Thirty-eight years while the changing scenes
Of a chequered life roll by,
And tonight there is not a single regret —
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

Oh the memories, scenes, and the loyal men
Who in peaceful graves now lie,
Fellows who loved and leved me much —
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

But the living men are the ones to bear
Our dear old banner high.
May your records all reach far beyond
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

Tell me not of Fraternities large and strong
Which for prominence vainly vie.
I am in the best — but the best of all is
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

I have gripped the hands of brothers true,
South and West, abroad and nigh.
And never a one has failed me yet —
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

There are two or three "ancients" outranking me yet,
Quite as loyal as I to the tie,
But what is a year or two for I am
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

The Patriarch says to the youngest man
"Be loyal 'til you die."
I am proud and glad to stand tonight
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

Bear ye aloft the Scarlet and Blue,
Let the royal colors fly.
I greet you tonight with heart and hand,
Thirty-eight years a Chi Phi.

LET'S TALK
IT OVER . . .

THE 1961 SEPTEMBER CHAKETT was received with great acclaim by alumni and undergraduates. Apparently it served its purpose well as both the number of men pledged and initiated increased this year.

You will recall the issue was designed to appeal to rushees and their parents. With a few exceptions, all chapters requested the issue be reprinted in substantially the same form. This has been done. With the exception of the cover and the first and last four pages the material contained herein is virtually unchanged from the September 1961 edition.

Remove the cover and the first two pages and you have the 1962 rush book. Why not put it to good use? Perhaps a son of one of your friends, or a boy living in your neighborhood, is entering college this fall. Whether or not the school of his choice is the site of a Chi Phi chapter, he will be interested in fraternities. We suggest you share the rush brochure with him. If he happens to be matriculating at a school with a chapter, send the Council office his name and the information requested on the form on the back cover. The recommendation will be sent to the proper chapter rush chairman immediately.

The brochure was made available to the chapters in May, in time for summer rushing. Each chapter received a quantity of free copies, based on the number of men pledged in recent years, and can purchase additional copies.

The brochure is available in any quantity to Chi Phi Alumni Clubs, Chi Phi Chapter House Associations, and individual alumni for rushing. The price is 15c per copy plus mailing cost. Place orders through the Council Office.

PRINCIPLES OF ACTION

The National Interfraternity Council, of which Chi Phi is a charter member, adopted the Principles of Action at its 1961 meeting. The Chi Phi Council publishes them here with the hope that each chapter will pledge itself anew to the principles and their implementation.

Principles of Action

NATIONAL INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE

IN ORDER THAT the members of the National Interfraternity Conference may better serve the educational institutions of which they are an integral part; and

IN ORDER THAT the Conference and college and university administrators may develop and maintain a closer relationship, to their mutual advantage; and

IN ORDER THAT the public may be better informed of the role that fraternities play in the constructive development of the young men of this nation...

THESE PRINCIPLES ARE DECLARED:

I • LOYALTY TO THE INSTITUTION

will be achieved by:

- A. Indoctrinating pledges and members in the history, traditions and importance of their college or university; and
- B. Planning participation by undergraduates and alumni alike in those events which build pride in their institution.

II • CONSTRUCTIVE TRAINING will be fostered by:

- A. Directing formal training dedicated to development and improvement of pledges as citizens and as fraternity men; and
- B. Stimulating full opportunity for the development of positive leadership abilities.

III • INTELLECTUAL ACHIEVEMENT

will be encouraged by:

- A. Providing an environment in the fraternity chapter which will stimulate intellectual and cultural progress; and
- B. Establishing respect for scholarship as the primary purpose of a college education.

IV • COMMENDABLE CONDUCT

will be sought by:

- A. Teaching and exemplifying the standards of good taste and sound morals; and
- B. Disciplining promptly and effectively any active members or pledges who deviate from these standards.

V • MANAGEMENT RESPONSIBILITY

will be promoted by:

- A. Emphasizing the imperative nature of responsibility in the role of good citizenship; and
- B. Developing progressive experience in management as the members gain maturity.

VI • DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES

will be inculcated by:

- A. Encouraging freedom of thought and action within the democratic processes and procedures of the member organizations; and
- B. Lending active support to those who protect our constitutional rights as citizens and as Americans.

In the implementation of these principles we seek the guidance and cooperation of college and university administrators. In turn, we pledge ourselves to sincere effort in the achievement of these objectives as evidence that the college fraternities continue to be a powerful force in the constructive development of young men in the transition from youth to manhood.

Chi Phi Scholarship Shows Upward Trend

THE 1960-61 REPORT of the College Fraternity Scholarship Processing, a committee of the National Interfraternity Conference, indicates definite improvement in chapter scholarship over 1959-60.

