (Any who had a part in the house campaign not mentioned herein are invited to write the author and additions will be made in a later CHAKETT).

Henry Albrecht Th D'60 has not been mentioned. Presently the Association Treasurer, he has been a constant Rock of Gibraltar ever since he graduated, as has his friend, Al Warrington.

Gray Ramsaur's comment as a member of the House Committee was: "You don't give enough credit to yourself and Arch." Well, perhaps not. It is a fact that Arch and myself are the only two alumni who have taken part in every activity since the beginning of the professional campaign in 1967. Our businesses permitted it, but so did our brothers. Arch is in business with his brother, John, Th D'45, and his brother-in-

What Does a New Fraternity House Cost?

IN THE CASE of the new Theta Delta Chapter House at the University of Florida, the total will be about $350,000, or nearly $8000 each for the 44 residents.

Largest cost was construction of the house: $271,000 paid to the general contractor, plus approximately $3500 for hardware.

Mortgage points and other closing costs, including construction loan interest, and the first three mortgage payments, $15,000.

Architects' fees, $11,400, including $1000 for preliminary plans for the old site which were later discarded.

Furnishings and drapes, $19,900—$7,000 of it being paid by the active chapter. ($5,000 is still needed to complete furnishing the living room, TV room and Library.)

Property cost, $6,800

Paying off old first mortgage bonds, $6,800

Tree removal, $2,000

Surveys and soil tests, $1,650.

Fund raising and mailing costs, $7,200

Turf, $1,500

Insurance and Miscellaneous, $2,000

Wall Plaques, $1,400

In addition to the architectural costs shown above, it is estimated that the architects donated at least $5,000 in services. Legal services donated are estimated at $3,500. Many thousands of dollars worth of fund-raising time and cost has also been given by dozens of other Chi Phis.

The house is owned by the Florida Chi Phi Association, Inc., Al Warrington, Th D '59, Atlanta, President, and leased by the Theta Delta Chapter, George Pyle, Th D'71, Alpha.

law, Horace Herndon. They permitted and encouraged his Chi Phi efforts, and shared in his expenses, including the frequent use of the Alcoma Corporation airplane.

My brother, Al, Th D'36, joined in providing office space at Cody Publications, Inc. for the professional fund raiser and the secretary, and paid along with me, for many long distance phone calls, much clerical help, and the loss to our business from my use of company time for Chi Phi work on many occasions.

Right along with Arch and me for the first two years of the effort was Ralph Hollister, who took part in everything until business problems piled up and he was forced into a less active role.

The thrilling thing about the entire effort, however, is the very large number of people who have taken part—actives and alumni—living proof that Chi Phi remains a constructive force among a great many initiates, of recent as well as ancient vintage! In an era of increasing indifference toward fraternities at all colleges, and frequent attacks on them, this campaign proves that there is more latent strength and worth in the fraternity system than the superficial observer will see.

Russia

— A Land of Contrasts

By EARLE B. SANFORD, A-X'63 (OWU),
Chaplain, The Moscow Chaplaincy

TWELVE MONTHS AGO, my wife and I were approached by the National Council of Churches in America and were asked if we would consider going to Moscow for a two-three year period, where I would serve as Protestant Chaplain to the English speaking people there—particularly to the American and British Embassies. Our first reaction was, "Ugh, we'll freeze to death." However, thinking a second time, we came up with the idea that such a trip might never come our way again; and though it might take two-three years to thaw out after we returned, we convinced ourselves that living and working within the focal point of the communist world would be invaluable. Also, our knowledge of the communist system was purely theoretical and objective.

We needed, we felt, to experience the day to day living in order to judge fairly the merits and shortcomings of that system.

Therefore, with many doubts and exceptionally high anxiety gradients, we said "yes" and waited for the next step. It was a move from New York, where we were living, to Washington D.C. where we were enrolled in a three month language course teaching, you guessed it, Russian.

I have never been able to speak languages well and still have quite a bit of trouble with English. Russian was no exception. It took me seven days just to learn how to say hello. My wife fared much better, and after two weeks I was already behind her and never have caught up.

