LET'S TALK IT OVER...

Undergraduate Council Member Galloway Reacts to First Meeting

Bob Galloway, University of California-Davis '72 and Frank Kovacs, Ohio State '72, attended their first Council meeting as Council members early in December in St. Louis.

Four undergraduates have now served on the Council. "Why didn't this happen years ago?" is now my reaction. They keep those of us on the Council who have been out of school more years than we like to remember on track. However, they don't pretend to know all the answers and I find that they are objective in their analysis of problems.

Galloway, who writes the frank and revealing report below, is from a new and highly successful chapter. Kovacs is from a very old and mature chapter—Ohio State. Kovacs has visited the Indiana, Illinois, Rhode Island and Moorehead chapters. In visiting Moorehead he had a specific assignment to assist a new chapter in all phases of operation.

Those that expect this short report to be an expose of the December Grand Council meeting will unfortunately be disappointed. After my first exposure to the Council I have found it necessary to revise some previously held beliefs concerning it. The council's effective problem solving nature combined with its multi-styled approach to those problems were the two areas that struck me the most.

After attending only one meeting of the Council perhaps it would be premature to comment on its problem solving nature. Granted, most items on the agenda were handled cleanly and passed by after a course of action was quickly agreed upon, but answers to the larger questions were not found. The financial state of the Fraternity, in the greatest tradition of the times, is not the best, and immediate answers to related problems could not be found. Discussion of chapter retention and expansion, mergers, and salaries, as both causes and answers to financial problems resulted in proposed courses of action rather than concrete results. Realizing, however, that the world's problems cannot be solved by next Wednesday, nor the Wednesday after that, even the Chi Phi Grand Council must be given a realistic amount of time to address itself to the problems and take action. The important thing is that the problems, I believe, are clearly recognized and responsible action is being planned.

Perhaps the largest revision of previously held beliefs regards the general personality of the Council. Although all logical thought would say otherwise, I had never thought of the Grand Council in anything but monolithic terms. It was a body of like minded alumni arriving at passionless decisions immediately, without any significant discussions. In reality, the truth is quite the opposite. The alumni on the council are individuals with varying values and principles. The contrasts between the brain-storming tactics of William Kitchin, the concerned managerial styles of Carl Gladfelter and William Jeckell, and the differing legal interjections of Bates Block and Richard Ham I found quite interesting. The conflicting ideas and philosophies, not the monolithic beliefs of identical minded men, were what made up the results of the meeting.

Over all, I was favorably impressed with the Grand Council. The Fraternity has problems and, following the philosophy that those who attempt something and fail are by far better off than those who attempt nothing and succeed, the Council is advancing plans for the solution of those problems. Whether or not those plans will prove to be effective only time can tell. Irregardless, the mere fact that these different men can get together and handle these questions in such a limited amount of time (around twenty-four hours) is quite impressive.

Centennial of Psi Chapter February 22

By: JACK CONNEN, Psi '30

Back in 1870, during the second year of the first administration of Ulysses S. Grant as President of the United States a small group of Lehigh men with similar interests organized a dinner club and called it the Calumet Club. This was only five years after Asa Packer founded Lehigh University. From its organization members of this group showed interest in the Chi Phi Fraternity which had been founded nearly fifty years earlier in 1824 at Princeton University. Communications with the Chi Phi Fraternity led to the founding of the Psi Chapter at Lehigh University on February 22, 1872. On that date, in the fraternity rooms located at Second and New Streets in South Bethlehem, installation and initiation ceremonies were conducted by Chi Phi members from its Zeta Chapter of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., which was founded in 1854. The first members of the new Psi Chapter initiated in these ceremonies were:

George Coleman Haldeman of Chickies Furnace, Pa.

Julius Peter Meyer of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin

Smith Van Valzah Wilson of Clearfield, Pa.

Frank Auguste Watkins of Philadelphia, Pa.

William Marshall Rees of Stroudsburg, Pa.

William Wallace Cross of Milford, Pa.

During the 100 years of its history 757 members have been initiated or affiliated with the Psi Chapter. The last eight of this total number were initiated on October 22, 1971, they are:

Colin Alexander Beeson, Sussex, N. J.

Steven Schwede, Caracas, Venezuela

Richard Williams Lucard, Fort Washington, Pa.

Francis Joseph Ianoni, Brocton, Mass.

Jon De Magurequi, Magurequi, Caracas, Venezuela

Dennis James Eshbach, Fleetwood, Pa.

Gary Edward Smart, Cincinnati, Ohio

Alan Austin Abels, Wheaton, Ill.

During the chapter's first 25 years 148 men were initiated or affiliated. The second 25 years show 117 members added for a total of 265 in the first half century. The 265th member, rounding out those first 50 years was John Adam Shartle of Troy, Ohio, now Chairman of the Board of Brown Bridge Mills. Jack, earlier known as "Buster" was initiated in December, 1922.

In the third quarter century 194 members were added to bring the total to 459 at the time of our 75th Anniversary celebration in 1947. The 459th member, rounding out 75 years was John Clayton Olwine, Jr., of Maplewood, N. J. Brother Olwine is now Sales Manager of Pennsylvania Pump Compressor Co.

The largest number of members — 298 were added during the final 25 years of this first century.

Many members of the Chapter were prominent in Lehigh activities as undergraduates and a substantial number have been highly successful in their careers. John Jameson Gibson '95 wrote the words for Lehigh's Alma Mater song.

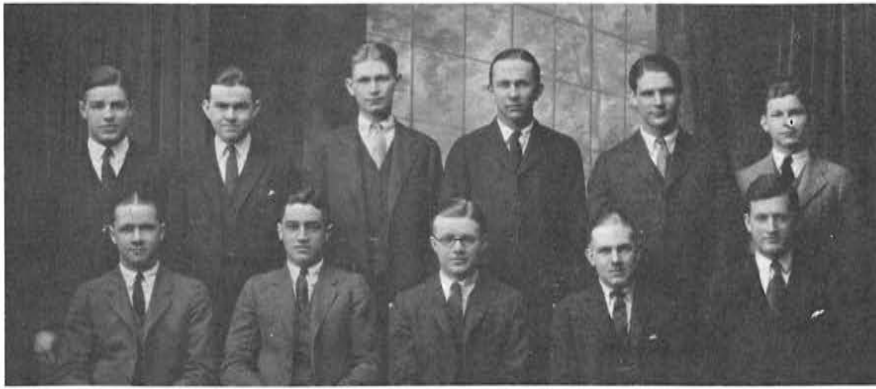

Paul Mackall, '07 was an outstanding baseball player during his four years at Lehigh and was Captain of his team in 1906 and again in 1907. He held Chapter offices of Zeta, Delta, Alpha and Beta. However, instead of professional Baseball, he chose the Steel Industry and completed an illustrious career as Vice President of Sales, Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Richard Mansfield Merriman, '05 played on the Lacrosse team, was elected to Sword & Crescent, Senior Honorary Society and was Treasurer and late President of the Civil Engineering Society. During an outstanding career in Engineering he was the author of several engineering text books, used nation-wide by engineering students for many years.

Caleb Samuel Kenney, '10 played freshman baseball, was elected to all the honorary social clubs, was manager of Lacrosse, played in the minstrel show for two years, Business Manager of Mustard & Cheese (Dramatic

After graduation he had a highly successful career in the coal industry and rose to the position of Vice President and General Manager of Weston Dodson Coal Company. With Offices in Bethlehem, Pa. he maintained close interest in the Psi Chapter and was the real leader of the Briarfield Association, the alumni organization of the chapter. Chi Phi sustained a shocking loss in Caleb's untimely death on October 30, 1943 at age 55.