Ten chapters were reported to be above the all-men's average on their campus compared to six the previous year. Two chapters, Theta (Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute) and Epsilon (Hampden-Sydney College) ranked first among all chapters on their campus. The University of Oregon Colony led all groups on its campus.

Table I ranks the chapters having averages above the all-men's average. Table II lists the degree of improvement shown by those chapters moving upwards. This latter table is significant for it is here the years improvement is indicated. Nineteen chapters showed improvement over the previous year, one, Chi (Dartmouth College), did not improve but still remained above Dartmouth's all-men's average, twelve declined.

The annual scholarship award winners are:

Theta — The annual Chi Phi Achievement Award plaque and $100. for ranking first among all chapters in scholarship in 1960-61.
Sigma — $100. for showing the greatest improvement for the year among chapters having forty or more members.

Beta — $75. for showing the greatest improvement for the year among chapters having less than 40 members.

The awards will be presented at the Congress awards lunch on September 5, 1962, Netherland Hilton Hotel, Cincinnati, Ohio. The awards are made annually by the Trustees of the Chi Phi Educational Trust.

Better Grades." Tau was one of five

Much emphasis has been placed on chapter scholarship programs in recent years. The Educational Trust has assisted materially by furnishing each pledge a copy of "How to Study." During the 1961-62 academic year it gave grants to two chapters, Eta, (University of Georgia) and Tau (University of Alabama). Eta used their grant to conduct a seminar in study habits and techniques for all pledges and their upper-classmen encountering scholastic difficulties. The Dean of Men selected a member of the University teaching staff to direct the program. The text used was Dr. Leslie J. Nason's "You Can Get fraternities on the University of Alabama campus participating in an experimental program directed by a Ph.D. candidate in Education under the jurisdiction of the School of Education. The results of the experiment are to be published if the techniques used prove to be beneficial.

The Educational Trust also made several grants to assist chapters in the improvement of their library and study facilities. The Chi chapter received $250 to be used in the construction of a new study area. The chapter matched the gift. Epsilon-Delta (Oregon State University) received an award of $300 to be used in a similar manner.

$$\frac{\text{CHAPTER AVERAGE MINUS ALL-MEN'S AVERAGE}}{\text{MAXIMUM POSSIBLE MINUS ALL-MEN'S AVERAGE}} \times 100 = \text{INDEX (in \%)}$$

The ratio expressed in per cent is the scholarship index and indicates the extent to which a chapter has advanced towards (or regressed from) perfection as related to the all-men's average grade on that campus.

Professor Charles W. Stoddart Succeeds Dr. James M. Grimes Jr. As Scholarship Counselor

Continuing Chi Phis' recent tradition of choosing a college teacher to serve as Scholarship Director, the Grand Alpha appointed Charles W. Stoddart, A. D. '31, Director and professor of physical education extension, Pennsylvania State University, to replace James M. Grimes, Jr., Phi '31.

Brother Stoddart is no newcomer on the Chi Phi scene. He has visited chapters during the past two years while serving as Chapter Inspector (a title he finds thoroughly disagreeable), and has been one of Alpha Delta's chapter advisors for many years.

He is an avid sports enthusiast both as a spectator and participant. With his office only a long putt away from Penn States' fine golf course, you frequently find him there on a summer day. His great interest in conservation led him to help with the establishment of the Junior Conservation Camp, held each summer in Stone Valley for high school boys. In 1953-54 he was president of the Pennsylvania State Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He takes over the scholarship activities on August 1, 1962.

Brother Grimes, professor of history and chairman of the department at the University of The South, Sewanee, Tennessee, the retiring Scholarship Counselor asked to be relieved of his duties. A long awaited sabbatical leave during 1962-63 will find him in Europe and Greece and he felt he could not properly direct the Scholarship program during his extended leave from the country. The report on this years scholarship is testimony to his efforts.

James E. Hartsel, Rho 62, Wins 1962 William W. Eddy Memorial Scholarship Award

JAMES E. HARTSEL
Rho '62

James E. Hartsel, Rho '62, and immediate past Alpha of the chapter, is the recipient of the 1962 William W. Eddy Memorial Scholarship awarded by Lafayette College's chapter of the American Association of University Professors. The award amounts to approximately $500. Hartsel, a major in mechanical engineering, will enter Ohio State University this fall to study aeronautical engineering.

Ohio State has awarded him a fellowship. At Lafayette he has received the Karl J. Ammerman Prize in Mechanical Engineering, American Military Engineers Medal for Excellence, Distinguished Military Student Award, and awards as an outstanding ROTC cadet in his freshman and junior years. Jim resides in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

Epsilon Approaches the Century Mark

By Robert T. Hubbard, E'35, Chapter Advisor

NEXT YEAR'S PLEDGE class — the Class of 1967 — will be the Centennial Class of Epsilon of Chi Phi. This class will graduate one hundred years after the Epsilon Chapter was established at Hampden-Sydney College in 1867.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes observed in "The Wonderful One-Hoss Shay" —

"Little of all we value here

Wakes on the morn of its hundreth year

Without both feeling and looking queer."