During this three month language preparation, I was able, however, to begin a serious study of Russia and Russian culture, and more especially the Protestant Chaplaincy program in Moscow. It originated in 1933 as a part of the negotiations between President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinov which established diplomatic relations between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States of America. This has come to be known as the historic Roosevelt-Litvinov agreement. One of the tenets of this document stipulated that nationals of the United States who were residing within the territory of the U.S.S.R. would be accorded free exercise of religious worship.

PROTESTANT PRESENCE, however, was not felt in Moscow until 1962 when the National Council of Churches in America secured the agreement of the Earle B. Sanford, X'63 now serving in the Moscow Chaplaincy is a former Alpha of the Ohio Wesleyan Chapter in 1962 and president of the Student Body in 1963. He is married to the former Deborah Opdyke. They will be living in Moscow for three years.

Soviet government to the stationing of a Protestant clergyman in Moscow. Since that time the program has continued under the aegis of the National Council of Churches, and a clergyman from each of the five denominations, which share responsibility for the office of the Moscow Chaplaincy, is appointed every two-three years; viz, the American Baptist Convention, the Episcopal Church, the Lutheran Church in America the United Methodist Church, and the United Presbyterian Church. The first man to serve in this capacity was a Presbyterian. He was followed by a Lutheran, a Baptist, and now me, a Methodist.

After three months of becoming more and more frustrated with the Russian language, and still having trouble saying "hello" in Russian, we boarded a Pan Am jet at Kennedy Airport bound for Moscow, not knowing who or what to expect when we arrived. Ten hours later we touched down at Sheremetevo, Russia's International Airport. Relative to other international Airports around the world, Sheremetevo is unique, and the contrast from Kennedy was striking. Small, barren and noticeably lacking in people, it reminded me of a county airport. Its isolation (20 miles from Moscow) coupled with the absence of any language we could understand, made Sheremetevo even more ominous. However, as we emerged from the Health Inspections booths and made our way towards customs, we heard a man in beautiful English say, "Are you the Sanfords?" This was all we needed, and we quickly placed our destinies in his keeping. He turned out to be one of the members of the church and with his fluency in Russian, served as our Beatrice as he guided us through customs and the morass of other bureaucratic red tape, a characteristic of Russia we have come to accept (most of the time). We were treated courteously but coolly by customs personnel, another characteristic of Russian officialdom which we have come to recognize and expect.

The process of moving into our new apartment and trying to adjust to a different way of doing things was difficult at first. For example, one item of interest is living accommodations. The Russian government places all foreign personnel in special housing projects which are scattered around the city. We refer to them as diplomatic ghettos, and each is carefully guarded by a militia man who makes note of your comings and goings.

MY WIFE also had some anxious moments in learning how to master ordering food. The Russians have built a special food-store (called Gastronome) which is open only to foreign people (and foreign currency). It should also be noted that this special store is open to Russian people of some standing such as scientists, military personnel and other "haves" who receive Gastronome privileges. For the average Russian, the store is strictly off-limits and taboo. This stricture is rigidly enforced. Who said that this was a classless society? Anyway, the Gastronome offers a wide variety of fruits (if you're lucky), vegetables, meats and poultry products. Many of these are not available on the Russian common market, and when they are, the demand is so great that it's virtually impossible to find what you need. Thus, the Gastronome. When we first arrived, everything had to be ordered in Russian, a challenge which my wife easily mastered. Just recently, however, the Russians have constructed a new supermarket-type store which is patterned after modern marketing techniques. All of the food is displayed before you and you have the freedom to choose what you want without having to speak a word of Russian. It has all the earmarks of an American A & P or Shopwell—including cash registers. The only thing which is missing is a cash register for people with "eight items or less." A commissary in the American Embassy is also available to us, and this has proved invaluable.

Thus, passing through the first few months of cultural shock, we felt as if we were swimming in mud with no land in sight; and, after six-seven months of waking up and saying, "I wonder what new experience we'll face today?" we began to adjust and feel more at home here.