Edwin Hays Gott, '29 was a member of the Mustard and Cheese Club, Rifle Team two years, Varsity Lacrosse team, cheerleader 3 years becoming head cheerleader in his senior year. After earning his degree in Industrial engineering he started work with Koppers Company and later went with the United States Steel Corporation in Steel plant operations. His outstanding ability was repeatedly recognized in a series of promotions to Vice President of Operations, followed by his election to the Presidency and subsequently to Chairman of the Board of Directors of United States Steel Corporation.

Football was a popular sport with the Psi Chapter Chi Phi brothers during the first years of the sport at Lehigh. Jacob Shotwell (Jake) Robeson, '86, later credited with the title of "Father of Lehigh football" so stirred up the interest of his chapter brothers that for some time nine of the eleven players were Chi Phis. He was captain of football. In addition to this, Brother Robeson was one of the founders of Sword and Crescent — Senior Honorary Society and of Mustard and Cheese — Dramatic Society. He also served as Alpha of the chapter.

Edward Haviland Coxe, '23 was the first of the chapter's Wrestling captains. He won the Eastern Intercollegiate Championship at 158 pounds and was runner-up to the National Champion. Brother Coxe also played varsity lacrosse and was President of the interfraternity council. He served as Epsilon and two terms as Zeta of the chapter.

During its early years the chapter occupied quarters in the Moravian Book Shop, The Washington Republican Club, the post office and the Union Bank and Trust Company buildings. Subsequently, the chapter purchased the William H. Sayre House at 306 Wyandotte Street across from the Nativity Church. It was at this house that the chapter supported its first table and served meals. This house was also the first which the chapter purchased outright.

Ownership of property led to formation of The Briarfield Association as the Alumni organization of the chapter. On November 25, 1901 the charter of The Briarfield Association was approved and the subscribers thereto and their associates were declared a corporation by Hon. W. W. Schuyler, President judge, Court of Common Pleas of Northampton County, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The subscribers:

Thomas F. Carter '77, Norfolk, Va.

Bondinot Keith '80, New York, N. Y.

George Gowan Hood '83, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, Pa.

Wyndham Stokes '88, Welch, W. Va.

George Rodney Booth '86, Bethlehem, Pa.

James Stewart '89, New York N. Y.

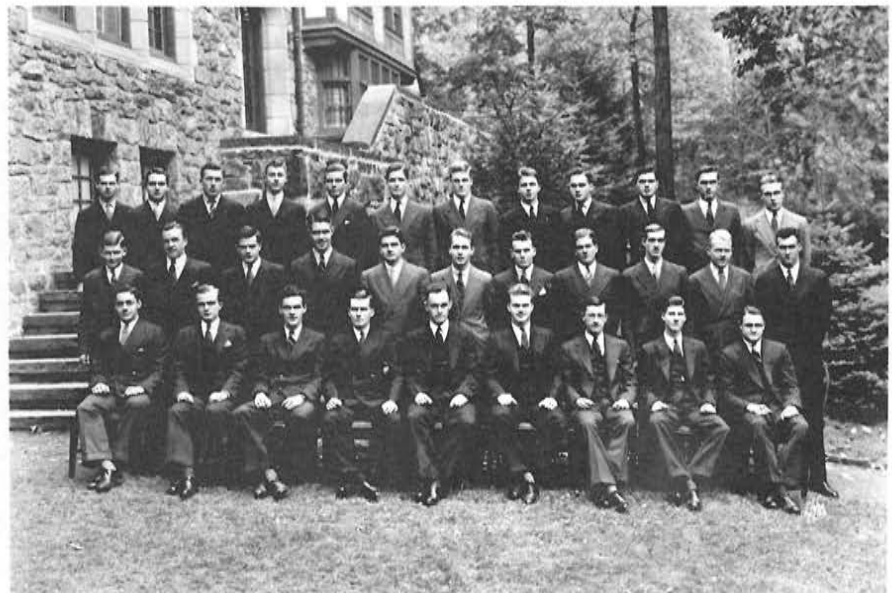

Hubert A. Bonzano '88, Philadelphia, Pa.

Albert Brodhead '88, Bethlehem, Pa.

Hartley Howard, Jr. '92, Arnold, Pa.

The first officers of the Association were:

George Gowan Hood, President
Albert Brodhead, Vice President.

Hubert A. Bonzano, Secretary and Treasurer.

On December 5, 1901 the property located on the Southeast corner of Packer Ave. and Chestnut Street (now Montclair Avenue) in South Bethlehem was deeded by George H. Wagner and wife to the Briarfield Association in the sum of $2,500 subject to mortgage of $6,500. This property was sold on April 1, 1907 to Charles E. Drumbor for $11,000 with an agreement that Briarfield could continue to occupy the house at a $50 per month rental.

The Trustees of the Briarfield Association met at Briarfield House, 240 Packer Avenue, Bethlehem on February 21, 1920. Minutes of this meeting record the offer of Brother Wallis Eastburn Howe to prepare and submit plans for a house on the campus without cost to the chapter or Briarfield other than travel expenses from Providence, R.I. to Bethlehem and return. This generous offer was accepted with thanks.

Bids for the new house on the Lehigh campus were received on May 27, 1922 and construction was started during July of that year. The "Corner Stone" date on the Building is 1922 — fifty years after the founding of the chapter. Construction was completed in May of 1923 and the active chapter moved in for the Fall semester of that year. The house was well constructed with stone masonry up to the second floor level with wood frame and stucco exterior above — an English Tudor architectural type. The main floor included a foyer, living room, card room, dining room, coat room and toilet and kitchen. The construction included four fireplaces on the first floor and one in the basement area originally designated as the Billiard Room. The Lodge room was located at the West end of the basement and the furnace room and coal bin at the East end.

Rooms on the second and third floors were arranged in a series of studyroom-sack room combinations with shower and toilet facilities on each floor. There were 13 study rooms and seven sack rooms. Other houses at that time had large sleeping dormitories on one floor and all study rooms on another floor.

Other houses in the Sayre Park area of the Lehigh campus in 1922 were Alpha Tau Omega, Chi Psi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Nu and Theta Delta Chi. The Psi Upsilon house, the first fraternity house to be built on the hill was located just off the campus to the West.

During 1947 — Psi Chapters 75th year — Lehigh University launched a campaign called the Progress Fund with a $7 Million goal. It was successfully completed in the 1953-54 fiscal year when the Alumni Fund for that year reached $250,000. This was a significant breakthrough in Lehigh fund raising. Total assets of the University had increased by $10,600,000 since the end of World War II. Endowment, plant, current funds, and scholarship funds totaled more than $27 million.

Lehigh's Annual Giving Campaigns henceforth provided opportunities for gifts to the University to provide living accommodations. Alumni or friends of fraternities could thereafter so designate all or part of their gifts with a stated preference for a particular house project. When one half or more of the total dollars are raised, the remaining amount is met through a long term loan to the fraternity by the University.

During the 1960-61 year, Annual Giving went past the $500,000 mark and has steadily increased to more than $1 million in each of the past three years.

In the ten year period starting in 1954, eleven fraternities built new homes in the Sayre Park area or renovated their existing houses. In addition to these, fourteen other fraternities started raising funds through the University's living accommodations program to build or renovate.

On February 29, 1964, the Trustees of the Briarfield Association, after careful and thorough deliberation determined that it was vital to the continuing prominence of the Chi Phi fraternity on the Lehigh campus to proceed as soon as possible with a major addition and alteration program. The house was considered to have a good basic structure and good outside appearance. Driveway and parking facilities were horrible. Entrance facilities were very poor. Powder room facilities were most inadequate. Study and dining areas were too small and the building was generally inadequate for social functions and recreation.

The alteration and addition would provide:

Vast improvement in room arrangement for Sleep and Study.

Great improvement in outside Terraces and Entrances.

Proper solution of Driveway and Parking Facilities.