Fortunately Epsilon neither feels nor looks queer; it draws to the end of its first century filled with youth, talent and vigor and backed by capable, active, loyal alumni. It is the oldest Chapter on the Campus — it has endured through troubled times and is the only one of the original five fraternities still in existence.

Senator Robert K. Brock, Epsilon '97, Alpha '03, the grand gentleman who as a student and as an alumnus has been active in promoting Epsilon affairs for an unbelievable seventy years, explains that in his student days the average enrollment was 130 students. With as many as eight fraternities in a college so small, competition was keen and the life of a chapter was precarious. The average number of men in any one chapter was not in excess of eight — consequently by graduation or otherwise, any fraternity might find itself at the beginning of a new session with only two or three members back. Rushing could be a life or death matter — And so it was with some of the old fraternities: Beta Theta Pi, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Gamma Delta passed from the Campus. However, Chi Phi survived and remains the oldest among the seven fraternities — with the College enrollment at 500 its future is secure.

Why did Epsilon survive while other chapters were not so fortunate? One important reason has been the close and continuing interest of the alumni in the Chapter. To illustrate — the Chi Phis were the first to build their own fraternity house, The Caravansary. The alumni backed them in this; in the session 1907-1908 Senator Robert K. Brock, Mr. H. G. Thayer '07, and Mr. W. V. Moore '10 as trustees took title to a lot and built the house. The Caravansary served well until 1925 when Senator Brock promoted the purchase of the present Chi Phi House.

With this house the Chi Phis were the first to provide sleeping accommodations for their members. Again the alumni made the move possible — Senator Brock formed a corporation which raised enough money to acquire the property.

But today, nearly forty years later, the house with sleeping quarters is not unique. All chapters have handsome homes. Again Epsilon alumni are organizing to give Epsilon help with its house.

A survey of available sites made by a group of alumni and active members resulted in a decision that the present location continues to hold unusual advantages for privacy and convenience — furthermore it appears that the direction of future growth and development of the Campus and College Community will tend to enhance the value of the present site.

A study of qualified architects reveals that the present house is structurally sound and its spacious dimensions would be difficult to retain in new construction especially within the limits imposed by the college, consequently they advised remodeling the exterior along lines that are architecturally in keeping with other buildings on the campus. The plans also call for the construction of a Terrace Room as an extension of the basement to provide more room for an expanding chapter.

Action by the alumni has always been in support of energetic action by the active chapter members. A good fraternity is more than a house. What sort of men has the Chapter been turning out? Last year seven new alumni were included in Who's Who in America. Four of the seven were Chi Phi's. John A. Field, Jr. '32, District Judge U. S. District Court — Southern District of West Virginia, Charleston, W. Va. O. B. Bobbitt, Jr., M.D. '38 Xi '38, Director of Clinical Laboratories, University of Virginia Hospital, Charlottesville, Va. W. Edwin Hemphill, Ph.D., '32 G '33 Columbia S. C. — noted work on Calhoun Papers. Herbert Trotter, Ph.D. '31 A '33, Pres. Gen. Tel. & Electronics Lab. Inc., New York, N. Y.

All these men did advanced study after leaving Hampden-Sydney — this is typical of Epsilon graduates.

What sort of men has the Chapter been taking in? The Chapter is presently composed of exceptionally strong men who are doing well academically and are identified with all worthwhile projects on the campus. Thus bids are respected and sought after as exhibited by the result of the last rushing season — 27 bids were issued and 23 pledged. This is a group that can be supported by the alumni with confidence.

Epsilon looks forward to its second century with confidence knowing that it is making a valuable contribution to the lives of its members.

Dedication to Future Chi Phis

THIS BOOK is dedicated to those who will be the Chi Phis of the future. Presented here is something of our history, our accomplishments, and of the men who are Chi Phis. With chapters spread throughout America, and alumni scattered to the four winds, Chi Phi is bound together by cherished memories of chapter friendships and the high ideals on which the Fraternity is founded. These things are never lost. Chi Phi itself can never be expressed in print for it must be experienced. From the pages that follow we hope you will catch the spark of pride and loyalty which is traditional among those who are Chi Phis.

What Is a College Fraternity?

A FRATERNITY is not as transparent as it seems. It is more than a house, humble and old, or new and magnificent, decorated in placard and crepe paper for homecoming. It is more than a group of fellows wearing the same kind of badges on their shirts, or rings on their fingers. It is more than a Greek letter on a windshield. It is more than a ritual with music and robes in a chapter room. It is more than a big dance or an interfraternity game.