I also began immediately trying to get the feel of the chaplaincy program. It seems that the Russian Government; although according free worship to American nationals, does not allow for the church to own any property of its own, such as a church. Thus, religious services must be conducted within structures which are official property of the American Government i.e., the Embassy or the apartments of American personnel. I have been very fortunate in this regard as the American ambassador and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Beam, have allowed me to use their home, Spaso House, for these services. Also, as I mentioned above, I hold services at the British Embassy because of established relationships between the Chaplaincy program and the church of England. Thus, one Sunday I am at Spaso House and the next at the British Embassy. These services draw a mixture of people from various backgrounds and countries: British, Americans, Australians, Scandinavians, Africans representing the diplomatic core, military, national exchange students who are studying at Moscow State University, U.S. Marines serving as security guards, and also nannies, or girls who come to Moscow to live with a family to perform domestic responsibilities.

ONE VERY INTERESTING aspect of what we do here is our contact with the students. We have started a "coffee house" program in our apartment. This consists of a buffet supper followed by a movie and a chance to wash their clothes in our washing machine. Even more important than this, however, is the opportunity to meet other students, to let down their hair and to relax. We even have Russian students who attend, a practice discouraged by "the party." Existing under the academic pressures as they do, the coffee house seems to be a welcome oasis for them. Fifty-sixty attend regularly—too many for a Russian-type apartment. But until somebody offers something better, we'll do the best we can with what we have. The coffee house also gives me an opportunity to know and understand some of the pressures, problems and frustrations of what it means to be a student in Moscow.

Still another fascinating dimension to our work here has been our contact with the Russian churches, more especially the Russian Baptist and the Russian Orthodox. My own denomination, Methodism, exists here and purports to have a membership of 2,000.

Even though Russia is permeated with atheistic communism, it is a moving experience to attend a church service and to witness the spiritual commitment of the people. The Baptist Church in Moscow, for example, has six services every week and each is packed to the point of "standing room only." I have felt here a deep fellowship and spirit of charisma which I have experienced in few American churches. The fact of having to exist under pressure and compromise seems to deepen the religious commitment of the people.

The Russian Orthodox Church and its leadership has also been extremely warm and gracious to us. The week of June 15th-19th was one of the high points of our stay in that we were invited to Leningrad as personal guests of Metropolitan Nikodim, who is Metropolitan of Leningrad and Novgorod and one of the leading candidates to become the new Patriarch. While in Leningrad, we had an opportunity to attend graduation ceremonies at the theological academy, talk with Russian professors and students at the academy, and sight-see around what must be one of the most beautiful cities in the world. It was a memorable experience. One hesitates to pass judgment on the religious tenor of the country, especially since I do not know the total situation. It is a paradox, however, seeing such deep religious commitment among many people, while at the same time knowing that communism is striving to eradicate religious belief completely.

LIVING in Russia one year has left us saturated with impressions and mixed emotions the depth of which is impossible to capture in an article of this nature. Perhaps the best way to characterize Russia is to call her a land of contrasts, from topography and climate to her various peoples' republics. For here is a country with the largest land area in the world—7,000 miles from east to west and 2,500 miles north to south—and yet, they are unable to feed their own and rely heavily upon foreign imports. Here is a country who pioneered space exploration and put the first man in space, yet the lack of adequate housing for Russian people is appalling. Progressive, technologically sophisticated, professional, yet I have noticed newly built hotels and other buildings cracking and falling apart. Trying to characterize Mother Russia is like trying to define the Russian character. Their intense enjoyment of life is equalled only by their capacity for suffering and endurance. Vascillating between the extremes of human emotion, a Russian is rarely neutral. Ebullient, despondent; affectionate, callous; enthusiastic, apathetic, are only a few of the contrasts which make up the Russian character. Beyond this, my powers of insight are inadequate.