Provision of Ladies Lounge and Powder Room in good taste.

60% Increase in Dining Area.

More than 100% increase in Lounge and Recreation Area.

About 300% increase in Outside Terrace Area.

Great improvement in Library — formerly Card Room.

Construction included a three story new wing South of the east end of the building, a one story extension of the south wall of the Card Room to develop the Library and enclosure of the covered porch at the west end. Architectural work was performed by S. Harman Brown Associates, who did a superb job of blending the new construction into the original structure.

Fund raising was conducted in conjunction with the $22 million

Lehigh University Centennial program which encouraged gifts and pledges payable over 5 tax years. By August 1967 a total of $56,700 had been pledged for the project. By April of 1968, $85,400 was pledged of which $57,100 had been paid. Alumni and friends were encouraged to make pledges and gifts in the following categories:

BRIARFIELD ($5,000 or more) in which there are four subscribers.

ALPHA ($2,500) — Three subscribers.

BETA ($1,000) — Eleven subscribers.

GAMMA ($500) — Twenty-six subscribers.

DELTA ($250) — Forty-four subscribers.

EPSILON ($100) — Twenty subscribers.

There were 36 smaller gifts for a total of 143 subscribers. At the end of 1971 the Fund reached totals of $91,795 pledged with $88,408 paid. Payments have the advantage of reducing the rent payable to the university. Many Alumni have therefore increased their pledges and payments.

The work was performed during the Summer of 1968 at a total cost of $196,500, including nearly $10,000 for carpeting. Delays due to strikes and unforeseen conditions necessitated temporary housing of the chapter for the early part of that Fall semester.

The house has a normal comfortable capacity of 34 men. Its architecture and decor give it a home-like rather than institutional character.

Lehigh University in Brief

In 1866 the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania issued the charter for Lehigh University, concluding the initial steps in a major philanthropic endeavor inaugurated by The Hon. Asa Packer, 19th century industrialist and philanthropist (1805-1879).

Lehigh, which has enjoyed considerable national reputation in U.S. education, observed its Centennial Anniversary and commemorated 100 years of engineering and science education in 1965-66. The University at the outset became one of the earliest leaders, if not the first in America, in combining engineering education with education in the liberal arts and humanities.

Lehigh is a private, coeducational institution. Women were admitted at the undergraduate level for the first time in 1971. Total enrollment exceeds 5,400 men and women at the graduate school and undergraduate college levels. The faculty exceeds 500 men and women.

Asa Packer's two-fold contribution to Lehigh was an initial founding gift of one-half million dollars, the largest single amount presented to an American university up to 1865. His unusual foresight, with that of his advisors, envisioned an education combining the then new engineering disciplines with the liberal arts as providing the firmest base for leadership in the complex civilization of the future.

As a result of this foresight, Lehigh, at its founding over one hundred years ago, was singularly different from the other new private institutions in engineering and science education, of which there were only a handful at the time. Lehigh was also different from the land-grant colleges which opened after the end of the Civil War.

From its very beginnings technology, science, the liberal arts and business science were closely integrated in the Lehigh approach to educating young men, a concept and practice surprisingly modern for its time and one which has been increasingly followed throughout the United States in more recent years.

When Lehigh first opened its doors in 1866 to young men of the nation, a complement of 7 faculty members and 40 students assembled. The original "Register" provided for four-year curricula and for graduate study.

From this early base Lehigh soon proceeded to a firm position among the nation's leading institutions. Thus it was that Lehigh was founded to provide young men with a sound basis for successful living and to insure leadership for the complex business and industrial civilization of the future.

Lehigh faculty members played a major role in meeting the critical 19th-century need for scientific and engineering textbooks in this country by translating earlier European works, and later became national and international authorities through their own books.

The Tau Beta Pi Association, today the engineers' equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa, was founded at Lehigh in 1885. Ten years later, in 1895, the first five-year course of study leading to two degrees, one in the arts and one in engineering, was inaugurated at the University.

Initially composed of five "schools," Lehigh was organized into its present three undergraduate colleges of Engineering, Arts and Science, and Business Administration in 1918. The unusual relationship existing between these colleges, and their predecessor "schools," offers one of the most distinctive features in education at Lehigh.

The often-typical separation of students by college is absent. Traditionally the Lehigh engineering undergraduate studies the humanities, social sciences, life and earth sciences, and mathematics in the College of Arts and Science, and economics and management science courses in the College of Business Administration. Arts and business majors in turn study appropriate subjects in the College of Engineering.

The effectiveness of this relationship is further illustrated by the innovation in engineering education pioneered at Lehigh — the five-year, two-degree curricula which had their beginnings with liberal arts and engineering and which have grown to include combinations of both bachelor's degrees and bachelor's and advanced degrees in arts and science, business administration, and various engineering disciplines.

At present some 2,000 men and women are enrolled in The Graduate School. The School of Education, which offers graduate degrees only, was established in 1966 but it is a direct outgrowth of programs maintained at Lehigh since 1903 and has close to 600 enrolled.

The undergraduate colleges of Arts and Science and Business and Economics at Lehigh have grown in turn, and have established their own precedents, like those of the College of Engineering.

The College of Arts and Science was a part of Lehigh from the University's very beginning, originally as the School of General Literature, and the bachelor of arts degree was announced with the bachelor of science degree in the first "Register." The Lehigh chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, only the second in Pennsylvania, was chartered in 1887, and the undergraduate premedical society was the first in Pennsylvania.

Business-related lectures and courses were initiated at Lehigh as early as 1894, well before the formal organization of business education in America, and the first full curriculum, including economics, finance, accounting, and business law and leading to the bachelor of science degree, was established in 1909.

About 50 per cent of Lehigh's undergraduates are enrolled in the College of Engineering, while 33 per cent are in the College of Arts and Science and 17 per cent, in the College of Business and Economics.

Students are encouraged to develop and apply their own ideas to modern problems with minimal faculty supervision, adding an unusual dimension to their formal education at the undergraduate level.

The overall effectiveness of the Lehigh philosophy is vividly illustrated in a 1965 nationwide survey of the origins of the top 1,000 corporate leaders in the 600 major American companies. The results of the survey, sponsored and published by Scientific American magazine, placed Lehigh in the top one-percent among the nation's 2,000 college and universities in producing men who are "captains of industry" in the United States. The other institutions in the top twenty, all prolific producers of alumni who have important corporate positions of leadership, are older and larger than Lehigh.

Since 1960 eight interdisciplinary centers for instruction and research, both interdepartmental and intercollege in structure, have been formed at Lehigh. These are the Center for the Information Sciences, Materials Research Center, Marine Science and Environmental Studies Center, Center for the Application of Mathematics, the Center for Social Research and Center for Surface and Coatings Research, Fritz Laboratory, and Computer Center. Lehigh's total research program currently has more than $5,000,000 in sponsored projects.

These interdisciplinary centers also represent an extension of Lehigh's long and close associationship in research and consulting service with American industry. This association also includes cooperative programs with industry which provide undergraduates with practical experience in an academic atmosphere.

Lehigh is primarily a residential University. Approximately ninety per cent of the students reside in residence halls on the campus or in the thirty-one houses of national social fraternities which maintain chapters at Lehigh. The students enrolled at Lehigh usually come from more than 900 public and private secondary schools in more than 40 states and in some 50 foreign countries located on every continent of the world. Lehigh's exacting scholarship requirements are balanced by an unusually broad program of extracurricula activities for students. In addition, there is an extensive intramural athletic program at Lehigh, and the University sponsors varsity intercollegiate athletics in 14 sports.

The academic campus consists of over 700 acres of wooded land on both sides of South Mountain overlooking the valley of the Lehigh River and the City of Bethlehem.