The Greek letter fraternity, in its highest expression, is a group of men of common purposes, living, playing, studying together, with an underlying feeling of deep friendship. It is a group of select men, each of whom contributes to the group and benefits from this association with chosen brothers of the same character. It is a group of men united in a high ideal beautifully expressed in a ritual. It is an association that makes a man of the boy who entered college, and sends him out into the world poised and self-confident, and, even more important, surrounded with a group of friends who will be close to him through life.

THETA DELTA

Should I Join? . . .

YOU HAVE PROBABLY asked yourself: What will a fraternity do to me? Will I become snobbish or conceited? Will it give me a false conception of life? Interfere with my studies? Create a false sense of values? And so on down the line. A member of the University of Minnesota chapter, Reverend Robert A. Lesch, Gamma Delta '50, Rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Minneapolis, provided thought and answer to this when he wrote: "Most of us have been asked such questions and have found it difficult to come up with the answers sometimes. What does one say? There is one broad and comprehensive answer. It is that the effect a fraternity has on an individual is chiefly in the hands of the individual himself.

The fraternity ideal is a powerful thing. It has within it tremendous possibilities—both for good and for bad. It can do, and does, much for the character and ideals of the individual member . . . There are a great many aspects of fraternity life. The fraternity system has many facets—scholastic, ritualistic, social. No one of these aspects of fraternity life would I personally care to see removed. With the comment that most of the energies of the fraternity are misdirected and wasted, I strongly disagree. The great good and the strengths that are inherent in the fraternity are far too evident to me . . . There are privileges and opportunities in a fraternity experience which should not be taken lightly. The quality and quantity of power involved is too great to permit or deserve trifling and carelessness. Choose to take the fraternity seriously.

The powerful hold that a fraternity can have upon the respect and affections of its members is proof of the soundness of its ideals. The Fraternity, basically, is dedicated to the development of character, leadership, and responsibility. It is a training ground for brotherly kindness, example, and advice, through which we help each other to recognize new duties and responsibilities. The qualities symbolized by our badge and represented in our ritual are among the finest guides to manly conduct. There is a feeling of rightful pride and a feeling of being fortunate to be associated with such a group. We are guided by a code which is ancient and honorable, and yet very simple. Herein lies the great strength of the Fraternity.

It is for you to choose, and to establish the effectiveness of your own fraternity experience for yourself. Your choice will also have its effect on the fraternity system as a whole. For the fraternity system will ultimately be judged by the manner of service it renders to the individual, and in a broader sense, to the academic community within which it exists."

Why Chi Phi? . . .

To THOSE WITHIN the circle of her brotherhood this question needs no answer, yet to the uninitiated, expression is difficult. The lasting friendships, the high ideals, the spirit of Chi Phi . . . these must be experienced, and therefore to the prospective initiate we can only point to our history, to the strength of our Fraternity, to the character and loyalty of our chapters, to the devotion of our alumni, to their characters, and to their accomplishments in every field.

Walter Cronkite, University of Texas, Nu '37 famed CBS News Correspondent a strong believer in fraternities, and Chi Phi in particular, recently said, "I do believe that our college fraternities can have a deep meaning and hence a fine purpose in cementing bonds of life-long friendships that can be a source of happiness in man's hike through life. That to me is goal enough."

Our History

CHI PHI is one of the oldest of the national fraternities. The Chi Phi Fraternity of today is the outgrowth of the union of three earlier organizations, each of which bore the name "Chi Phi." The first of these older organizations originated at the College of New Jersey (Princeton University) in 1824 and is now known as the Princeton Order. This society ceased to be active in 1825 but was reestablished under the same name at Princeton University in the winter of 1853-54; a second chapter was established in 1854 at Franklin and Marshall College. The second of these older organizations bearing the name "Chi Phi" was established at the University of North Carolina in 1858 and is now known as the Southern Order of Chi Phi. The third of these older organizations, known as the "Secret Order of Chi Phi," was established at Hobart College in 1860, and is known as the Hobart Order of Chi Phi. The growing number of chapters led, in 1874, to the founding of the United Order of Chi Phi.

From this early origin Chi Phi has expanded steadily, yet conservatively, and never too rapidly for the complete assimilation of new groups. Chapters were placed with discrimination in the finest institutions, and great caution was exercised that Chi Phi should remain a personal fraternity with a strong national consciousness, rather than a mere association.

Today

THE CHI PHI FRATERNITY consists of 34 chapters and has on its membership rolls approximately 19,100 initiates. These various chapters established strategically throughout the nation represent a cross-section of the foremost colleges of the country. Twenty-nine of these chapters own their own homes, having a total value in excess of $2,500,000.