Iowa State Chapter Dates Back to 1922

By PAUL MILLER and JACK BUTLER

PI CHAPTER at Iowa State was established in 1922, formerly being the Lambda Tau Alpha chapter, a local fraternity. On the morning of November 25, 1933, fire broke out in the house and completely destroyed the interior. Sixteen of the brothers were sleeping at the time on the third floor. As the fire had started in a davenport in the hallway, when the inmates were aroused, the lower part of the house was a mass of flames. In escaping, thirteen of the brothers were more or less seriously burned or otherwise injured, but they all finally recovered. The injured were taken to the nearby Pi Kappa Alpha house for shelter. The furniture and equipment were almost a total loss. The evening before the fire, the chapter had entertained the members of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority in an exchange party and a mislaid cigarette was blamed for the fire. Efforts were made immediately to rebuild, and a questionnaire to the alumni brought the advice to rebuild a small house rather than to attempt to remodel.

Crippled by the disastrous fire which destroyed the chapter house, discouraged by their inability to raise sufficient funds to rebuild, and not being able to compete with their rivals on campus, after a conference with the Grand Alpha the active members surrendered their chapter to the Council in 1935, and at the meeting of the 1936 Congress in New York the charter was suspended.

The spirit of Chi Phi has been kept alive many years by a loyal group of Pi alumni. In 1944 a group of Chi Phi alumni from the old Pi Chapter at Iowa State gathered for what has turned out to be the first in a long series of annual Homecoming luncheons which keep the spirit of the fraternity alive and glowing. This spirit kindled into a desire to see the chapter reestablished on the Iowa State University campus. These alumni met with University and Fraternity representatives and soon the necessary plans had been made.

In March 1968, interested males were invited to a Chi Phi smoker in the Memorial Union by Brother Charles Wilson, Assistant National Director of Chi Phi. From the group of approximately fifty guests at this meeting, Wilson conducted personal interviews and picked 7 men to form the core group on this campus. This group met with Brother Wilson for an organizational meeting of the Chakett Club in which officers were elected and a rush budget was set up. This group included John Akins, Conrad Crawford, Lee Baldwin, Ralph Thompsen, Gary Mercuriali, Doug Bailey, and Rich Wagener.

During the next few weeks our number increased through informal parties and formal rush smokers. Jack Butler, Don Hemphill, and Keith Radke pledged during this time. Because the original had been forced to take two or three offices, a permanent election was held to distribute the offices more widely among the "original" and "new" members.

In the middle of April, Brothers Harold Pickford, Herbert Arthur, and Dr. J. C. Schilletter, alumni from the old Pi chapter, held formal pledging ceremonies at the Safari in Ames for all the men pledged so far. On May 12, 1968, the Pi Alumni Association sponsored a get together at Bishop's Buffet in Des Moines in honor of these new pledges. In addition to Chi Phi alumni living in and around Iowa, brothers from neighboring chapters attended. The special guest at this occasion was Mr. Carl J. Gladfelter, National Director of Chi Phi.

AT THE END of Spring Quarter, 1968, one of the pledges had been forced to drop out of school which reduced the membership to nine. Unfortunately, two more men—one of them rush chairman—were lost during the three month summer break. Negotiations with Adelante Fraternity for the lease of one of their annexes at 318 Welch Avenue, located about three blocks south of the Iowa State campus, were completed that summer. Gary Mercuriali, Beta, remained in Ames during the summer to help Mr. Arthur with negotiations and to purchase furniture with the money loaned from National.

Since possession of this house was not obtained until September 1, the men were forced to use the Union facilities during formal rush week and spend all free time painting and fixing up the house. This first formal rush week netted no new pledges, but added immeasurable knowledge about the rushing procedures of many fraternities on this campus. Stan Sivesind pledged the second week of Fall Quarter. The furniture was delayed in arriving, so for about two months the men slept in sleeping bags and on army cots. Undaunted, however, these seven men continued a strong rush program throughout Fall quarter. In October, the Gamma Delta chapter initiated the first seven brothers from the Colony; Conrad Crawford, Gary Mercuriali, Jack Butler, John Akins, Keith Radke, Don Hemphill, and Stan Sivesind. Five men, Paul Willis, Tom Risdal, Paul Miller, Bruce Enenbach, and John Hand were pledged in November.