The University occupies more than sixty buildings. In addition to those providing classrooms and laboratory facilities, there are two libraries, a church, two gymnasias, a sports and recreation center, a university center, health services building, residence halls, and fraternities. The holdings of the library system include a fine collection of rare books, first editions and manuscripts among its more than 500,000 volumes.

The current market value of Lehigh's endowment fund exceeds $40,000,000. The value of equipment, buildings, and grounds is more than $39,000,000.

Lehigh is one of only 25 colleges in the nation to raise more than $1,000,000 each year in its Annual Giving Fund among alumni, friends, industry and foundations.

Charlotte Will be Ready!

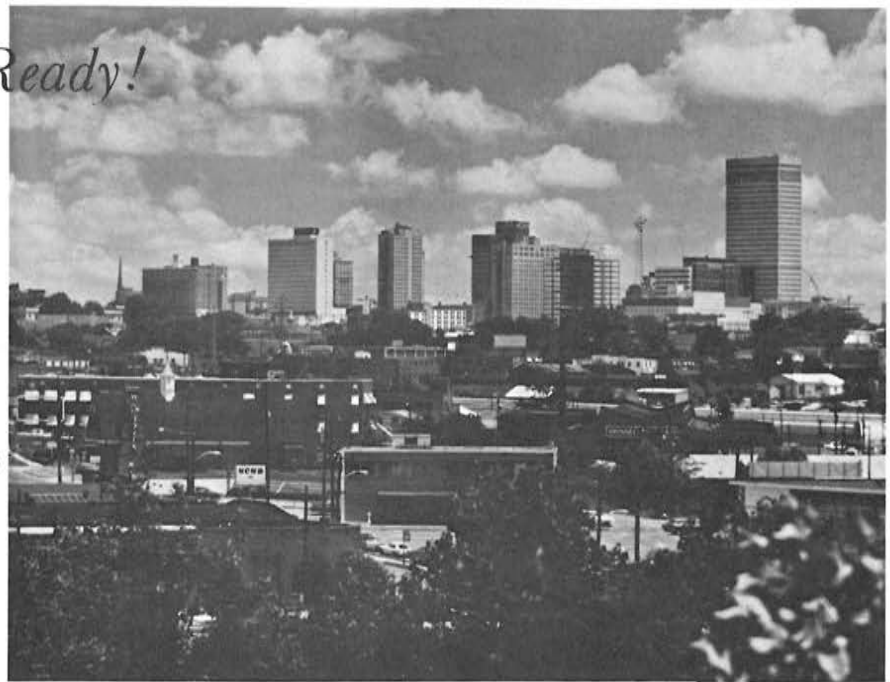

Congress 1972

*Krannert Leadership Conference to Precede 146th
Annual Meeting*

The 146th Congress and the Krannert Leadership Development program will be held in Charlotte, North Carolina August 16-20, 1972. In 1958 Congress met in Chapel Hill to Commemorate the 100th anniversary of Alpha-Alpha. Congress returns to another University of North Carolina — the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

Psi Delta chapter of the Charlotte campus, the host chapter, is a young chapter, but already proud of its heritage and eager to impress visiting brothers with their hospitality and their magnificent campus.

Delegates and visiting brothers, and their guests, will be housed in the fine new air conditioned dormitories on the campus. All meetings will be held on the University campus which is located just nine miles from the cross-roads of the central business district in a campus park-like area.

The Krannert Leadership Conference will precede Congress. Registration will take place on Friday morning August 18 with the opening luncheon at noon. The opening business session will follow lunch and the final session will be on Sunday, with closing ceremonies ending about 2:00 P.M.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is one of a number of new universities emerging in or near the nation's large cities. These are campuses like LSU at New Orleans, the University of Illinois at Chicago

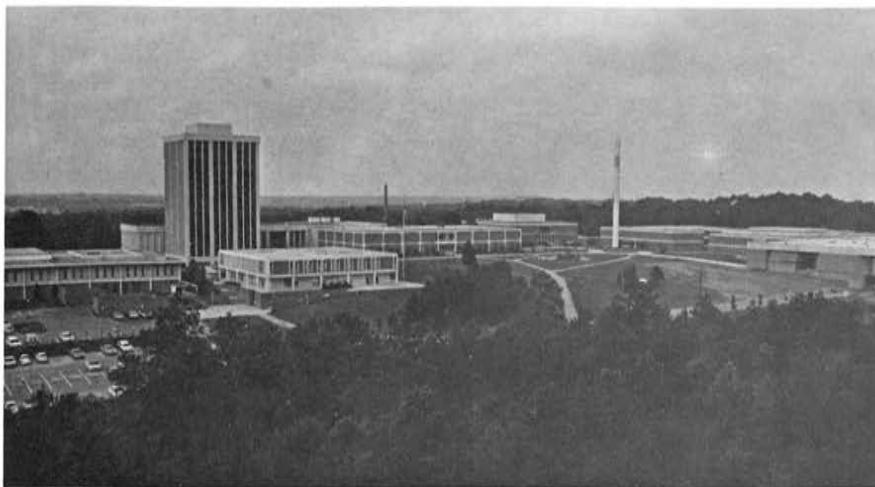

Circle, Georgia State University in Atlanta, the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee and the University of South Florida at Tampa.

UNCC, like these other new universities, is where the action is. Many students find jobs in the city while continuing their studies. And the cities provide laboratories for living and learning close at hand.

UNCC gained University status in July, 1965. It has grown at a phenomenal rate since then. In recent years it has been the fastest growing state university in the nation. The current enrollment at UNCC is 4,700 students, of whom 500 are graduate students.

Charlotte has everything. Visitors will enjoy big city advantages while experiencing Old South charm. There are cultural and recreational opportunities. It is the fashion center of the Carolinas. Before or after Congress there are many things to see and do. A four hour drive to the east takes you to the Atlantic beach resorts, a two hour drive to the west takes you to the Blue Ridge Mountains. Chapel Hill, the home of the University of North Carolina and Alpha-Alpha chapter is but two hours away and a must for travelers.

The Charlotte area alumni promise all a good time and they await the opportunity to entertain and help host Congress. More details will follow in the April Chakett.

Charlotte campus of the University of North Carolina will be site of Krannert Leadership Development Conference preceding the 1972 Congress of the Chi Phi Fraternity.

Chi Phi "Invades" California Legislature

By HUGH P. SCARAMELLA, L'70 SD'70

The University of California at Davis is located only thirteen miles away from California's state capitol at Sacramento, and members of the Sigma Delta Chapter at U.C.D. are making good use of that short distance for their academic and future careers. At present, no less than five brothers from the Davis chapter are working as legislative and administrative aids at the State Capitol.

The Chi Phi "invasion" of California's Legislature did not occur overnight. The first Chi Phis from UCD made their appearance two and a half years ago, working for various state agencies, including Water Resources and Mental Hygiene. These brothers, Lawrence Magura, SD '69 and Hugh Scaramella, SD '70, participated in the university sponsored internship program and received academic credit and a limited salary. Their participation, however, was just the beginning.

Soon after Scaramella's acceptance at U.C. Davis's law school, he began work on a part time basis for the state legislator from his hometown, assemblyman Ernest Mobley, republican from Fresno. He has been working for the assemblyman in some capacity ever since, with his current duties including work with youth in the district and speaking to high school civics classes on California government.

In California, unlike many other states, the State Legislature operates year long with each member allowed a minimum of four staff assistants, and offices both at the capitol and in their district. Also, many of them utilize the services of volunteer interns from UCD who receive credit for their work.

Soon to follow Scaramella to the Legislature was Brother Scott Johnson, SD '72, who also serves as house steward. Scott is an aid to assemblyman Jerry Lewis, republican from San Bernardino. Scott's main assignment in the office is development of the legislative program for the assemblyman, who specializes in election and educational issues.