Not only has Chi Phi placed emphasis on the standards required of initiates but likewise has placed chapters, with discrimination, at those colleges and universities which draw the best American college men. Ninety percent of our chapters are located in the fifty top academic institutions in the country. Thus, Chi Phi has drawn leaders from the finest collegiate groups in America. This is truly reflected in the character and achievements of her alumni.

Many fraternities speak to you of four years; Chi Phi speaks to you of forty—and such you must regard it, for Chi Phi represents the loyalty of a lifetime. Many groups point to their campus leaders; Chi Phi to a century of history made fine by the loyalty and accomplishments of men who pledged their devotion to Chi Phi. Because the fraternity neither accepts a shoddy prospect nor tolerates a weak chapter, one's loyalty is not restricted to his own chapter, for every man who wears the badge is a brother, to be welcomed as such in college, in business, in life. Such is the brotherhood of Chi Phi—not four years, but forty.

In a number of cities and states Chi Phis have formed alumni associations, and 33 house associations have organized themselves to counsel, house, and finance their chapters. These groups meet regularly to conduct business and socialize.

"When any group of men go to college, it is but natural for them to seek mutual friendships. Membership in the fraternities, and particularly in Chi Phi, brings values of friendship which will last not only through college years but through life. There will be mutual interests, mutual help and a sense of security through the fraternity spirit. Fraternity membership has a value that endures."

What Price Membership? . . .

A FEW DOLLARS AND DEVOTION to the high ideals for which it stands. The initiation fee levied by the Fraternity is broken into two payments. A pledge pays a fee immediately after pledging; however, this is actually credited against the initiation fee upon initiation. The funds thus placed at the disposal of the Council are used to: maintain chapter supervision through visitation, perpetuate the chapter and alumni rolls, publish The Chakett (a journal of, and about Chi Phis), hold Congress and Leadership Training School, and maintain the Office of the Council.

It is a fact that Chi Phi, one of the first fraternities to adopt a voluntary alumni dues program, receives over one-third of its annual income from alumni—mute testimony that Chi Phi alumni everywhere believe in the value of the Fraternity and willingly support it financially.

Judge L. Z. Rosser, Emory University '09

"There are many reasons for joining a fraternity, but the one that stands out in my mind is friendship. All of the knowledge in the world is of no consequence if we cannot get along with our fellow man. Life in a fraternity house teaches us the necessity for getting along with others and gives us the opportunity to practice what we learn. The friendships you made in Chi Phi you will carry with you all your life—not for four years, but for forty."

programs, and forms of communication maintaining chapter and alumni unity and strength.

Congress

MEETING EACH YEAR in a different section of the nation, Chi Phis are in close contact with their National Fraternity and its activities. The legislative power of the Fraternity is vested exclusively in Congress, composed of delegates chosen by the chapters and chartered alumni associations.

The host Chi Phi Club arranges the social program and it is not uncommon to have an attendance of two or three hundred alumni at the Congressional Ball or Banquet. One hundred thirty-seven Congresses have met and charted the course of Chi Phi.

Scholarship

YOUR PURPOSE in attending an institution of higher learning is probably two-fold: one, to learn how to live, and two, to learn how to earn a living. Chi Phi feels it helps its members achieve this end to the degree that it provides the proper atmosphere for the pursuit of both goals.

Scholarly achievement is a personal endeavor, not a group activity. Knowing this, each chapter attempts to provide a comfortable home in which to live and study. To help prospective members acclimate to college, Chi Phi provides each pledge with a monograph on "How To Study." To further encourage good scholarship, chapters are presented cash awards for outstanding achievements in scholarship. The outstanding scholar in each chap-

Supervision and Council

1. Chapter Visitation

Each chapter is visited annually by the National Director and/or a Council officer to determine if fraternity standards and objectives are being maintained, and counsels the chapter in those areas where assistance is indicated.

2. Bulletins

The Council regularly releases bulletins on all phases of chapter house operation and fraternity management.

3. Leadership Training

A portion of each Congress is devoted to effective chapter management and leadership training. Qualified teachers lecture and lead discussions on all facets of chapter life and operation.

4. Chapter Advisors

Each chapter has both a Chapter Advisor and a Council Representative. The Council Representative is the liaison between the chapter and the Council. The Advisor is available for mature counsel and guidance and lends a continuity to the chapter operation that might otherwise be lacking. A number of alumni have served in one or more of these capacities for ten or more years.

The Chi Phi Educational Trust

THIS ENDOWMENT FUND was established in 1930 with a number of stated objectives. The principal ones being: "to assist needy and deserving students to complete their education," and "to provide improved educational facilities, opportunities, and conveniences for students." Loyal and generous alumni regularly contribute to the fund. The Trust has made building and modernization loans to most chapters and lent financial assistance to many students. The Trustees welcome applications from deserving students.