Winter Quarter began with the initiation of Rich Wagener at the Alpha Theta Chi chapter. The Colony instituted the First Annual Two-Bit Christmas Gift Exchange. After Christmas, the Colony continued its steady growth with the addition of John Bishop and reached fifteen members. In February, four men, Tom Risdal, John Hand, Bruce Enenbach, and Paul Miller were activated at the Pi chapter (Northwestern). A second election was held before the end of the quarter with the results: Tom Risdal, Alpha; Jack Butler, Beta; John Hand, Gamma; and Paul Miller, Delta.

During Spring Quarter, negotiations with Adelante Fraternity were reopened and it was decided to rent a larger house at 320 Welch Avenue, in addition to the house at 318 Welch. Since this house was bigger and in better condition, Colony headquarters were moved to this house. The Colony celebrated its first anniversary on the campus by holding a rush smoker in the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority house. A new band at Iowa State—The Reign—was hired for a rush dance at the Union; brothers from Alpha Theta Chi traveled to Ames to help with this endeavor. During this time, Jeff Lentz, Bruce Brande, Steve Freeman, and Gene Morden were pledged, and our total numbers had reached eighteen, but at the end of the quarter three pledges and one active were lost through transfer and one active, Gary Mercuriali, graduated.

Formal Rush Week, Fall Quarter, 1969, found the Colony with twelve men, some rushing experience, a few empty spaces in the two houses, and a deadline for

Inter-Regional Conference in April

by KEITH MALCOLM and TIM ELY,
Alpha and Beta of Rho

THE FIRST Chi Phi Inter-regional Conference was held on the weekend of April 10-11 at the Rho Chapter, Lafayette College, Easton, Pa. Of the nine chapters invited, six attended; Lafayette, Lehigh, West Virginia, Stevens, M.I.T., and Emory sent the 18 delegates.

Assistant National Director Dave Differding, Regional Advisors Dick Gilbert and Wayne Wrightstone, and Rho Chapter Alumni Treasurer Bruce Drinkhouse were present solely in an advisory capacity. Some of us met informally over a keg of beer on Friday night, with the business at hand not starting until Saturday morning. The main topics of discussion were rushing, pledging, house finances, ritual, and alumni affairs.

We covered each of these subjects in small groups and then met jointly to draw conclusions. A few points that were stressed were the development of a more serious attitude toward pledging, establishment of better campus and alumni relations, and imparting more responsibility to the pledge class.

The meeting was concluded at a roast beef dinner Saturday evening—followed by another keg and relaxed discussion. All chapters agreed that they had benefited greatly from the conference by sharing chapter experiences and solutions to problems. We feel that this first conference was very successful and interesting and strongly suggest that this idea be adopted by all regions.

'Spike' Saunders Honored For 43 Years of Service to U.N.C.

A TESTIMONIAL DINNER for retiring University of North Carolina Alumni Secretary, J. Maryon Saunders was held May 16, 1970 in Chapel Hill.

Brother Saunders, a charter member of Alpha-Alpha and a long time officer of the Southern Order Memorial Corp.

(Alpha-Alpha, alumni association) is known to tens of thousands of North Carolina grads. He is equally well known by all his fraternity brothers.

"Spike" received the AB at Chapel Hill in 1925 and the MA in political science the following year. He taught for a year at Georgia Tech, then returned to Chapel Hill in 1927 to succeed Daniel L. Grant as Alumni Secretary. In 1935-36 he was President of the American Alumni Council, and was honored by that group in 1968 for his 40 years membership in it.

Roy Armstrong, Alpha-Alpha '26 a long time fraternity brother and university colleague was co-chairman of the memorial dinner arrangements committee.

'Don't Worry About Emory'

"IF YOU FEEL that radicals and agitators are taking over the college campuses, don't worry about Emory," says Robert H. Mersbach, Sigma '48. "Our Chi Phis there are a real group of gentlemen, and it was very gratifying to know that good manners are not a thing of the past. I suspect you'd find the same with Chi Phi at many other colleges. So, if you get the opportunity, and haven't visited a chapter lately, I urge you to do so. Chances are so good that you'll be very pleasantly surprised. I was, and I thought that Chi Phi alumni everywhere would like to know that our undergraduates at Emory are as fine a group of Chi Phis as I've seen."