Pat Hopkins, SD '72 is the student intern to the Assistant Director of the California Department of Consumer Affairs, Al Rosenzweig. Pat handles many special projects including a recently completed booklet explaining various services available to the public from the Department.

Mike Reynolds, SD '74, is currently spending time as an academic intern for Senator Nick Petris, democrat from Oakland. Mike has spent a large portion of his time in the field of air pollution, and smog requirements for automobiles sold in California.

Larry Green, SD '72, is the student intern for freshman republican assemblyman Richard Hayden from Santa Clara County, who represents, among other things, Stanford University. Larry has been helping out in a variety of areas for the assemblyman, concentrating on district matters and correspondence.

All Chi Phis in the capitol are quick to point out that they feel the experience to be very worthwhile. According to Scott Johnson, the experience of working in Sacramento is "in many ways, superior as a learning experience, to classroom activity." Scott, who plans on attending law school, feels that his work will be of great assistance to him in his law studies. Pay and academic credit varies with the individual and their program. According to Green, these items are almost secondary, because of the other benefits involved. He also points out that this work will be very valuable when applying for other types of work in the coming years.

Has there been any reaction to such a "Chi Phi conspiracy" in the Legislature? "Not really", according to Mike Reynolds, "we stay pretty much apart at work, as we all have varying schedules." "Also, because there are so many other Davis students working at the capitol, I don't really think we stand out as a group too much."

The chapter itself has a great deal of interest in political activities at the capitol, according to Pat Hopkins. "I think other guys in the house would like to have the opportunity to work in Sacramento — the problem is finding positions for everyone." The Chi Phis presently in the capitol do not feel they should openly push for other members to have jobs, rather, they keep everyone up to date as to where they might fit in, if they so desire.

What are the ambitions of these Chi Phis? One of them is already in law school and the others have set their sights on that goal. Beyond that, it's anyone's guess. If present work is any indication however, the men of the Sigma Delta Chapter will be well represented in Sacramento and the State Capitol in the years to come.

Rho Iota Kappa alumni association President Paul dePace '66 and Alpha Tom Scarponcini '72 display newly presented charter.

Rho Iota Kappa Tenth Anniversary Celebration A Success

On February 3, 1962, a group of interested brothers and friends met with several national officers at the Larchwood Inn in Wakefield to officially form the Rho Iota Kappa Chapter of Chi Phi Fraternity. On February 5th, 1972, ten years later, an even larger group of brothers and guests gathered to commemorate the occasion.

The three days of activities actually began on Friday, February 3, with an evening beer party and an informal get-together. On Saturday we had alumni registration, a buffet lunch and a meeting of the newly formed PIK Alumni Association. The day was climaxed with a cocktail hour at the chapter house and a dinner-dance in Newport, R.I. One of the highlights of the dinner dance was the presentation of the Alumni Association Charter to Paul dePace, association president. Making the presentation was Carl Gladfelter, National Director of the fraternity. Besides Brother Gladfelter, the official delegation from national also included John Craft, ID '60, Grand Zeta and Frank Kovacs, I'72, undergraduate council member. Approximately 200 people were present for the occasion. A Sunday morning brunch brought the weekend to a fitting close.

The time passed quickly and after all was said and done, it was very evident that the same spirit present when Rho Iota Kappa chapter was first formed at the University of Rhode Island, was still very much alive today. A good time was had by all . . .

A-A Contributes

The Carolina Choir of the University of North Carolina announced it needed $40,000 to accept an invitation to sing at Gray, Austria. Immediately afterwards the Alpha-Alpha chapter presented $100.00 to help fund the trip. Alpha, John Lovett '73, said, "It would be great if other fraternities and student organizations would help the Choir". So far, over $25,000 has since been raised.

Chi Phi Undergraduate Named Photographer Of the Year

Bob Emerson PIK '72 has been recently named by the New England Press Association as "Photographer of the Year". The award was made at the Association's recent awards banquet which was held in Boston. Bob was cited for his work on the Narragansett Times and Standard-Times, both weekly papers in the southern Rhode Island area.

The New England Press Association is a group of some 250 daily and weekly papers and the competition this year included some 1100 entries in all categories of newspaper production. Bob garnered a total of five awards in the Photographic division, and was thus eligible for the title "Photographer of the Year".

Among the photo awards were a first and second place in sports. Bob has also done considerable work for the Chakett by covering Congress for the past two sessions, and has been active in photography for the last five years.

Field Appointed To Appeal Court in Richmond

John A. Field, Jr., Epsilon '32 was first appointed a federal judge in August 1959. Until his new appointment he resided in Charleston, West Virginia, where he presided as chief judge of the U.S. District Court of Southern West Virginia.

Brother Field graduated from the University of Virginia law school in 1935. He joined a Charleston law firm and remained with them until 1946. In 1946 he was elected a Charleston Councilman. In 1957 he became the state tax Commissioner. Field was to remain in that office until Aug. 12, 1959, when he received U. S. Senate confirmation to be a federal judge for the Southern District.

Dick Ham reelected by N.I.C

Richard C. Ham, Lambda '33 of San Francisco, California was reelected to the Board of Directors of the National Interfraternity Conference at the annual meeting held in December.

At the first meeting of the Board, he was then reelected Treasurer. Brother Ham is also Delta of the Fraternity and a member of the Council.

He was recently honored by the Sigma Delta chapter at the University of California-Davis for his assistance to the chapter from its founding to present. A room was permanently named in his honor and a brass name plate offered over the door to the room.

'Everybody Called Him Cedric'

by BENEDICT E. HARDMAN

Reviewed by David J. Differding, GD '69

"Everybody Called Him Cedric" written by Benedict E. Hardman and published by Serendipity Press of Minneapolis, Minnesota, is a real tribute to the man known as "The Good Neighbor to the Midwest". Cedric Adams, GD '25, newspaper columnist, radio and television personality, and newscaster, died on February 18, 1961. He was everyone's friend, he took the time to meet people and learn from them. Cedric cared about people and people cared about him. Mr. Hardman presents the reader with a close and loving look at Cedric.