C. Morey Thomas, University of Southern California '45

Executive Director, General Alumni Association, University of Southern California
Los Angeles, California

"Although fraternity membership is not essential to successful completion of the educational goals of matriculation, it is probably the most valuable and worthwhile additional college experience. In this age of academic and technical specialization, there is a greater need for social development of college men through fraternity participation than ever before. I firmly believe fraternities greatly assist their members in adjusting to society and accepting responsibility—as individuals, as students, as community leaders and as alumni."

"The Chi Phi Fraternity has given me many advantages. First of all, I would say a close association with the finest young men of our country. The friendship of these men has lasted through all my life. Secondly, it gave me the feeling of the finer things of life, and the inspiration to make a better contribution to my community and country. These, I am sure, led to a quicker maturity in my years after college. For all these things, I feel very grateful."

Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, University of Nebraska '05
Honorary Chancellor of The Oregon State
System of Higher Education
Eugene, Oregon

"A Chi Phi Chapter, among other things, provides: a free course in leadership, the kind of contacts and intimate associations to constitute a course in gracious living, the acceptance of responsibility for other members, and a rendezvous for the creation of friendships that many times endure through long careers and provide the richest lifelong association."

Chi Phis

THOUSANDS of Chi Phi alumni contribute time, money, and devotion to their Fraternity. Many are prominent in their chosen fields of endeavor.

James B. Black, University of California '12
Chairman of the Board, Pacific Gas & Electric Co.
San Francisco, California

"My membership in our Fraternity goes back nearly 53 years and has brought me both inspiration and happiness. The high ideals of Chi Phi, and the friendships gained through my affiliation with it, have done a great deal toward shaping my life. As an older member, I take increasing pride in its growing strength and position."

Dr. John R. Abel, University of Southern California '29
President, American Dental Association
Los Angeles, California

"Fraternity membership carries with it a responsibility for individual scholarship and leadership. Fraternity men learn how to get along with others and to show tolerance and consideration for all fraternity brothers as well as to all members of our society. I personally feel the fraternity experience assists in developing leadership, character and social awareness of each member—requisites for today's successful college graduate."

Charles R. Jonas, University of North Carolina '25
Member of Congress, North Carolina
Charlotte, North Carolina

"I believe the college fraternity serves a highly useful purpose in teaching initiative, discipline, responsibility, loyalty and, above all, the real meaning of brotherhood. The friendships I formed with fraternity brothers 35 years ago have been lasting ones. The spirit of comradeship and brotherhood formed in those early college days has remained with me through the years and my life has been the richer for it."

Alfred H. Hutchinson, Cornell University '09
President, Continental Scales Corp.
Chicago, Illinois

"The values I found in Chi Phi affiliation, aside from the pleasure of friendly associations, are largely spiritual. The material things all had their part, but it is the spiritual things that abide; among them the satisfaction one feels of having had a part in the growth and development of Chi Phi."

The following statements by outstanding Chi Phis emphasize the life-long value of fraternity membership:

Rutherford L. Ellis, University of Georgia '25
President, Lipscomb-Ellis Company
Chairman, National Board of Directors,
American Cancer Society
Atlanta, Georgia

"The lack of proper leadership has gotten the whole world in an unstable condition. We need better trained young men to eventually solve these difficult problems. I know of no better training than that offered through our college fraternities; namely, the teaching of responsibility, fair play, finance, conservatism, and, above all, the privilege of being an American."

Vernon W. Thomson, University of Wisconsin '27
Member of Congress, Wisconsin
Former Governor of Wisconsin
Richland Center, Wisconsin

"I am proud of the Chi Phi Fraternity and the things for which it stands. The influence of the high standards of conduct and scholarship inspired in the chapter are stimulating and rewarding. The friendships make there are enduring."

Paul C. Fulton, University of Illinois '23
Advertising Manager, Chicago Tribune
Treasurer, The Tribune Company
Chicago, Illinois

"The late Thomas Arkle Clark, famous dean of men at the University of Illinois, said that a man received only half his education from books and schooling; the other half comes from the associations he makes during his college life.

A fraternity offers a wonderful opportunity for close association of men from all parts of the country with different backgrounds and interests. Many lifelong friendships have started in this way, making the fraternity a very important factor in the lives of its members."

Eugene T. Benham, Ohio State University '11
Partner, Benham, Richards and Armstrong,
Architects
Columbus, Ohio

"In reviewing the different elements which go to make up a lifetime, it is difficult to put all the pieces into proper focus and say which contributed the most toward achieving a full and purposeful result.

Certainly high on the list of factors would be the impact of college and the lessons learned in fraternity living. We learned from our fraternity brothers lessons in getting along with other men, in loyalty to each other, in respect for authority, to work and play together, and in generating a desire to achieve. It knocked off the rough edges and gave us confidence in ourselves.