Brother Mersbach of Mamaroneck, N.Y., recently entered his daughter at Emory and took the occasion to visit Gamma Chapter. He was so pleased by his reception that he wanted "them" to get some recognition for being such fine hosts.

Summer Rush Picnic

BROTHER JOHN KEMP, A-T '60 hosted a summer rush party at his home in Troy, Michigan early this summer. The object of the picnic was to bring the alumni and the actives together in a social context that would include incoming freshmen. It proved to be a great time and a successful day of rushing. Alums and actives also had a chance to discuss plans for the Alumni versus Active Chapter football game to be held at the Chi Phi House during the Homecoming Weekend.

The chapter is looking forward to a great year with a full house, and many major activities in the planning stage.—By Chris Gullen, Gamma.

Iota Chapter:

A New Kitchen

IN THE PAST YEAR the keynote of the Iota chapter has been progress. The Ohio State chapter has, in the school year 1969-70, initiated 22 new "shiny pins." This is the largest number of new members initiated during one year in recent history. Add to this the fact that there are still 14 Pledges remaining from spring quarter, and our prospects for the fall rush program, makes it quite apparent that Iota Chapter is growing. Fall quarter 1970 will mark a milestone for O.S.U.'s Chi Phis—the first time in many years that the house will be filled to its 35 man capacity.

Speaking of the house, summer break will see many important improvements in the "grand old mansion on the hill." Through financial help from the Chi Phi Educational Trust, the Iota's will get a badly needed new kitchen by the fall of 1970. Plans are now being made for a busy work week for the chapter before school opens in the fall. The dining room will be repainted, the basement party room remodeled, and the entire house will be given a thorough "fall cleaning." Also on the agenda are plans for a patio and a larger parking area. All of the work on these projects are afforded by the active chapter, as are most of the expenses.

Although progress is the keynote, Iota still retains many of the proud traditions of the past. Traditionally strong in athletics, the Iotans have excelled again this past year. The football team, undefeated until the championship finals, copped a runner-up trophy they can well be proud of. The Basketball team won a well-deserved first place trophy, and the softball team just missed making the league finals.

Socially speaking, in the past year one of the all time favorites, the Bowery Party, a tradition remembered by alumni from way back, was revived after many years absence and proved to be a tremendous success. It was probably the best party of the year.

Also to be revived in the coming year is another old and important tradition, the Iotan, the chapter newsletter. Plans are now being made to have the paper out by early fall. This is an excellent opportunity for interested alumni to keep us up to date on important events and general information about the chapter.

Recently Iota elected officers for the coming year. Those elected were: Frank Wright, Alpha; Tom Guinther, Beta; Randy Bevan, Gamma; Dave Harper, Delta; Bob Antram, Epsilon; Frank Kovacs, Zeta. With these capable officers in charge and the spirit of the entire chapter, we can look forward to an even better year than last.—By Roland Tim Bergen.

Chi Phi Beginnings At Southern California

By HARRY F. PHILLIPS, HD '12

FRANK ROBERT CARRELL and I, Harry F. Phillips, became inseparable friends at high school age. He was raised in Gardena where his family owned a large tract of land and I was raised on the 16,000 acre Palos Verdes Ranch which at that time supported only a few head of cattle and sheep. My father, Henry Phillips, Sr., managed the ranch for the Jotham Bixby Company from 1904 to 1918.

Our friendship continued as we arrived as fellow students at the University of Southern California in 1908. I stress our friendly relationship, because I wish to go on record to credit my friend Frank with the suggestion and determination to organize a fraternity on the campus. I assisted him in securing the approval of the Faculty Fraternity Committee to permit and approve another local fraternity on the campus.

At this time the only national fraternity on the campus was Sigma Chi founded in 1889, and three locals: Theta Psi, Phi Alpha, and Phi Nu Delta.

So it was that in April 1910, Sigma Tau was organized with the following roster of membership: Frank R. Carrell, President; Harry F. Phillips, Porter C. Blackburn, Wayne C. Mauzy, Donald Baker, Clifford H. Phillips, and John K. Skinner.