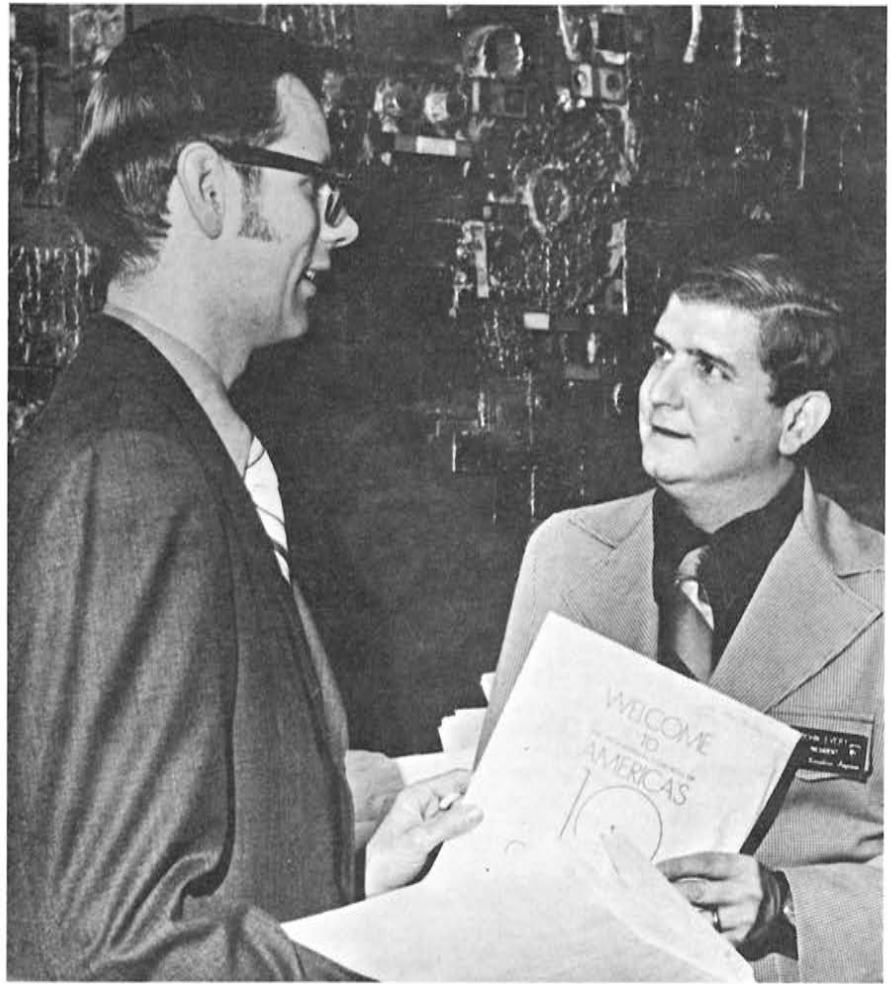

Chapter three deals with an item which should be of interest to all Chi Phis in the midwest, especially those from Gamma Delta Chapter. The author relates that Cedric's cousin Reginald Faragher, GD '23, and George Hellickson, GD '27, were very instrumental in getting Cedric to pledge their fraternity — Chi Delta Xi — which later, in 1928, joined the Chi Phi Fraternity. Other Chi Phis mentioned in the book are Brothers Nat Finney, GD '26, E. W. Ziebarth, GD '39, and the late Austin Grimes, GD '25.

Cedric, according to the author, got his start in newspaper writing while he was a student at the University of Minnesota, writing for the Minnesota Daily. After college he joined the staff of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune as a writer, and later he began writing a daily column of his own. With the advent of radio, Cedric, with his booming voice, found himself with radio station WOCO of Minneapolis, as a newscaster.

If you're from the midwest you can really appreciate the warmth and good humor related in the book. If you're not a midwesterner, I feel that the book speaks well for the "kind of folks who make up the population of the area, and Cedric was one of them. He truly was a good neighbor to the northwest.

Mr. Hardman has brought back the spirit of Cedric Adams, his writing, his relaxed manner, his interest in others, and his practical jokes. In the 50's when I was a small boy in western Minnesota, I remember many nights listening to the 10:00 o'clock News with Cedric, and then it was only natural that one went to bed, and in the morning you naturally awakened with Cedric. His early morning show assured you that the world was still here and that no calamity had befallen the human race while you slept; he showed a concern for his listeners — he really was a good neighbor to the northwest.

Gayl W. Doster, ID '60, (left) greeting Jaycee presidents visiting Indianapolis for the Congress of America's Ten Outstanding Young Men Today held during mid-January. Brother Doster was treasurer of the two-day TOYM Congress, and is a past treasurer of the Indianapolis Jaycee Chapter. In 1969 he received the Livengood Award for outstanding Jaycee chapter financial management in Indiana.

Among his accomplishments in community service are the following: Member of the Board of Directors of the Jaycees, Chairman of Clothe-a-Child project held at Christmastime in Indianapolis, he served on the bid team to promote Indianapolis for the site of the 1972 TOYM Congress.

Gayl is employed by the accounting firm Ernst & Ernst, and is Manager of the Audit Staff. From 1961-1968 he served as treasurer of the Indiana Chi Phi Alumni Association. He is a charter member of the Iota Delta Chapter and an avid Indiana University sports fan.

Both Gayl and his wife Beverly are natives of Fremont, Indiana. They have one daughter, Amy, who is four years old. They are members of the North Methodist Church in Indianapolis where Gayl serves as finance chairman.

New Jersey Chi Phi Busy in Community

Today, David T. Buck D'24 is Chairman of the Board of Buck Engineering Company, a company he founded. The company headquartered in Freehold, New Jersey has operations in Canada, California and Massachusetts. Buck Engineering manufactures electronic educational systems for use in schools around the world, and likes to be known as "the Knowledge Transfer Company". By definition a knowledge transfer system is an organized assembly of interacting facts or skills, techniques and materials which results in the optimum of learning efficiency.

Brother Buck is a very busy man in his business and community. He lives in Freehold, N. J. with his wife, Emilie. Among the organizations which he has given of his time and talents are: Freehold Board of Education, Borough Council, Greater Freehold Area Hospital Board of Trustees, Member of the Board of Directors and a Trustee of the Freehold Y.M.C.A., American Cancer Society Fund Raising Drive, Fund Raising Chairman of the United Fund, and a Trustee and Charter Member of the Monmouth Museum.

Who's Who in Commerce and Industry and Who's Who in the East both have a listing for "Buck, David Truex" and list of accomplishments goes on and on.

Brother Buck has been a member of the Freehold Rotary Club for more than 30 years and is now an honorary member. His interest in Chi Phi at Rutgers over the years has been shown in many ways. He is a member of the Freehold Reformed Church. He and his wife live at 116 West Main Street in Freehold.

Jacobi Named Head Interlochen National Music Camp

Roger E. Jacobi, Alpha-Tau '46, Associate Dean and Professor of Music in the University of Michigan School of Music and Director of the University Division of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, has been elected President of the Interlochen Center for the Arts, the National Music Camp and Interlochen Arts Academy.

In announcing the appointment, R. O. Bonisteel, Chairman of Interlochen's Trustees said, "Mr. Jacobi has been an excellent administrator and his training and background in music, together with his understanding of general cultures will be of great benefit to us."

"He has been associated with Interlochen for many years, is a former officer of the National Music Camp, and is familiar with the underlying philosophies projected by Dr. (J. E.) Maddy, founder of this famous center. At the same time he will bring to Interlochen such changes as might be necessary in the present day."

Brother Jacobi was born in Saginaw and graduated from Arthur Hill High there in February, 1942. He earned his bachelor of music education degree at the University of Michigan in 1948 and his master's there in 1951, where his principal instrument was trumpet. His association with the National Music Camp began in summer, 1953, when he became program director. He has been active with the "Interlochen" program since that date.

Brother Jacobi became a university School of Music lecturer in 1957, assistant professor in 1959, associate professor in 1963 and professor in 1966 — a title he will retain. Also, he became an assistant dean in the school in 1968 and was elevated to associate dean last month.

He married Mary Jane Stephans of Birmingham, Mich. in 1949. The couple have two children, Richard W., 18, and Martha S., 16.

CHAPTER LETTERS

Gamma Chapter

Emory University

Initiation was held on January 30th with 16 new men added to our brotherhood. The ceremony was followed by a dinner for the new brothers held at the house. The new brothers, as a pledge project, completely retiled the basement floor, added a stereo system to the house, and renovated the back stairwell. The completed projects have been most beneficial to the house, and the quality of workmanship and leadership shown is a fine indication of the calibre of the new men at Gamma.

The weekend of February 4th was the date of the Annual Chi Phi, Gamma Chapter formal. It was kicked off with a formal dance on Friday Evening and followed by a band party at the house on Saturday afternoon and a dance that evening at Park's Farm. Gamma, as in the past welcomed alumni to all the parties and enjoyed a very successful weekend.

On the sports scene, Gamma finished a very close second place in interfraternity football and has started another winning season on the soccer field. The basketball team led by Brother Craig McCroba has also shown great potential and will see some good action this quarter. The soccer team is led by Brother John Mills who formerly played on the Emory soccer team where he had won the plaudits of many.