It was the greatest experience of my life and one for which I shall always be grateful."

Sigma Celebrates Golden Anniversary

A FEATURE of the Golden Anniversary Celebration was the presentation of the "achievement award plaque" to William D. Deihl, S '62. The award was established by the charter members of Sigma and will be presented yearly to an undergraduate Brother who best represents the fraternity ideals of achievement and leadership. The award will be mounted in the chapter house.

Among the highlights of the three day celebration was the trip to the Krannert Art Museum where President David D. Henry, President of the University of Illinois, spoke to the assembled brothers and their wives. Herman C. Krannert, S'12 donor of the museum and the chapters' first initiate, also spoke during the visit to the museum. Another unique event was the dinner held in Chicago in honor of Sigma's 50th anniversary and Pi's 10th. James E. Whitfield, Jr., Theta Delta '52 and Sigma '52, President of Chi Phi Club of Chicago, paid tribute to the two chapters and the men who founded them. A Dinner-Dance at the Urbana Golf Club was the back-drop for the awarding of 50 year pins to all living charter members. Allen E. Mersbach, Sigma '29 presented pins to the following charter and early members of Sigma: Roy S. Younglove, Herman C. Krannert, Harold W. Underhill, Melvin E. Weil, Robert Back, Albert P. West-

Over 100 alumni attended the various events, some coming from distant points. Al Gonsior came from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; Clark Spitler from Denver, Colorado; I. B. Countryman and Roy Younglove from California. Harold Underhill had planned to fly in from California, but a last minute emergency prevented his attending.

The pictures shown herein were among the few taken by Ed Howell, S '19, Avondale, Pa. who, while not the official photographer, soon became recognized as such as he recorded the various events on film for posterity.

The Brothers are deeply indebted to alumni Co-Chairman Ed. Madsen '60 and Bob Cameron '36 and Mike Pleck '63 the chapter Anniversary Chairman who worked untiringly many months to make each event an occasion to be remembered.

Philip M. Idema, A-T '61, graduated from U. S. Navy's O.C.S. Feb. 8, '62 and proceeded to U. S. Naval Justice School for further training, then to San Diego, Calif. for 3 years duty aboard the U.S.S. Gurke (destroyer) as legal officer and gunnery officer.

Excerpt from the Lambda Letter

Sharing Responsibility Assures Good Chapter-Alumni Relations

The ultimate continuing strength of a college fraternity rests with its alumni members. The chapter's undergraduate members come and go, its leaders change, its programs are modified, and its home replaced, but its alumni maintain an association which lasts throughout their lifetime. As each generation dies, a new one matures to provide the continuity that perpetuates the chapter. Alumni members are the keepers of the tradition, preferred stockholders in the enterprise, and the mark of its accomplishment.

The fraternity alumnus became irrevocably associated with and attached to his organization from the day he was selected as a pledge. If the fraternity gains renown, some rubs off on him. If he attains prominence and success, his fraternity basks in his reflected glory. He, of all people, has the longest stake in his fraternity. He follows its progress with pride, he serves as its ambassador wherever he roams, and he has within his power to contribute much to its leadership and service.

The fraternity has a responsibility to its alumni, and they to it. If an alumnus continues to maintain an intimate association with his chapter, the chances are great that he will aid the chapter financially and give his assistance in time and effort. In turn, the chapter is the keeper of the trust for him. It must never give him real cause to regret his membership. This is the ideal undergraduate-alumnus relationship. Both the fraternity and the alumnus should strive to reach this goal and keep it.

Lambda is aware of the importance of solid alumni-chapter relations and intends to do everything possible to cement this relationship. This newsletter is one facet of our intention to achieve that end. We sincerely hope this communication is well-received and that our program meets with success.

About the Front Cover

38 Years a Chi Phi

One of the grandest "young" men I have met in years is Brother Roy S. Younglove, Mu '01 and Sigma (honorary) '13, who traveled from his home in Pasadena, California to attend the Sigma 50th Anniversary reunion in Champaign, Illinois. He read a poem at the banquet on May 17th, 1962, which he introduced with the following remarks, giving a brief account of the history of the poem, its author, and its special significance to the occasion:

"The poem was first delivered at Mu Chapter, Stevens Institute, on the night of September 22, 1899, by Samuel Philip Kelly, a charter member of Psi

Chapter (Kenyon College). Brother Kelly was a founder and charter member of old Sigma chapter (Princeton University, Princeton, N. J.) and served as Grand Beta 1914-15.

This poem was read by me on 17 May 1962 at Sigma Chapter, University of Illinois, but changed to read "Fifty-one years a Chi Phi" and given for Sam Kelly. Now, I have the honor to be over "Sixty-three years a Chi Phi" (sixty-four next September). Let us all join in a standing toast to Sam Kelly of Sigma and Psi." As Roy read the lines he appropriately changed Thirty-eight to Sixty-three.