We rented a small house near the campus for our meetings and prepared and organized a membership program for the following year. Our motto, adopted at the inception of the fraternity was "stand together." I believe sincerely that the men accepted into our membership in the years that followed, averaged high in quality, the equal to any on Fraternity Row.

Each year thereafter we were able to increase our membership and in reality to develop the reputation and standing of Sigma Tau to a point where we became competitive with the other fraternities on the campus. Later World War I came and the Armed Forces took so many of our brothers that it was difficult to maintain the house in a satisfactory manner for membership and services.

However, the "stand together" spirit was always present and it carried over the bad luck and the struggle to survive in competition with the many National fraternities which came to the campus.

So it was, in due time that the men of Sigma Tau, had the good fortune to be invited to become united with Chi Phi, to present to this great national fraternity the Eta Delta Chapter at the University of Southern California.

LEE A. EVERHART

BROTHER LEE A. EVERHART, Nu Delta's chapter advisor moved to Tallahassee in 1951. He and a fraternity brother, George Langford A'50 established the Municipal Code Corporation the same year. Nineteen years later he is sole owner of Everhart Construction Company, Inc. which has built over 2000 residential units since 1957, and mayor of his adopted home town.

Brother Everhart's firm in recent years has concentrated on the construction of multi-family dwellings. The property management division of Everhart Construction operates over 600 multi-family units. He serves on the Board of Directors of the Florida Home Builders Association and has been treasurer for the past three years.

Brother Everhart, along with Brother Langford, have been very active with the chapter at Florida State. Through their efforts they were able to obtain a 14 room house for the chapter. Brother Everhart's donation of time, material, and leadership were a tremendous boost to the young chapter during the early stages of development.

chartering looming in the near future. Dave Differding, Assistant National Director, was present for rush week to help us out with rushing and discuss the chartering deadline. Five men, Woody Johnson, Pat Weigel, Bruce Mortvedt, George Lemen, and John Bishop (repledged) pledged Chi Phi at the end of the week. Mark Miller, A Th X '72 and Mike Prinz, I '69 transferred to Iowa State which further added to our number and experience. Through informal rush parties and our annual October Jack-O-Lantern exchange, we pledged an additional five men—John Lekwa, Randy Stiles, Robert Ladd, Craig Neppel, and Jim Rieck—before the end of Fall quarter. Gene Morden was activated at Alpha Theta Chi in November.

Winter Quarter brought the loss of four pledges and the activation of five men at Gamma Delta. They were: Woody Johnson, Pat Weigel, John Lekwa, George Lemen, and Jim Rieck graduated at the end of the quarter, so our number stood at 21 men.

THE SECOND WEEK of April brought the pledging of Bill Mack and later in the week, Brian Esch, Stanley Burrack, Randy Simmons, and James Boart were pledged while Carl Gladfelter, National Director, was present. Brother Gladfelter was here to discuss our chartering plans for May 16th. On May 16, 1970 we became the Alpha-Pi chapter of the Chi Phi Fraternity and the 36th fraternity on the Iowa State campus. At this time our numbers stood at 26 men which is a goal we have been striving for since March 20, 1968.

The trip to this goal has been long and hard and has been marked by the loss of many along the way. At times personal conflicts have threatened to shatter the Colony. Many have felt that the core group should have been much larger than seven men. Housing has been the big issue since Chi Phi first reappeared on the campus. Dissatisfaction with the progress of the Colony has come at some time to almost every member who has lasted the complete trip. Despite all this, however, the Colony has thrived and grown. May it always continue to do so.

The Pi Alumni Association has helped the Colony over many, many rough spots and we offer each and every member our humble thanks. Brothers Herb Wilkinson, Pi '17, Lloyd Bock, Pi '21, and Adolph Ludwig, Pi '33 should be specifically mentioned among those who did much to keep the flame of Chi Phi alive in the state during the barren years between 1935 and 1968. Without the alumni efforts we would not be here today.

At the chartering it was announced that a two year lease was signed with the Beta Sigma Psi Fraternity to rent a house at 223 Lynn Avenue and for this we are very happy. Our future address will be: Chi Phi Fraternity, Alpha-Pi Chapter, 223 Lynn Avenue, Ames, Iowa 50010.