The Gamma Chapter cocktail party given in honor of their alumni in December, turned out to be a great success with estimates of over 250 in attendance, including faculty, brothers, parents, and alumni. It proved to be a wonderful chance for the many supporters of Chi Phi and the fraternity system, to get together and really get to know one another. The date of another party will be announced soon. — Lewis Paine, Zeta

Iota Chapter

Ohio State University

Winter Quarter at Ohio State finds Iota in the hands of a new executive committee. The elected brothers are Alpha, Tom Guinther, Beta, Rollie Bergen, Gamma, Paul Perry, Delta, Steve Kannen, Epsilon, Randy Bevan, and Zeta, Bob Rice. Their first few weeks in office have shown that they can handle the responsibility quite admirably.

The rush situation at Iota during Autumn Quarter left much to be desired. We had not gained any pledges by the end of the quarter. But, putting the situation in proper perspective, Ohio State's Greek Community had only 225 men show a formal interest in rushing fraternities. For the entire system of 44 fraternities, only 19 men pledged during Rush Week. At this time Iota has 4 pledges and we are still rushing hard.

Keeping our renovation ideas alive, we hope to make plans in the near future for a major renovation and reconstruction of the bathroom facilities this summer. We have recently purchased a new color television and are seriously considering the purchase of a new washer and dryer for the laundry room.

The Greek Community has been plagued with a series of breaking and enterings and burglaries. Security has always been a problem at Iota, but when the house was hit with a series of burglaries, we decided to install a combination lock system on the front entrance and make the first floor locktight.

Our intramural football season had quite an interesting twist to it. When the dust of regular season play had cleared, two teams were left to battle out the championship, Chi Phi I and Chi Phi II. In a well earned victory (which included one broken ankle and a case of temporary amnesia) Chi Phi II came out on top. Being defending Ohio State Greek basketball champions and having our starting five back, this season promises to be another excellent one for Iota.

The evening of January 28th found some of the brothers from the 1960's gathered in the house for an informal reunion, thanks to the efforts of Brothers Dan Dozer and Dick "Turkeybuzzard" Baker. If any other brothers of a particular era are interested in having a party at the house, please contact us and we will start making the proper arrangements.

Brother Don Balch, Iota '40, Santa Barbara, California, has made a considerable contribution towards starting a contributors plaque and fund. When we finalize the arrangements, we will inform you about the project in greater detail. Our most sincere thanks are extended to Brother Balch.

Finally, and most important, all brothers will be proud to hear that Iota did find time to do some studying amongst all our activities and rose to 10th on campus scholastically out of the 44 fraternities.

That's it from Iota. Stop in sometime, the door is always open. — Frank Kovacs, Alumni Relations Chairman.

Phi Chapter

Amherst College

For the Phi Chapter, this was a pivotable year in which 29 new pledges had to be integrated into the fraternity. With only 10 seniors and 3 juniors, the sophomore delegation contained over half of the membership in the house. Pledging progressed satisfactorily and in October, the 29 were initiated as new brothers. The sophomores have given much leadership to the house as Tom Theye was elected House Manager and Buzz Doherty, David O'Kell, and Hal Thayer were installed as Social Chairmen. All did a creditable job and more recently another sophomore, Dick Lipton, was made treasurer of the house.

Various improvements were implemented the first semester under Ted Peters, Alpha, and they included the restoration of the Game Room and the painting of a number of common rooms. The house is now in fine physical shape with the outside of the Phi getting a coat of paint as the next item on the agenda.

This fall, the brothers held a Testimonial Dinner for Peter Kaslauskas, House custodian and brother, who has been with the Phi for over 20 years. As the result of a number of contributions received from generous alumni and undergraduate brothers we were able to present Koz with gifts and a bankbook for more than $3,000. Koz is still with us and many of the brothers still go hunting and fishing with him.

That's all the news for now; drop in and say hello if you are in the area. — Ted Peters, Alpha

Psi Chapter

Lehigh University

As the first semester comes to an end and the second one begins, Psi Chapter finds itself in a much better position than it was last year. There seems to be a renewed interest in all facets of fraternity life.

Rushing has gone well this year. We knew we had to take a large pledge class, and every Brother has done his part. We now have twelve pledges and we hope to get ten more before formal rush ends in February.

Interest in intramural sports has increased this year. The Brothers participated in intramural football, volleyball, basketball, and badminton. We did quite well in football and badminton. Psi also has its share of varsity athletes. Of course we can't replace Steve Shields who finished second in the NCAA wrestling championships, last year, however, we do have quite a few varsity athletes. Two brothers were members of The MAC Championship Soccer Team. Pavelka, '928 Clark, Lincoln and Walt high scorer on the lacrosse team as a sophomore. He is anxiously awaiting the beginning of the lacrosse season. Chi Phi is also represented on the golf, rugby, and wrestling teams of Lehigh University.

Psi chapter has also participated in community activities sponsored by the I.F.C. This fall we hosted a Halloween party for underprivileged children. A blood drive is planned for the second semester.

This is just a brief description of some of the things that Psi has been involved in this year. I can assure you this activity is much more than I have seen in the past. It is indeed gratifying that this revitalization of the chapter has come on the eve of our 100th Anniversary. — W. David Eiseman, Zeta

Alpha Delta Chapter

Pennsylvania State University

The Greek system has definitely taken an upswing at Penn State this school year. Not only Chi Phi but the entire system is doing extremely well. This past fall there was an increase of 33% in the number of men to pledge the Greek system over the previous fall.

We rush continually throughout the school year to fill up the house and strengthen our brotherhood. This past fall we pledged six men and we have seven for our winter term class. There are presently forty men living in the house with a capacity of forty-two.

Intramurally, Alpha Delta's accomplishments have been a pleasant surprise. We lost in the finals of the playoff for the football championship last term and we are undefeated in basketball this term and have high hopes for wrestling and swimming.

In other areas the brotherhood has been active. We have six men working with the Interfraternity Council and many more active in other campus activities.

Physically the house is definitely in need of repair. We are organizing a fund-raising campaign for some improvements such as new living room furniture, kitchen renovations, and new dining room furniture. We hope to have some of the major items by the end of this term.

We are fortunate in that Andrew Shultz, AD '60, was elected this past fall as President of our Alpha Delta House Association. Through his efforts, the efforts of other concerned alumni, and the efforts of the house officers we hope to get our fund-raising campaign organized and under way.

The character of the brotherhood here at Alpha Delta is outstanding and we continue as one of the top fraternities on campus. — John R. Hubsch, Zeta

Epsilon Delta Chapter

Oregon State University

With the coming of a new school year the brothers of Epsilon Delta came back to a house which showed a vast amount of improvement. The improvements included such items as recapping the roof, refinishing much of the cabinet work, and repainting much of the inside and outside of the house.

This was largely possible through the effort of alum Ennis Wuite, ED '62. Brother Wuite was elected to the position of President-Treasurer of the Alumni Association, and a new financial system was initiated in which Brother Wuite was given sole control of the major billing operation. This system has worked quite efficiently, and we send our thanks to Brother Wuite and the other alums. Aside from structural improvements we also have had the privilege of adding a pool table to the house.

Rush week brought us fifteen new pledges, which together, has produced one of the most spirited classes ever. They have showed much enthusiasm and participated actively in activities at the house and on campus.

One of the most hilarious events our house participated in was a homecoming carnival, which was put on by the University. In collaboration with a spirited sorority, we sponsored a pie throwing booth, which brought along with many laughs, a fair amount of earnings.

Along with our participation in intramurals, University committees, honoraries, ski trips, and exchanges, our house proudly boasts an all house GPA of 2.76, which was found to be quite high university wide. Also included in our house this year was a German foreign exchange student who is working to get his masters degree in economics.

Our housemother, who is also a graduate student, plans to get her doctorate in Biology at the end of this year. Then she will be leaving us for her home in California with, we hope, many pleasurable memories. — Gordon Sato, Gamma; Richard Marks, Zeta

Iota Delta Chapter

Indiana University

In our previous newsletter for the Chakett, we announced that the Iota Delta chapter had returned from the disastrous fire of March 29, 1971. Now we are pleased to report that we not only have returned, but we also are growing.