LET'S TALK IT OVER...

ARE FRATERNITIES PAYING THEIR WAY?

I think you will find they are after reading the following remarks taken from a speech by Joe Corley, Manager, Bresee-Warner, Champaign, Illinois, to the University of Illinois, Interfraternity Alumni Association. Mr. Corley supports the thesis that fraternities pay their way.

"Did you ever figure what a fraternity means to your community? Everyone has their own ideas about a fraternity being good or bad and whether a college student should become a member of a social fraternity.

However, the financial contribution of a fraternity to your community means much more than this in real dollars. The following facts and figures were compiled on the 57 fraternities and 29 sororities at the University of Illinois and illustrates their definite value to the Champaign-Urbana community. This information serves only as a sample of what all fraternities and sororities throughout the United States are doing for their local communities.

PAYROLL

Fraternities	$35,580.99	Per Month
Sororities	21,870.00	Per Month
Total	$57,450.99

This total payroll of more than a half million dollars per year would be equivalent to a business employing 127 people with an average salary ranging from $300.00 to $1,000.00 per month. This payroll goes into the hands of many employees who would otherwise not be able to support themselves in the Champaign-Urbana community.

In addition to this, approximately 775 jobs are provided for students as waiters, dishwashers and kitchen helpers. The major portion of student jobs in this category are provided by fraternities and sororities since the University now employs union personnel in the residence halls.

LOCAL TAXES PAID

Real Estate and Personal Property

Real Estate:
Fraternities	$105,062.00
Sororities	64,740.00
Total	$169,801.00

Personal Property:
Fraternities	$ 8,550.00
Sororities	4,205.00
Total	$12,755.00

If the average family paid $400.00 per year in real estate and personal property taxes, it would take 456 new families to equal this tax input into Champaign-Urbana.

Also, the same gross input of $182,557.00 in taxes from 456 new families would not reflect the same net profit to the community since Champaign-Urbana would have to provide more streets, street lights, sewers, school facilities and teachers, police protection, fire protection, etc. for the new families, which is not necessary for fraternities and sororities.

Also, please remember if the University owned these properties, there would be no real estate tax realized by the community. The University is tax exempt on nearly all properties in both Champaign and Urbana.

DOLLAR INCOME TO THE COMMUNITY

The average fraternity spends $44,087.33 per year while an average sorority will spend $42,560.00 in a year. This means all fraternities and sororities on the University of Illinois Campus will spend more than $3,600,000.00 each year. Assuming 90% of all expenditures are made in the Champaign-Urbana community, over $3,250,000.00 is locally distributed every year.

In addition to the real estate and personal property tax which would be lost if fraternities and sororities were owned by the University, a great percentage of the $3,250,000.00 spent locally would be lost since most of the University purchases of food and housing needs such as furniture and maintenance items are made away from Champaign-Urbana in more bulk quantities.

With very little asked in return, fraternities and sororities have established themselves as a very important financial part of the Champaign-Urbana community. These figures adjusted to other colleges and universities would show the same results from community to community.

The facts DO indicate fraternities are paying their way."

Reprints of these remarks might well be placed in the envelope when remitting payments to tax authorities, merchants and suppliers to fraternity chapters all over the country, as a reminder of our vested interest in the college community.

RESPONSIBILITY

The line of authority in Chi Phi is sometimes not as well defined as we might think or like. Someone in another fraternity once remarked: "The fraternity is an interim support for young people learning to think for themselves, but in accepting such support, the young people are not endowed with the privilege of making decisions for those who furnish the support."

Recently one of our chapters took authority into their own hands and illegally initiated several pledges. The pledges had not met the Institution's minimum grade point requirements for initiation and hence were not eligible for membership under the Chi Phi constitution. The penalty exacted by the school was a severe one — no initiations for one year. As a result of an impetuous decision by the undergraduates, the future of a chapter has been jeopardized. The real tragedy, however, is that the "support" in the form of the alumni chapter, stands to lose their name and their home on the campus.

THE RETURN OF ALPHA THETA CHI

Negotiations for a chapter home to house a Chi Phi Colony at the University of Nebraska have been underway since the middle of July. As of August 10th it appears the committee under Victor Smith, AThX '36, may be successful in obtaining a three to five year lease on a home that is excellently located, and admirably suited to fraternity living.

The University of Nebraska administration has given tentative approval to the re-establishment of a chapter; and both the Interfraternity Council and the Alumni Interfraternity Council have expressed their desire that Chi Phi return to Nebraska. We hope to be able to announce the establishment of a colony at Nebraska in the December Chakett.