With only ten brothers living in the house during the fall semester, we pledged and then initiated on January 30, 1972, nine men into our brotherhood. These new brothers moved into the house for the spring semester, along with two other brothers. As a result, we have 21 men in the house this semester. Regarding the new initiates, they have real leadership capabilities and with all their enthusiasm they will be able to contribute much more to Iota Delta than just a monthly housebill.

Further, with the assistance of John Craft, one of our alumni, we have organized an extensive rush campaign for current high school seniors who will be enrolling at Indiana University for the fall semester. We are having two rush weekends — on March 4 and March 25 — and we have mailed over 750 letters to prospective rushees. On March 4, among other activities, we will be taking the rushees to the Indiana-Ohio State basketball game. The tickets for this occasion have been financed generously by some of our fine alumni — Robert K. Walker, '70, Joseph V. Goeller '64, Gayl W. Doster '60, Gregory L. Tunis '68, Dr. Raymond T. Snapp '67, and John Craft '61.

If any Chi Phi knows of a good prospect who is enrolled or will be entering Indiana University, please contact the rush chairman of our chapter immediately. We will be very appreciative of any "leads."

We also plan to have a couple rush parties in the early summer as a follow-up on the spring high school rush. We want to forewarn the Iota Delta alumni, especially those residing in Indiana, that we will be calling on them for their assistance.

We failed to mention in the last Chakett newsletter that we of Iota Delta are deeply indebted to Brother Frank "Fuff" Findley from the Iota chapter. He spent some six weeks in Indiana last summer, and another five days on campus in the fall, helping us with rush. Much of the credit for getting our rush program rolling for this past semester goes to Fuff.

Regarding scholarship, we finally have learned from Indiana University that we ranked 12th out of 33 fraternities on campus for the spring semester, 1971. This was quite an accomplishment in view of our chapter house fire during that semester. For the fall semester, 1971, we believe our ranking will improve since four of the nine pledges had over a 3.0 index and four of the ten brothers living in the house surpassed the 3.0 level.

Scholarship and rush, however, are not our only activities, as we seem to be "partying" and participating in intramural activities as much, if not more, as we have in previous years.

As per usual, we want to extend an invitation to all Chi Phis, both undergraduates and alumni, to stop by Iota Delta at any opportunity for a visit. — William R. Fawcett, Zeta and Ronald T. Penner, Gamma

Alpha Theta Chi Chapter

University of Nebraska

Spirit and enthusiasm has been at its all time peak this year. The past semester is the best one we have had in years. The credit in great part, goes to men like Tom Sadler, past Alpha; Rob Linehan, Delta; Dave Pavelka, Financial Advisor; and Gary Fricke, Housefather, to name a few.

Rush is getting our top priority. This year we have gone to a completely informal rush approach and our efforts are beginning to pay off. With spring rush success, our building rush momentum will carry us through the summer in excellent shape. If you know of any men who are good prospects for Alpha Theta Chi, send us their names.

An all-out effort to improve on our scholastic standing resulted in a house average of 2.7, which compared well with other fraternities on campus. Once again, we are entering teams in all aspects of intramural sports and we are providing tough University competition. Also, we have many parties scheduled this spring, so our social calendar is full as usual.

With the encouragement of Vic Smith, Alpha Theta Chi '36, our alumni are reorganizing their leadership to bring about an active alumni group. Our alumni who have graduated since the rechartering in 1963, especially Dave Pavelka, '28 (Ark, Lincoln and Walt Radcliffe, 300 South 26th, Lincoln, will be the enthusiasm and leadership of the reorganized group. If you have any ideas or questions, we hope that you will contact these two men.

The brothers of Alpha Theta hope that all of our alumni have received their Chi Phi Crescent. The response to this newsletter has been very encouraging. We really would like to hear from all of our alumni. — Steven L. Schneiderwind, Alpha

Omicron Delta Chapter

Miami University

Omicron Delta is still on the way up at Miami University. Although membership has been holding steady at about 24 this past year, the taking of a fall pledge class and a vigorous rush program, winter quarter, give the promise of increasing numbers of brothers in the future. This, along with the declining membership of some of the larger fraternities on campus, speaks well for the brothers of the chapter.

Much work is still being done on the house. During the past three years every room in the house has been completely repainted and many have been redesigned. Much ingenuity has gone into construction of desk, bed, and closet combinations which allow the brothers of each room the greatest amount of space, comfort and privacy.

In interfraternity sports, the chapter maintains its status of active participation. Although our numbers do not include any super athletes, we do have several fierce competitors in swimming events and bike races. Otherwise we have been limited to what we refer to as "moral victories". For example, the high point of our football season was our scoring of one touchdown. We did, however, win the award for sportsmanship.

On the social scene, our house holds its own with all the others. Our explicit specialty has been organized parties with limited funds on the spur of the moment. Strangely enough, it almost seems that the more spontaneous and inexpensive the party, the more it is enjoyed. While commenting on social activities, it should be mentioned that four of the brothers are engaged and one is pinned. Five brothers may sound like only a few, until you recall that it is over 20% of the membership.

Now that the school year is well on the way, the chapter looks forward to more progress of the style and type we are accustomed to. With the confidence of the last two years with us, we feel certain of our ability to grow in the years to come, on our ever changing campus. — R. K. Smith, Zeta

Orlando Chi Phi Colony

Florida Technological University

The formal pledging and recognition ceremony for the Chakett Club of Florida Technological University at Orlando was held on December 3, 1971.

The following men were pledged: James Greenough, Alpha; Randy Ferguson, Beta; Rich Dameron, Gamma; Don Patterson, Delta; Tom Blyth, Epsilon; Steve Kurdziolek, Chuck Burt, Bill Searle, Jim Simmons, Kent Tallasken, Tony Ozzimo, and Richard Wolken.

Alumni attending were all from the University of Florida Chapter: Bob Cody, '40, Judge Roger A. Barker, '35, and Tommy David '70. Four active brothers from Theta Delta officiated at the ceremony headed by Pete Caterina, Alpha. After the pledge ceremony and induction of officers, refreshments were served.

The Chakett Club is off to a good start academically. The twelve members had an overall average of 2.9 for the fall quarter. Dan Patterson headed the list with a 3.5 and Jim Greenough followed closely with a 3.4 — Jimmy Greenough, Alpha Every summer pins like the above go to those devoted Brothers who have maintained contact over the years. Pledge pins are sent to all boy babies, too, so keep the Council informed on developments.

Here follows some of the comments received:

• Just a short note to thank you for the pledge pin you sent my son, Todd. We all thought that was just great.—Lee Caruso, A D '67, Camp Hill, Pa.

• What an unexpected and timely surprise which accompanied your letter of August 6, 1971. The Fifty Year Chi Phi Emblem is one which I shall wear proudly. The arrival was most timely, it being two days before my 72nd birthday.

I have read aloud to many relatives and friends the poem which was included in your letter. By so doing, this has increased my enjoyment of it.—Griffin Crafts, B '24, New York, N.Y.

• Today, the 50 year Chi Phi badge arrived. Its receipt was a most pleasant surprise. Since I had no knowledge of the fraternity's recognizing fifty years of membership in such a nice manner, the arrival of the package containing the badge puzzled me until it was opened. I shall treasure it and thank you for sending it to me.—Harry G. Burks, Jr., A '21 B '23, Elizabeth, N.J.

• I wish to acknowledge the receipt of and thank you for the very nice 50-year badge of Chi Phi which certainly does recall my induction into the ranks of this great fraternity at its Beta Chapter, Mass. Inst. of Technology.—Anthony Anable, B '20, Stamford, Conn.
